THE LOWELL MURDER.

William H. Kelley Maintains That He Did Not Take the Life of His Wife.

Doctors Say That Death Must Have Been Instantaneous.

Epinion That She Was Fleeing From Her Husband When Fatal Shots Were Fired.

Lowell, Mass., July 1.-Mrs. Teresa Kelley was killed on Fayette street, near Chestnut street, early yesterday. Three shots were fired at her. William H. Kelley, husband of the woman, is allaged to have been the assailant. He was arrested at Lawrence. Kelley denied all knowledge of the shooting and claimed to have been in Lawrence at the time it occurred. Despite the fact that several persons will testify that they saw Kelley shoot his wife, he will maintain that he was in Lawrence at the time. Jealousy is believed to have been the cause of the murder, but people who know Mr. and Mrs. Kelley say she never gave him cause. Mrs. Kelley is described as a hard-working woman. Kelley is said not to have been a steady worker. Mrs. Kelley attempted to live with her husband a number of times, but found it impossible. Kelley has been in the police station a number of times under arrest. He is 36 years old. Mrs. Kelley was about 35.

The autopsy was held by Medical Examiner Irish and Drs. Meigs, Burnham and Jones. One bullet-hole was found in the back of the neck, and this one caused death. Over the left eye was a furrow, as though another shot had ploughed its way along the skin for a short distance. No trace of the third shot could be found, and it is probable that it went wide of the mark.

The autopsy convinced the doctors that Mrs. Kelley was fleeing from her husband when the first shot was fired, and they state that death must have been instantaneous.. On the death return it was recorded that the woman came to her death by a pistol wound inflicted by her husband.

When Kelley was being booked at the police station he said to those around him: "Gentlemen, I am innocent of this crime, and I want the public to know it. I did not murder my wife. I love her as any man loves his wife. I think the world of the woman. If I murdered her, do you suppose I would surrender to these officers? I could have been in New York or Chicago in 24 hours, if I had done anything to run for. I slept in Lawrence last night. I admit that that I have had trouble. She was in a house on Concord street that I wanted to take her out of, and that caused it. But I did not kill her.'

While Mrs. Kelley was a hard-working woman, and might have been given sympathy for her hard lot, she did not enter upon it without an idea of her future. She had lived with Kelley for some months without the formality of the marriage ceremony, and it was only after their arrest for offense against the moral code that the woman became A justice of the peace performed the ceremony. Since her marriage, Mrs. Kelley faithfully tried to make home life agreeable, but the dissipation of her husband made all her

Stabbed In the Back.

Swampscott, Mass., July 1.-Martin Enholm, a milk dealer of this town, was perhaps fatally stabbed by an Italian scissors grinder, locally known as "John," in Holden's woods last night. Enholm was in the woods with a lantern looking for a lost cow. Suddenly he was confronted by the Italian, whom he knew by sight, who said something to him in his native tongue. Enholm started to continue the search, when the Italian sprang at him and thrust a knife into his back five times. The police are searching for "John." lived in an Italian camp in the woods, and the other men there are trying to shield him from the police.

STAPLE PRICES ARE HIGH.

Last Half of 1899 Promises to Equal In Prosperity the Period Just Passed New York, July 1.-Bradstreet's says: Though seasonably quieter in many lines, the strength of the general business situation remains apparently unabated and the half year closes with the commercial and financial community contemplating very satisfactory returns in the recent past and manifesting cheerful confidence regarding the outlook for the last half of 1899.

In the volume of business done the first half of 1899 will rank higher than the best hitherto experienced, and the not able rise in prices of the past spring has done much to reconcile traders to the small margins of profits which modern business operations tend toward making permanent. Staple prices today are in a majority of instances well above quotations ruling for some years past, the general level being the highest since early in 1893.

In some instances, notably in iron and steel, recent advances have brought the level of prices well above anything reported since 1892. That the transportation interests have shared to a large degree in the business-resulting from several years of large crops and active demand-is proved by the current good returns, the best reported so far this year and indicating a progressive gain over all previous records for the six months.

Bank clearings, too, furnish testimony to the widespread activity in genera business and in finance in a total unprecedented for June and for the six months of the year, indicating an increase over the heavar totals of preceding years of at least 46 percent. June clearings point to a total in excess of $7,000,000,000, an increase of 34 percent over the corresponding month of last year. Last, but by no means least, is the showing made as regards business embarrassments for June, the second quarter and the first half of the present year.

There is little in the immediate outlook that can be construed as unfavorable. The iron trade faces a very good outlook for the balance of the year at prices which guarantee large profits, providing adequate supplies of raw and partly manufactured materials can be secured. The labor situation has been one of the most satisfactory features of the half year's business, voluntary advances having raised the compensation of thousands of operatives, and labor troubles being conspicuous by their absence till toward the close of the period the main favorable. Good weather ecstacies over the soaring of a two throughout the country has allowed a ounce rocket or the sputtering of a six rather better outturn in winter wheat ball candle. than was looked for earlier and general rains throughout the south have helped the cotton crop situation, while rice and sugar have also measurably improved.

The closing week of the half year finds special strength and activity in iron, lumber and wool and woolen goods. A feature of interest in this connection is the advancing prices of fine wools abroad, which seem to insure, temporarily at least, a foreign market for considerable high grade domestic wool. Manufactured fabrics share in this strength. Confidence in a good fall trade is evidenced by reports coming from many markets of good orders already booked, the volume of such business already done varying from 10 to 30 percent in excess of last year.

A low ebb may be said to have been reached in failures, there being a decrease as regards number of 21 percent from last year, of 28 percent from 1897 and of 34 percent from 1896, while the liabilities are 30 percent smaller than they were a year ago, 46 percent less than in 1897 and 52 percent less than in 1896. Failures are fewer this year than they have been for 17 years past, and the liabilities involved are smaller than in any year since 1881.

Not in many years have the makers of fireworks prepared so many novelties as for this Fourth. Last year they were caught unprepared. Events came too fast for them. By desperate work they managed to get out a few Dewey specialties, having had two months to do the work in, but the land and naval battles around Santiago came so close to Independence day that the fireworks of last Fourth of July suggested nothing of our great victories.

But this year the pyrotechnists are right up to date. Realizing that the patriotic American citizen demands new and appropriate designs in fireworks, the manufacturers have made a special effort to furnish the supply.

Of course the average citizen who takes home a few dollars' worth of fireworks "just to please the children" will stick to the old fashioned varieties, such as roman candles, sky rockets, pinwheels and colored fire. He knows how to handle those, and he dreads to experiment with the novelties. He is afraid he may be at the wrong end when he touches them off.

The new things in fireworks are mainly for use in public exhibitions, where the pyrotechnics are in charge of an experienced man. They delight the small boy, who is progressive by nature and likes new sensations. They also furnish a pleasing change to the In agricultural lines the outlook is in older people who can no longer go into

One elaborate novelty is called a Manila battery. It is a formidable looking piece, something in the style of a mine. It needs a solid foundation. When touched off, it begins with an intensely white illumination, which changes to red. At intervals are heard noises which sound like the booming of distant cannon. These discharges become more frequent until, after several minutes of rapid artillery fire, there comes as a climax a terrific explosion, representing the bursting of a magazine. You can almost imagine that you are listening to the blowing up of a Filipino fort.

The Filipino cracker is merely a noise maker, but like an old fashioned kite tail. When fired, it goes off with a long rattle, like the turning loose of a lot of Gatling guns. These crackers, by the way, cost about $8 each

"Remember the Maine" rockets are expensive affairs of large size. They burst at great height and grand features of the year. hang out in the air, floating aerial lights which reproduce the flags of the naval signal code that spell out Spanish-American war.

Another big rocket is the eagle. This is bound to make a big hit.

Then there is the rocket which unfolds at a height of 1,000 feet above the spectators a red, white and floating lights which drift away into the night until they slowly fade from Japanese daylight fireworks have also been imported in large quantities. These are as yet comparatively new here, but they are bound to become popular. The Japs are very quick to understand our wants and have exercised their best cunning to meet the special requirements of this year.

One of their daylight shells throws out a little wad of paper which expands and fills out into what, with a little imagination, can readily be recognized as a gigantic representation of Admiral Dewey's familiar features. The eyes set a little more obliquely than we would like to see them, but the shoulder straps are all right, and the mustache is in the right place.

Another shell explodes and releases a paper facsimile of the Olympia. These figures are made of fine tissue paper so weighted that when left to float they are filled out by the air into the desired shapes.

The night fireworks will still be largely of the good old types. Set pieces upon the battle of Manila will of course be shown. But such pieces are expensive. Ardent patriotism is not always supplied with abundant funds.

Shells fired from mortars are, per haps, the things that will prove most popular this year. Shells are going to unusually diverse in design and splendid in effect. The new shells are repeaters. One favorite explodes into a shower of red stars, then into one of white, then into a third of blue.

The Neapolitan repeating bombshell shows as many as six different designs in the air. The Japanese bombshells explode into moons, dragons, chrysanthemums, fans, rings, showers of pearls and the like. Other designs show parachutes, streamers, mammoth spreaders, comets, etc. These are exceedingly curious from the changing from one design to another in quick succession in the air.

A novelty of this year, which is call ed the "fire king." is set off on a spin dle, at the top of a post. In revolving it seems to beat the air, as with wings it attends strictly to busi- of gorgeous fire. The searchlight rock ness. It is about 15 feet et throws out, at its explosion, a paralong and looks something chute carrying a cluster of brilliant white lights.

As to set pieces, there is of course no doubt about the favorites. Naval bat tles are the things in chief demand Terrible visions of impossible battleships will glare out of the night amid perfect showers of stars, shells and rockets. But patriotic feeling will overlook technical defects, and these pyrotechnic battles will be one of the

An Inconvenient Bank.

"Some queer things happen in a big establishment like this," said a floorwalker in one of the principal dry blue streamer, composed of goods stores of the retail district. "One morning a young country couple, with bride and groom written all over them, came in to do some shopping. The husband was a strapping fellow, with hands like hams, and he sat around looking sheepish while his wife enjoyed herself at the bargain counter. At last she completed her purchases and handed him the bill. As he glanced at the total a startled expression crossed his face, and he became as red as a lobster. I was looking at him, wondering what the dickens was the matter, when he rushed up and pulled me into a corner. 'Say, mister,' he exclaimed, 'ain't there no place around here where a feller can take off his socks?

Captain Dreyfus Arrived at Rennes This Morning Under Guard.

His Return Greatly Concerns tered runs by reason of the barnstormthe Future of France.

Review of a Case Upon Which Civilized World Has Looked With Interest.

Paris, July 1.—Captain Dreyfus landed last evening from the cruiser Sfax, and immediately proceeded for Rennes. The Parisian public is rather listless about his arrival. Captain Dreyfus landed at Quiberon, and was conveyed by train to Brus, 12 kilometres from Rennes. There he entered a landau, accompanied by the chief of the detectives of the prefecture department, and was driven to Rennes, where 25 gendarmes waited his entrance into the town. Ten of the gendarmes entered a wagon and foltowed the carriage. The rest followed on foot. The party arrived at the prison of solver, this morning, without incident. A large crowd assembled and witnessed the arrival in silence and without manifestation.

The return of Dreyfus to France has rarely been paralleled in the popular interest excited since the return of Napoleon from the Isle of Elba. Five years ago he was sent into exile, branded as a traitor, disgraced, humiliated, loathed and despised as the representative of a by Bailey, 2. Base on balls—Off Hughey hated race as well as a traitor to his 2; off Bailey, 1. Double plays—Hughey hated race as well as a traitor to his country. Yet the return of this man, who was once looked upon as a reptile fit only to be crushed under foot, is enough to plunge the country almost into the throes of revolution.

The explanation of such a tremendous upheaval in public sentiment is to be found in the fact that Dreyfus was the victim of powerful officials on the general staff of the army. They set about to prove that Dreyfus had sold military secrets to the German government. He was a Hebrew and at that time hatred against the Jewish people was extremely intense and bitter in France. They thought it would be very easy to make a scapegoat of Dreyfus. Several documents were forged, and chiefly through these documents Dreyfus was convicted at a secret trial before a court-martial, where he was not even allowed to see the evidence against him. After the trial he was publicly degraded, stripped of his uniform, and his sword broken in the presence of the army of which he was an officer. Then he was sentenced to life imprisonment on Devil's island, off the coast of French Guiana in South America.

But justice was working slowly, and chiefly through the heroic efforts of Dreyfus' devoted wife people began to look more closely into the Dreyfus case. The officers of the general staff, who feared exposure if the case was reopened, frowned on any attempt to obtain a retrial of the case, but though they have moved heaven and earth in the past two years, they have not been able to stifle the conviction which had been slowly growing on the public that Dreyfus had been unjustly convicted. Developments came slowly, but after one officer, Colonel Henry, had committed forced to quit work temporarily at least. those volunteers who during the late suicide, after confiding that he had the Dreyfus documents, and Colonels Esterhazy and Paty de Clam had confessed to other forgeries, the demand for a revision became irre-

The matter was referred to the court of cassation last year, and since then the French people have practically been divided into two classes-Dreyfusites and anti-Dreyfusites. But the evidence of the prisoner's innocence was so strong that the court of cassation decided to grant Dreyfus a new trial, and immediately the cruiser Sfax was sent to Devil's | rived at. island to take the prisoner home.

In view of the pacific declarations in the Mr. McBride had his hip broken and chamber that public meetings are now permitted, the Liberal and Socialist newspapers declare that the government has capitulated.

Halifax Bombarded.

Halifax, July 1.-The annual mobilization of the troops of the garrison and the land and sea attack of Halifax comnenced at 6 o'clock last night. The forts were all manned at sunset and the torpedo fleet went to sea. All the searchlights were in operation. This morning at daybreak the enemy made a landing and attacked the city from the rear, simultaneous with a bombardment by the heavier ships.

Deputies Engage In Fisticuffs.

Rome, July 1.-The chamber of deputies yesterday was transformed into a veritable battlefield. The tumult was terrific. More than 20 deputies were Injured in the struggle, including Baron Sonnino, who was seriously hurt. Baron Sonnino is the leader of the majority and the probable future premier. Non-Union Men Fired Upon.

Marion, Ills., July 1 .- As a train on the Illinois Central, carrying a coach load of negroes from Pana to Brush's mine, stopped at the Fredonia mine, a large number of striking union miners opened fire on the negroes, killing one man and wounding about 20 others. Before the bloody work could be carried further the train pulled out for Johnson City. When it reached a point one mile north of Brush's mine the negroes were unleaded and marched across the country to their destination. There is great excitement in the neighborhood of Brush's mine and a battle between the working negroes, who are well armed, and the strikers, who are on the ground reafor a fight, may be precipitated at any moment. A majority of Brush's miners have been on a strike for a month, though many of his imported negroes have remained loyal to him. The trouble is a question of wages.

Volunteers of Late War to Be Given the Preference.

Navy Department Explains Why So Many Officers Wish to Retire.

Washington, July 1 .- The first orders were issued yesterday for recruiting the troops under the clause authorizing the enlistment of 35,000 men. The order contemplates enlisting men for the three skeleton regiments in the Philippines. Recruiting officers have been instructed to enlist men with this understanding. The situation in the Philippines was discussed at the cabinet meeting yesterday and general satisfaction was expressed in the administration's plans for the reinforcement of General Otis, which contemplate the reopening of active operations on a large scale when the rainy season closes Sept. 15. Secretary Alger reported that enlistments were coming up to expectations. With a view to officering the regiments raised under the volunteer provisions of the army bill, the records of the officers of the volunteer organizations which saw service in Cuba and Porto Rico, and which are now serving in the Philippines, are being carefully examined in order that recog nition may be given to such of them a may desire to re-enter or continue in the service according to their ability and merit. Some of the meritorious noncommissioned officers may also be recognized. State lines are to be ignored Some regular officers are also to be commissioned as volunteer officers.

One of the members of the cabinet speaking in connection with the campaign in the Philippines, said last night: "The president has given General Otis to understand that he is to have all the men necessary in the conduct of the operations against the insurgents. Otis has been told this in so many words, the president having said to him, in effect, that if he (Otis) did not have president also realizes that the better preserved the more capable they will be of doing effective work, and before the rainy season began General Otis was instructions to prepare for it, and in various ways was given to understand the president's desire that the soliders should be well cared for and well fad."

The news that the army is to be increased has brought many members of congress to Washington. Although yesterday was cabinet day, and both the president and the heads of departments earnestly struggled to escape from visitors, the seekers for the army commis sions are giving them no rest.

Adjutant General Corbin says that, as he understands the president's plan, the first chance at the new commissions will be given to volunteer officers of the late war who had shown exceptional merit in the field; next regular officers who had a similar record, but who have not ye at midnight. Over 50,000 men will be received a deserved promotion; and last, war, having no opportunity to display their gallantry at the front, had the

> The sudden rush for retirement by officers in the navy who were supposed to be deeply. interested in active service has caused some persons to suppose that disaffection with their duties was at the at her residence here last night, after bottom of it. The phenomenon is explained at the navy department, however, as due to a provision in the navy personnel law for the voluntary retire ment at the close of each fiscal year of a sufficient number of captains, commanders, lieutenant commanders, lieutenants and junior grade lieutenants to insure there being always 13 vacancies above the grade of commander, 20 in that of the old-fashioned type, located on a of lieutenant commander, 29 in that of hill in West Washington, overlooking lieutenant and 40 in that of junior grade the Potomac and the hills of Virginia. lieutenant.

Enough men from the next lowe grades to fill these vacancies shall the be retired with the retiring pay of the grades in which the vacancies existed. If not enough voluntary retirements shall occur to carry out these terms of the law, then a board is to be convened to select for compulsory retirement, with the pay of their own grades, those men whose efficiency records shall be found to be poorest.

At first the applications came in slowly; then the full meaning of the law came to be more widely understood, and within a week or two-the fiscal year 1899 ending yesterday-there have been more applications than the law provides for. It will be necessary to weed out the applications before the retiring orders can be issued, and there will be many disappointments. In each case where High water-6:30 a. m.; 7 p. m. the personnel bill operates, the retiring pay will be larger than the full pay of the officer in the grade he now holds, so retirement is a profitable move.

The ONLY DAILY in Norfolk County Such the Verdict of the Board of Health.

> On the Charges Against Inspector Keniley.

Very Brief Indeed.

The Inspector of Plumbing hearings which have attracted widespread attention are ended at last, and the Board of Health before whom the charges were heard find that Inspector J. J. Keniley is not guilty.

These charges, in brief, were that Mr. Keniley passed work knowing it to town next Friday for their fifth annual be in violation of the City Ordinances; that he permitted sub-inspector Landers to pass work he had performed, that was in violation of the will give a lawn party on the spacious ordinances; that Keniley had failed to grounds adjoining his house on Saturreport these violations to the Board of day evening, July 8. Health, and that he collected twice upon one job.

The charges were several in number and in some cases were signed by parties who not only had no knowledge of plumbing but had never seen the work which they claimed was in violation, but had signed the charges at the request of others.

The hearings were public, and each session was reported at length in the Ledger. They became more and more a farce and people in general were disgusted with them.

The lawyers finished their arguments several weeks ago and since that time about September 1. the Board of Health has been considering the testimony. The board met again last night and drew up the following report.

As to the five charges made against J. J. Keniley, Inspector of Plumbing, of City of Quincy, Mass.

The best article of paint that can be made is none too good. It should always be made with Pure Linseed Oil, and never contain Benzine or Benzine Drier. Good paint performs, poor paint promises and fails. The CHILTON PAINT is as near perfect as paint can be, because it is made with the very best Linseed Oil, whatever Drier is needed is made with Turpentine, and the Colors are mixed and ground by machinery so many times that it covers more surface and lasts longer than any other paint. It is the cheapest because it takes less and because it lasts longest.

tains and wide plains covered with dense growths that looked like forests, and evand strange creatures flashing about like other people say or do that the cod has acbirds, some of them wonderfully bright and many colored. Our story is all about the wise creatures of the sea whose wisdom is only guessed at by men who think they know every-thing. When the ocean suddenly became so clear, they were naturally very much frightened, for the like had never happened in the memory of even the oldest sperm whales, who are said to have the longest memories because they have the longest heads. Being very much frightened, they acted much as men would in a similar case. Men and animals often jump into the water when they are scared, and as the fish were already in the water the only thing they could do was to jump into the air. Flying fish and squids rose in shoals, and the other fish jumped as they often do when playing. Whales rose in immense schools, and as they fell back into the water, blowing with terror, their slapping sounded like thunder. The seals, sea lions, otters and other animals that have lungs and can live on land scrambled out on the rocks, and the birds that at first were so busy catching the fish that jumped into the air and saved them the trouble of diving flew screaming to the cliffs where they had their nests. Such a tumult had never before been heard, and after the first cries of fright had subsided the voices of all the creatures seemed to unite into one, for all asked the same

"What is the matter?" "Oh, it is the end of the world," spluttered a little starfish, which is the biggest coward in the ocean and often falls to pieces when scared. "The water is all going to turn to air or something terrible that will choke us, and we will all die."

"Shut up, you little fool," said Sea
Catch, an old seal that had once done a turn in a story by Kipling and knew a thing or three. I say he knew a thing or three because every creature knows a thing or two, but an animal that has been educated by Kipling knows more than any other. "I know just what is the matter," said Sea Catch.

"What is the matter?" all the birds, beasts, fishes and creatures cried with one

"One of those steamships that are all the time floating over us has dropped a day into the ocean when crossing the one hundred and eightieth meridian. They always do that when crossing this ocean.

"Then why haven't we noticed anything like this before?" asked a giant squid, sticking its legs and head out of the cloud of ink it had squirted around when it was first frightened, they understood, for Sea Catch had assumed a very superior air, and they didn't like to appear ignorant.

"But what are we going to do about it?" asked an octopus who had acquired the manner of speech of the trusts because they are named after him in political platforms. "Well," said Sea Catch, "I think the best thing we can do is to celebrate it. "How?" asked all the creatures with one voice again. "To begin with, we must go around to see the sights. Then we can have games and speechmaking, and in the evening we will have fireworks.'

Now that they understood what was the matter, all the creatures quieted down, and seals and all the creatures started in puralthough the light annoyed some of them they began to enjoy themselves as Sea Catch had advised, and right here it may be well to explain that, wonderful as it may seem, every living thing in the ocean from the north pole to the south and from America to Asia knew what Sea Catch had said. Though the fish had lived in the ocean all their lives, there were many things in it that they had never seen, and many of them went around with their | matter how far away he was: mouths open seeing the sights just as if they were merely men.

The jelly fishes, finding that they appeared well in the light, showed their brightest colors, and while they went about seeing the sights many others followed to see them Every creature showed its holiday colors, and each of the sightseers was also part of the show. They gazed wonderingly at the meadows of seajust as clouds float in the air. They saw the beautiful coral reefs and the ships that hung in the still water midway between the surface and the bottom, just where they had sunk hundreds of years ago; they saw the strange creatures of the lowest ing link between them all.

"The first thing we must do," said Sea UDDENLY the Catch, "is to get up a programme suitable Pacific ocean was to the occasion. The chair will now re-

"Oh, that would have nothing to do with celebrating," said the seal, edging a little farther up the rock, for no one in the sea likes to be within reach of the arms of the octopus when he is hungry.
"What we want is something unusual that will amuse the crowds. To begin derful world. Be- with, I suggest that we have a gladiatorial low them were display between a couple of swordfish every mile from the north pole to the south."

But it would be tedious to give all their discussions, so we shall simply give the completed programme as it was written out by the sepia, who acted as secretary, because he always has a bottle of beautiful ink with him.

In the meantime the other members of the committee went about gravely taking in the sights to pass the time. Presently the frigate bird returned and said that the oldest of all the eagles had agreed to come on being promised a fish dinner, for eagles are very fond of fish, and, though they cannot catch for themselves, they often rob other birds. This eagle would be along in an hour or so, for he had been left behind by the rapid frigate bird, who was in a hurry, and they might as well begin the sports.

Word was immediately passed through all the sea, and the crowds gathered off "Because they never before dropped shore to see the exhibitions. As this was over a day like this. The day they have a 12,000 ring circus, one contest taking place at every mile from the north pole to

Before taking their places the sword-fishes put smooth clam shells on the ends of their swords as buttons, so that they would not hurt one another, and the battles began. They feinted, backed, rushed, punted and used all the tactics of expert fencers. They made the clear water boil as they leaped about in it, and the birds flapped their wings in applause, while the fishes slapped their tails against the water. Finally the prize was awarded to a lithe young swordfish that had driven off all comers for half an hour, and, inviting his friends to the feast, he picked out a fat, black backed whale as his prize.

The next contest was catching the greased eel, but though it caused more fun than anything else on the programme po prize was given. Before it began the eels covered themselves with slime and began to wriggle. The cuttlefishes, sharks, suit, but no one managed to catch an eel, for they are the trickiest and slipperiest of all the creatures of the ocean.

'By this time the eagle had arrived, and, after being properly introduced by Sea Catch, he uttered a scream that was heard and repeated by every living thing in the ocean in its own language. After the dinner everybody was so gorged-for they found it easy to catch | tined to determine the future character their prey in the clear water-that they of the whole world. In the providence let the rest of the programme be taken as read until the twilight began to fall from the sky and rise from the depths, and then they thought of the fireworks. They kept up this fun until late in the night, and that was how the Fourth of Christianization of the world. We owe the celebration in a businesslike way. HERO A HUNDRED YEARS AGO.

BY SAM H. COON.

[How Captain Truxtun was the Dewey of July 4, 1799.] As "one star differeth from another star in glory," so one Fourth of July varies from another only in degree. There are some striking points of similarity between the Fourth of July, 1899, and the Fourth of July, 1799. A hundred years ago, as now, the nation's idol was a hero of the sea, whose exploits have added inspiration to the celebration of Independence day. Then the towering heroic figure was Thomas Truxtun, as now it is George Dewey. Then, as now, our sea fighters were held in highest admiration, and their courage, loyalty and marksmanship were extolled over all the land. John Adams was then president, immediately succeeding George Washington. With prophetic vision President Adams thus gave his rotion of the Fourth of July and how it should be celebrated: "This day will be the most memorable epoch in the history of America, to be celebrated by succeeding generations as the day of deliverance by solemn acts of devotion to Almighty God, with pomp and parade, with shows, games, sports, guns, bells, bonfires and illuminations from one end of the continent to the other from this time forever more.'

There is no doubt that, following the advice of President Adams and their own inclinations, our forefathers loudly and joyously celebrated in 1799 their deliverance from British dominion and as well the requital of French insults, which had marked the year or two preceding. Those were stirring times. Political feeling was intense and often bitter, but patriotic sentiment was at the flood tide. We were then practically at war with France, though hostilities had never been formally declared. France had been at war with England for some time and sought to embroil us in the quarrel. Naturally our sympathies were with France, but the French revolutionists, presuming too far upon the services that had been rendered us in our struggle for independence, demanded favors which could not be grant-ed without going to a war with England. The bitterness toward the mother country was still intense and found expression in the sentiment, "May the Union which sprang from a British war be preserved from a British alliance." but it was deemed unwise to go to war with her in aid of France. Thereupon the French began to inflict upon us every sort of injury and insult. They used our ports to fit out privateers, which subsequently seized our merchantmen and preyed upon our com-merce. Our minister in Paris was subjected to the grossest indignities. The situation became intolerable. It was this time that gave voice to such sentiments as these, which have crystallized into national axioms: "Millions for defense, but not a cent for tribute," "Peace with honor or war without fear," and "Hail Columbia" was then published and became the naional hymn. Congress declared that the treaties with France were at an end and authorized the president to instruct our ships of war to seize all French armed vessels in American waters. It was then that the marine corps, which has ever since been an efficient arm of the naval service, was first created.

The French had a swarm of cruisers and privateers in the West Indies pirating upon our commerce. Thither was sent what was then for us a powerful force, consisting of four squadrons, numbering 20 vessels in all. One squadron had for its flagship the frigate Constellation, 38 guns, and was under the command of Captain Thomas Truxtun, who became the naval hero of that time, much the same as Dewey is the naval hero of today.

In February, 1799, Captain Truxtun, with the Constellation, encountered, near high, only damaged the Constellation's days must have taken at least two months, the country fairly went wild with patriotic fervor, and Truxtun, though still re maining with his squadron in West Indian waters, was everywhere acclaimed the nation's hero. He had given the nation a notable victory to celebrate on the Fourth of July, and it was celebrated with most enthusiastic demonstrations. of people you know—people we all know, who rould not vouch for ABSORPTION had they to been cured. Ask for references marked H. So intense was the feeling that at many celebrations that year the effigy of Talleyrand, the French secretary of foreign rand, the French secretary of foreign affairs, was burned at the stake. In view of the threatening warcloud General Washington, then in the enjoyment of excellent health, had been recalled to the command of the army, and the prevailing toast was to "the Father of His Country." Soon after the trouble with France was fixed up and diplomatic relations restored, but in view of the difficulty and delay in the transmission of information, the sea fighting in the West Indian waters was not ended, the situation being much the same as in Dewey's case after the cable was cut at Manila. So it fell to the lot of Truxtun to furnish the theme of inspiration for the Fourth of July, 1800. In February, 1800, with the Constellation. he encountered, and, after five hours of terrific fighting at night, defeated and dismantled the French frigate Vengeance, carrying 54 guns. For this victory congress gave Commodore Truxtun a medal

FOURTH IN LIBBY IN 1863. The Federal Captives Rejoiced Over the Fall of Vicksburg. The most remarkable if not the most pleasant Fourth of July I have known was spent in Libby prison in Richmond Acting as war correspondent of the New York Tribune, I had been captured while trying to run the batteries of Vicksburg. The whole expedition was destroyed, and I as one of the survivors was sent to

As I was very young then, of very vigorous constitution and in excellent health, I had hope of surviving, but I expected to escape and did so after two years of confinement. I should have succumbed in a short time had I not contrived to get money surreptitiously, with which I bought eatable food and other creature comforts. Money then was existence.

How well I recall that Fourth! I was quartered with the army officers, 1,200 to 1,500 of them, many of whom I had known in the field. The prison was a hor-

Our sole food—it was the best they had, the authorities said —was the best they had, the authorities said —was half spoiled bacon and wretched corn bread, yet we managed to swallow it, we were so desperately hungry. We slept on the floor or on rough boards, and we lived—that is, kept health in our bodies buoyed up by the hope of getting out.

We talked in the morning of "celebrating the day," but how could we with nothing to eat and nothing to drink save very warm hydrant water that came from the turbid James river? So with empty stomachs and soiled hands and faces-it was impossible to be clean there—we thought we would celebrate orally—that is, by talking patriotism even more than usual, which was certainly difficult. Consequently we got together in groups and narrated to one another the most exciting experiences that each of us had in the field. Many of the narratives were very interest ing, coming as they did from the actors themselves. If they could have been taken down as they fell from our lips, they would be impressive reading even at this late day. The officers warmed with their subjects, living over again the scenes they had recounted. Some of them got so flushed and generally stirred that they looked as if they had been drinking. On my commenting on this several of them said that they really felt as if they had swallowed a dozen glasses of champagne. They added that patriotism was an excellent substitute for wine and liquor and that it never hurt anybody, which could not be said of liquid stimulants, particularly in armies.

All the prisoners in Libby and doubtless in the south generally were more than ever inspired with patriotism on that day, because Vicksburg, then besieged by Grant, as we had learned from the newspapers which we bought regularly, cherished sanguine hopes of relief from General Joseph E. Johnston, who was menacing Grant in the rear. This we knew to be a dangerous situation and it naturally made us very anxious. The Vicksburg journals declared that Grant was in a trap from which he could not possibly extricate himself and that they hourly expected to hear of his surrender. We had faith in Grant, but still we were apprehensive of They take your cash and ruin your

Thereupon he began to tell what he would order as soon as he gained his free-He described a most appetizing meal that made our mouths water. Others followed him until many cried out that they could bear the theme no longer; that through their imagination they were starving. None of us could help thinking, say what we might, about Vicksburg and how the siege was going. Some one expressed this thought, which was widely echoed, and most of us began at once dis-cussing Vicksburg, as we had done scores and scores of times before.

Only a few minutes had passed when a colored barber, whom I had always thought, by a strange anomaly, to be in sympathy with the south (he had been coming for weeks into the officers' quarters to shave them), slipped up to me and whispered in my ear with overflowing joy that Vicksburg had fallen. I knew he was telling the truth when he said that he had heard a dispatch read down stairs in the office announcing the fact.

I immediately repeated the information in a loud voice, and it was received with a roar of applause. Then followed "John Brown's Body," "Hail Columbia," Spangled Banner" and other patriotic airs shouted rather than sung in stentorian Is not this dramatic incident tones. enough to make that Fourth of July rememberable? We had our celebration after all. General Grant furnished it. And a glorious celebration it was for us. JUNIUS HENRI BROWNE.

Fourth of July Toasts a Century Ago. A feature of the celebration of the Fourth of July a century ago was the pronouncing of toasts in honor of George Washington, who was then living. This was the foast of 1799, "General Washington; may his declining years be sweetened by domestic tranquillity in the peaceful shades of Mount Vernon." A few months later he passed away, and on July 4, 1800, this was the toast, "Washington, our great file leader: may we follow him in slow time to the permanent cantonment and he all found near his headquarters at the final roll call.'

Important Advice.

It is surprising how many people wake up in the morning nearly as tired as when they went to bed, a disagreeable taste in their mouth, the lips sticky, and the breath offensive, with a coated tongue. These are nature's first warnings of Dyspepsia and Liver Discrders, but if the U.S. Army & Navy Tablets are resorted to at this stage they will restore the system to a healthy condition. A few doses will do more for a weak or sour stomach and Constipation than a prolonged course of any other medicine.

AN EXCEPTIONAL YEAR.

Remarkable Progress Recorded In the American Merchant Marine.

merchant marine's fiscal year, which ended last Friday, was exceptional in several respects. Full reports will no be received by the bureau of navigation for several weeks, but returns already received warrant these statements. The total output of American shipyards has been the largest of any year for the ast quarter of a century except 1891, when 1384 vessels of 369,302 gross tons were built and documented in the United States. During the past fiscal year the construction of merchant vessels, of icially returned, has consisted of 142 vessels of 320,876 gross tons. Beside these 22 vessels of foreign construction aggregating 30,181 gross tons, have been admitted to American registry. It i ilso reported from Manila that since la August 141 vessels have been transferred from the hands of the Spanish, German and British subjects to Americans, in dicating the confidence of the business men of Manila in American government The tonnage of these vessels has not ye been reported, and the transfer does not arry with it all the rights of American egistry. Had the senate passed the house bill for the registry of Hawajian vessels the total additions to our merchant fleet during the year would have reached nearly 400,000 tons. Our largest nnual production was in 1855, when 202

During 1898 Great Britain built 1549 wessels of 1,390,116 tons. The difference in the kind of vessels built is roughly disclosed by the average size, our con struction averaging only about 225 tons, while the British averages 900 tons Nearly all of our new tonnage is built to navigate in the coasting trade reserved o American vessels. The only steamships built directly for the foreign trade were the Havana and Mexico of the New York and Cuba mail and the four Admira steamships for Cuba and Jamaica, aggregating 19,750 tons, which were buil under the postal subsidy act. In antici-pation of legislation at the coming ses ion, however, construction has begun or been contracted for on about 100,000 tons of steel steamships for foreign trade and rade with Hawaii and Porto Rico, involving an expenditure of about $15,000,

For the first time in our history on June 30 the total tonnage of our steam vessels, when tabulated, will exceed the total of all other kinds of documented vessels. During the year, however, 460 sail vessels of 96,458 tons have been built, compared with 426 of 42,502 for the previous year while the steam vessels by number 478 of 167,851 tons, compared with 448 of 110,128 for the previous year. In certain trades our sailing vessels endeavor to correcte with foreign cargo steamships and doubtless will continue o do so. The most notable vessel is the John Smeaton a steel schooner of 5049 gross tons, built at West Superior, Mich. probably the largest fore and aft vesse ever built. The largest sea-going sailing vessel built in Europe in 1898 was the Ernest Siegfried of Havre, 3214 tons. For the first time in our history stee has become the principal material in our annual construction of rigged vessels the steel tonnage for the year being 133,991 tons, wood 130,309 tons.

Iron has ceased to be a shipbuilding material, only one vessel of nine tons having been built of iron. During 1898

Photographing a Tree's Growth.

Washington, July 3.—The agricultural department has pressed the moving picture machine into the service of science. The division of vegetable pathology now has a device of this sort in operation in one of its greenhouses, photographing the growth of a small oak tree. The machine works automatically, taking a picture each hour. At night an electric light is thrown into circuit as the exposure is made. The machine has been running about two weeks, and will be kept going about two weeks longer on its present subject. When the series of pictures is completed it will be possible to reproduce with the stereopticon the growth of the plant.

Athens, Ala., July 3.—A 13-year-old boy named Thomas, living on a farm several miles in the interior, stabbed and killed his older sister, who had quarrelled with him for not helping support the family. The boy then turned on his aged mother, who had come to her daughter's assistance, and slashed her so terribly that she died in a short time. A few months ago the boy and his father were out hunting, when the latter was shot in the back and killed. The boy was suspected of killing his father, but no conclusive evidence could be secured. LOSES HER FOOT.

A Little Four-Year Old Girl Run Over by an Electric Car.

A bad accident occurred at Atlantic Saturday afternoon and as a result the four year old daughter of Mr. Dennis McCarthy, of 555 Hancock street, had to have her foot amputated. It was shortly after 5 o'clock when a hurdy gurdy drew up near the corner of Hancock and Atlantic streets and was soon surounded by a crowd of children among whom was the McCarthy child Just then one of the Holbrook cars came up the grade going toward Quincy. Suddenly the little girl left the crowd about the hurdy gurdy and started to run across the street. She evidently did not see the approaching car but the motorman seeing her, quickly shut off the power and applied the brake.

The momentum of the girl was such that she could not stop and she ran into the fender, on the front of the car, striking it on the side. This threw her bodily on to the fender, which was pulled out to its full length, but instead of holding her she bounced out, and the wheels of the car passed over one leg.

She was taken home and then to the City Hospital where it was found necessary to amputate her foot.

The motorman was one of the oldest employes of the road and is considered thoroughly reliable and the passengers say that he was not to blame for the sad accident.

AMERICANS' FRIENDS.

Modest Establishment of Self-Government In Province of Cavite.

Schurman Says Aguinaldo's Defeat Will Bring Peace.

Encouraging Report of Results of a Trip Through the Southern Islands.

Manila, July 3.-General Lawton and Professor Worcester of the commission yesterday visited the principal towns in the province of Cavite, out of which the natives were recently driven. Their chief purpose was to direct the elections of the presidents of Imus, Bacoor, Paranaque and Las Pinas.

Under the municipal system thus inaugurated the presidents, or the mayors, of the towns are empowered to appoint minor officials and to levy taxes, which are to be expended solely in public improvements. Before acting General Lawton and Mr. Worcester had consulted with the leading men in each town and selected candidates whose honesty and friendliness to American rule were beyond question. Wherever they went the Americans were heartily cheered by

The public schools in Manila will open tomorrow, and it is expected that there will be 5000 children in attendance. The teachers include Americans, Spaniards and Filipinos. One of the instructors is the widow of the Filipino patriot, Dr. Rizal, who prepared the status of the Philippine league, and who, when about to board a steamer at Barcelona in the autumn of 1896, was arrested by the Spanish authorities and sent to Manila, where he was tried by court-martial on charge of having organized the uprising in the Philippines, sentenced to death and shot on Dec. 29 of that year. After her husband's execution, Mrs. Rizal, who s the stepdaughter of a retired Hong Kong gentleman, went to Imus and was chosen captain of a company of insurgents. English will be taught in the schools one hour each day. The pre-scribed holidays include the 20 church days observed in Manila, Washington's birthday and the Fourth of July.

President Schurman of the United States advisory commission for the Philippines returned to Manila yesterday from a three-weeks' tour of the southern islands. He takes an entirely hopeful view of the general conditions there. The intelligent and substantial citizens desire an American protectorate.

The masses are awaiting the settlement of the war in the island of Luzon before declaring themselves. They are chiefly anxious to be undisturbed. The president of the town of Santo Nicolas, in the island of Cebu, said to Mr. Schurman: neutral.'

The president of the commission thinks that this declaration fairly expresses the sentiments of the people in the southern islands of the archipelago. Many of the towns there are in the hands of small bands of Tagalos; and the people fear to endorse American rule until they are certain that Aguinaldo must be beaten. Let them once be convinced of this and the allegiance of the southern islands, He did not allude to the subject again Mr. Schurman thinks, can be secured by diplomacy.

The gunboat Bennington took Mr. Schurman to Mindanao and the islands of the Sulu and Visayan groups. He traveled through the island of Negros with Colonel Smith and a party of natives. In several of the principal towns he was tendered banquets, and he had an hour's conference with the young Sultan of Sulu, who received him in the royal audience chamber, surrounded by a bodyguard of stalwart, fierce-looking Moros.

Mr. Schurman told the sultan that the United States had acquired the sovereignty of the Philippines from Spain, but had no wish to subjugate the population nor to interfere with their customs of religion. On the contrary, the great desire of the American government was to help the people of the islands to develop their country. The sultan replied that he earnestly desired peace and was anxious to continue the existing treaties. On the return voyage the president of the commission visited the town of Borneo, capital of British North Borneo, where he was cordially received by the British officials, who afforded him every facility in his study of the local government and the customs of the people. The population he found much like that of the southern Philippine islands. The government is at present in a rather elementary state, but a more complete organization is being developed as rapidly as is practicable.

Almost every steamer brings missionaries. The arrival of one in Cebu made no little trouble, as the report spread rapidly among the ignorant classes that the Americans intended to compel them to give up their churches. The American authorities in the interest of harmony requested him to withdraw, and he Senor Llorente, who is considered the most influential native in Cebu, said to Mr. Schurman: "I like the American idea of the separation of church and state, but I think it would be unwise to introduce Protestantism while conditions are so unsettled." He has since arrived in Manila and taken his seat on the bench of the supreme court.

The rain has fallen almost continuously for nine days. It has been a tremendous downpour, and the whole coun try is flooded. The trenches at San Fernando are ditches of water, and the mud is knee deep in the temporary camps at several of the outlying towns. Some of the permanent camps have been made fairly comfortable by the erection of bamboo shelters, roofed and floored.

The transport Hancock, which left yesterday with the First Nebraska infantry and batteries A and B of the Utah light artillery, and the transport Senator, which carries the Pennsylvania troops, will remain several days at Nagaski and Yokohama, Japan.

New York, July 3.-Harvard has conball. Harvard's was a decisive victory be beaten without a struggle. They Robertson allowed hits, Fitz and Morse gave bases on balls, which were responsible for most of Yale's runs. In fielding there was only one team in it, and that was Harvard.

Washington, July 3.-General Harrison G. Otis of California, who saw considerable active duty in the Philippines, arrived in Washington yesterday. His visit to the east is entirely on private injured. business. General Otis has nothing but praise for the manner in which Major General Otis has managed the campaign against the insurgents in the Philippines. The volunteers, though not enlisted to fight against the Filipinos, have accepted the situation like true Americans and have done their work uncomplainingly.

Dreyfus' Wonderful Self-Control.

Paris, July 3.-The commander of the French cruiser Sfax, which brought Captain Dreyfus to France, says that he was struck by the immense power of selfcentrol displayed by Captain Dreyfus during the voyage. The prisoner's attitude throughout was "one of irony and disdain." He had been suffering severely from seasickness when he was trans ferred to the Sfax, but he walked with firm tread and, during the entire trip, never showed a sign of weakness or nervousness. Captain Dreyfus was ignorant of the fact that a new courtmartial awaited him and remained in ignorance during the first part of the voyage. When he was finally informed, not a muscle of his face moved. He merely said: "I have no ill-will toward anybody. I shall be glad to re-enter the army, which I have never ceased to love.' during the voyage. Most of the time h passed in reading.

Bryan at a Chicago Conference.

Chicago, July 3 .- A conference was held here yesterday between William J. Bryan and a number of Illinois Democratic leaders who were instrumental in swinging the Illinois delegation to Bryan in the last Democratic national convention. The conference lasted the greater part of the afternoon. Bryan denied there was any political significance in the meeting. Samuel B. Cook, of the ways and means commis sion, states that the national political situation was discussed in a general way. The presence of Allen W. Thurman of Ohio, who was preminently mentioned as a vice-presidential possibility prior to the last campaign, caused comment among local party leaders.

Big Batch Coming Home.

Washington, July 3.—The agricultural Pennsylvania and Utah troops, which have been on duty in the Philippines, have started on their homeward journey. The following dispatch from General Otis on the subject was received by the war department:

"Manila, July 2.-Transports Hancock and Senator, with Nebraska, Pennsylvania and Utah troops, left for San Francisco yesterday. Nebraska, 42 officers and 812 enlisted men, Pennsylvania 34 officers and 712 enlisted men, Utah nine officers and 258 enlisted men Nebraska left in Manila one sick, Pennsylvania seven discharged, Utah 29 discharged, Nebraska 30 discharged.

Waiting to Perfect Organ'zation.

Chicago, July 3.—There will be no general strike of packing-house employes at present. The opinion prevailed at yesterday's mass meeting of the employes that the time was not yet ripe, and that the interests of the men would be best conserved by waiting until an organization could be perfected. An organization, known as the Packing-house Employes' union, was formed, and over 500 men became members. By September the union is expected to have a membership of 15,000, and, if by that time the demands of the men for better working hours and increased wages are not complied with, it was said a general tie-up of the packing houses would be ordered.

DAMAGE AMOUNTS TO $4,000,000. Disastrous Effects of Flood In Country Tributary to the Brazos Valley. Austin, July 3.-Reports from the Brazos bottoms are that the waters are seven consecutive victories. Luck was still very high, but are slowly receding, and it is believed that the worst is over in that section of the state. The estimated damage to the country tributary to the Brazos valley is $4,000,000, and it is none too high. It is not believed that the loss of life will be anywhere as large as reported, and will be principally among the negroes.

Reports from along the bottoms state that hundreds of people have been rescued during the last two days by means of improvised rafts, and that in each case of known drowning some party has indiscreetly upset a raft after getting on it, with the result that the entire load was thrown into the water.

The rushing waters are rapidly ac cattle at the mouth of the Brazos. Reports from there are that they are floatlands adjacent. There were very heavy rains again yesterday to the south and

It is impossible to imagine a town calmer than Rennes. The inhabitants continue absolutely indifferent to the presence of Dreyfus. Barely half a lozen persons witnessed the visits of unsel and Mme. He declares his brain is almost reeling in the face of out regarding the extraordinary machinations of his enemies and the perseverng devotion of his friends. This feeling s particularly strong as regards Colonel Picquart, whom he hardly remembers, and the story of whose persecution has profoundly moved him.

Captain Dreyfus was unable to talk freely with his brother owing to the presence of the officer who is under intructions to be present at all interviews etween the prisoner and members of his amily. This arrangement has been a terrible trial for Mme. Dreyfus and the rest, as they have been obliged to restrain their emotions so far as possible and have been unable to converse as to intimate matters, because every word has been overheard and every gesture watched by the officer.

Only Denange and Labori are allowed p see Captain Dreyfus privately. His ounsel will return to see him together at the beginning of next week, thus giving him ample time, in the meanwhile acquaint himself thoroughly with the contents of the various dossiers.

ing a Fire With Kerosene.

Miss Margaret Quigly, aged about 25 years, was seriously if not fatally ourned, Monday afternoon at the residence of her sister, Mrs. Daniel Mc-Dougal on Bates avenue, while trying o start a fire with kerosene oil.

Mrs. McDougal's infant had just died and her sister, Margaret, was at the house assisting. A few minutes they were this Fourth. after 5 o'clock she went down stairs to look after the fire. Removing the stove cover she saw that the coals were black and supposing that the fire had gone out undertook to start it with oil. Taking up the can she began to pour the kerosene upon the coals. In an instant there was a loud explosion, that was heard across the street, and Maragret rushed into the street, enveloped in flames screaming for help. She ran to the residence of Officer Barry and Mrs. Barry and Mrs. Edward Buckley wrapped mats about her and succeeded in extinguishing the flames, but not before every particle of clothing with the exception of her corsets, had been burned off.

Fortunaately the girl did not inhale any flame but she was frightfully burned about the body and limbs. Drs. Davis and Ash attended her, and afterward removed her to the City Hospital.

MASON AND WILLIAMS purposes.

Tell Clan-na-Gaels Why They Oppose Administration's War Policy.

Our Flag Should Not Wave Above a Race of Slaves.

Massachusetts Man Appears to Be Interested In the Welfare of Ireland.

Boston, July 5 .- A denunciation of imperialism and a protest against a diplomatic or political alliance with any foreign power, particularly England, and a protest against the devouring trusts by Senator William E. Mason of Illinois and George Fred Williams of Mr ssect vsetts made about 5000 men and WIT . who assembled at the Clan-na-Gael reunion at the Locust street grounds last evening cheer and applaud in a manner that left no doubt as to the sentiments of the audience,

Senator Mason was the first speaker and received a flattering reception. He was about to speak when some man in the crowd stepped forward and asked down the American flag," he replied, "if it is where it belongs. I want the American flag to be above a people who hono and love it. I do not want to see a flag I love above a race of slaves."

Senator Mason then went on to say that if there was anything in the world he of Frank Byrne and wife, two Irish despised above anything else it was this constant fadism of desiring to imitate

"For 100 years," said the senator, "we have been hurrahing for self-government, for liberty of conscience and general politics. For 100 years we have written it all over our history, and today we are killing men, women and children because they want what our fathers fought for. The men we are shooting today fought for us 90 days ago. Nero himself never turned a gun upon ar ally. Paying $20,000,000 to keep a people in slavery, something they have fought against for more than 200 years. Let those who talk of treason and traitor

He said there was no danger from any foreign power if we mind our own business. The only danger would be from two classes within. These classes he designated as hogs, and those citizen who are too indolent to attend caucuse or vote at polls. He defended Senator Hoar from the attacks of "expansion-

Senator Mason warned Postmaste General Smith and others who persist in applying the term traitors to reople who criticise the national govern, en as to its attitude that they had better be careful as to their words, for con gress, he said, which is the only con stitutional power to declare war, had not declared war in the Philippines since Spain laid down her arms.

George F. Williams was the nex speaker. He said: "For 100 years the Irishman has been vigilant of liberty; he has been struggling for it, and he has not yet given up his struggle. And never in my life have I felt how important was the work, the sacrifice and the death of Robert Emmet to this republic of ours as I have felt it today.

"I am also ready to say that you men have seen farther into the future than many who call themselves Anglo-Saxons. You understand what a colonia policy means. If we are entering upon a foreign policy, we must have alliances It is inevitable. This nation cannot enter the Asiatic field of conquest without binding herself to some other nation And that nation is England.

"The whole press of this country ha been shaped in the last year to bring about public sentiment for an alliance with England. Now, my friends, I an here tonight, as I shall be here, I trust years from now, to protest against any alliance with England.

"When England gives up her govern ment by the sword, when England gives up her policy of assimilation, then we shall all join together in an alliance with England without a dissenting voice, for then Ireland will be free. But so long as England sets her foot upon the neck of nations she is not fit to be allied with a republic. This view of mine is not a new one. I have held it for many years, and I hope to hold it for many more.

The speaker alluded to the present struggle in the Philippines in about the same manner as Senator Mason did, say ing that it was only in the power of con gress to declare war, and, as congres had not declared war in the Philippines the entire blame for the campaign rested on the administration. Representative James H. Mellen and

In Bicycle Prices.

For best of reasons we do not care to quote prices here. Manufacturers are overstocked and wish to dispose of their product.

Next season the bicycle trust will gobble up all the best wheels and prices are going up. If you want a first-class bicycle, that will last 'you for years, you can buy it here at less than cost to manufacture. It costs you nothing to step into our store and learn how far a few dollars will go. Rememember standard wheels only.

3 O'CLOCK.

EIGHTEEN YEARS OLD,

United Society of Christian Endeavor In Convention at Detroit.

Rev. Dr. Francis E. Clark Is Re-Elected President.

Meeting Promises to Be One of the Most Successful In Its History.

Detroit, July 6 .- The officers of the United Society of Christian Endeavor did not arrive in time to hold the annual business meeting of that corporation at the hour set, viz., 10 a, m., and the meeting was late in convening. The special train from Boston was a victim of a temporary congestion of railroad traffic caused by a large number of Christian Endeavor special trains en route for Detroit. Rev. Dr. Francis E. Clark, Secretary Baer and Treasurer Shaw arrived at 10:30. At 11 o'clock Dr. Clark called to order the annual meeting of the united society in Hotel Cadillac.

REV. FRANCIS E. CLARK. Rev. Dr. Francis E. Clark was reelected president of the United Society of Christian Endeavor at the meeting of elected secretary and William Shaw

The afternoon of the preliminary day of the 18th annual international convention of Christian Endeavor was showery, but toward evening the sun broke through the clouds, and the travel from all parts of the city to the Christian Endeavor grounds began. At sundown, long lines of young people converged toward Tent Endeavor, in which capacity of 10,000 was filled. After that | Commerce embezzler. a crowd of outsiders obtained sight and hearing through the dropping of the tent walls at either side.

The Christian Endeavor red and white was suspended in hundreds of broad streamers from the lofty roof to the eaves. Flags of all nations, draped with the Stars and Stripes, hung overhead at intervals. The coats of arms of the states were attached to the tent poles. The Christian Endeavor mono gram shone from large red and white electric globes over the resonator, suspended above the speaker's platform. High up the union jack and the Stars and Stripes intermingled. A thousand white-capped young men and maids composed the choir on the big stage, the front of which was occupied by the officers and clergy.

Promptly at 7:30 the comparative silence was broken by the swelling strains of sacred songs, in all of which the great crowd enthusiastically joined. Devotional exercises were led by Rev. J. G. Butler of Washington.

The welcome of the local committee was extended by William H. Strong, its chairman. Mr. Strong greeted the delegates not only on behalf of the local Christian Endeavor societies, but also on behalf of the Young People's Religious societies, allied to special denomina tions, which had collaborated in all efforts of the general committee.

Rev. Charles B. Newman eloquently welcomed the convention in behalf of Detroit pastors. Mayor Maybury then | ministered by George Briton and Joseph welcomed the Endeavorers.

There was enthusiastic applause when Secretary Baer read the following telegram from the President of the United States: "On the occasion of the 18th international convention of your society, I desire to express my cordial interest in its work, my best wishes to a wife and family. those assembled with you in convention, and my earnest hope for the continuance and increase of the great results which the efforts of the Christian Endeavor society have achieved."

Next on the program came response in behalf of Endeavorers from foreign lands. As Rev. William Patterson of Toronto came forward to speak for Canada, some struck up "God Save the Queen." The Canadians on the platform took up the strain, and in a moment the huge tent was reverberating with the swelling chorus of the British anthem. The friendly relations between Canada and the United States, particularly with reference to religious matters, formed the burden of Dr. Patterson's address. Rev. Dr. H. J. Tressidier, secretary of the London council of Christian Endeavor, answered the greetings in behalf of Great Britain. "Perish the mad rapidly rising at Thompson. dream," said he, "that a conflict should ever come between our two countries.

At the close of the big meeting, the crowd thronged to the platform to be presented to the mayor and the officers of the united society. This closed the first day of what promises to be one of the most notable gatherings in the his-

The building was a three-story brick structure, owned by the McNutt heirs. The workmen had barely time to escape with their lives, nearly all losing their kits of tools. Worcester, Mass., July 6 .- At a meeting of the Central Labor union last night it was voted to send a committee to Manager Leonard of the Worcester Baseball club and ask that he give the release of Klobedanz on the return from the trip which started last evening. If this is not done the labor people say they will wage a bitter war with the management. The trouble arose over the fact that Klobedanz a year ago worked in a Boston theater as a non-union man after all the union men had been discharged.

The Texas Flood.

Galveston, July 6.-The Texas flood situation is the result of four days steady rain, beginning June 26, which, at some points, partook of the nature of cloudbursts. In some cases the rainfall was 20 inches and at several places it was re-ported as eight inches. The Brazos valley was flooded so suddenly that plantation hands could not reach high grounds. As the waters recede near Calvert the facts are found to be that 14 lives were lost. All of the victims were negroes except one. Many head of cattle were drowned. The flood condition in the lower Brazos valley is very bad. It is feared when the rise now at Vallis gets to Rosenberg and Thompson the consequences will be serious. The river is

The past had had few or no true republics, certainly not any at all comparable with the United States-a republic organized on the prin-Lambs and fowls were killed, trespass ciple of representative government by made, and depredations of a petty nature all. We are making precedents. There committed, until matters led up to perover China, and the forces mustering there are mighty enough to produce a war of the greatest magnitude. But I see no reason that will require us to foin the conflict, if conflict there is to be. The only interest we have in the matter is a trade interest, and our great epochmaking wars have never had their origin in anything so sordid." Senator Morgan of Alabama writes: "Those who lament and decry the conduct of our government in dealing with constitution are too late to accomplish much else than to echo the pathetic appeals of Aguinaldo that we do not destroy our own government in order to save the Filipinos from the fatal power of his dictatorship. It is not far to go, nor is the way obscure, to find in the constitution of the United States exdistrict, the terror of Boston firemen on press power given to congress to do what was done in Louisiana and Hawaii, and what our self-respect compels us to do in the Philippines. The flag we have planted in the Philippines is consecrated to the same liberties it shelters on the Capitol at Washington."

Ex-Senator Edmunds, arguing against expansion, demands that the govern-ment disclose to the people precisely what took place before the capture of Manila and what promises were made to the Filipinos. He asks if Spain had anything but a "pretended" sovereignty to cede, and demands the reason for the sudden turning of Filipino friendship s looking up clues for the whereamouts into hostility. He concludes: "First let us know the whole truth of what has happened and then perhaps the advocates of glory, or dominion, or trade, or this city. No sensible or patriotic Amerian now demands an immediate Ameri can retreat from the Philippines. Ameri can prowess, on trial before the whole world, is to be vindicated by the com plete triumph of our armies and the full subjugation by war of the islands whose future destiny is then to be determined according to the deliberate judgment of the American congress and the American people, to whom President McKinley will submit it, and to whom it must go for decision whether he or any other American is or is not willing it should go

Senator Chandler attacks the attitude of Senator Hoar in regard to the Philippines, and continuing, uses the following forcible language: "It seems clear that no one single asserted principle justifywas burned and also a summer cottage. | ing war is applicable to all wars alike whatever may be the circumstances, whether wars for tyrants or war against northerly shore of the island away from tyrants. The nearest approach to such the settled portions and will soon burn a principle is to be derived from the motto of the state of Massachusetts: quietem.' Here a noble national sentiment is enumerated by a great common the coroner's jury in the case of the wealth. Quietude, peace and liberty are the great objects sought by her government and people. No others are men tioned. How are these to be obtained? By the sword, by war, by cruel, bloody, brutal, terrific, horrifying slaughter, by killing everybody who opposes quiet, peace and liberty. We shall have peace if we have to do murder to secure it.'

Postmaster General Smith, writing in favor of expansion, claims that before the recent war this country was lacking in commercial outlets, but that now this deficiency is done away with. "The foothold," he writes, "we have gained in the Orient will not be relinquished. The Philippines will not be abandoned. Whatever questions may be raised as to form of government or measure of autonomy, the essential fact of American sovereignty will remain. The American people may debate details, but it is not of their genius to take backward steps or shrink from responsibilities."

Commodores Confer on Fisheries. St. John's, July 6 .- The conference between Commodore Giffard, in command of the British Newfoundland station, and Commodore Henrique, commanding the French flagship Isly, has resulted in an agreement to attempt to minimize the friction along the treaty shore as much as possible. The colonial government expects to receive tomorrow a mission, with definite proposals for colonial action respecting the settlement

The niece noticed that her aunt had been crying and thought it rather strange, but said nothing.

After delivering the note, Mrs. Bavin passed out the rear door of the store seen of her.

ARGUMENTS

For Exemption From Seizure of Private Property at Sea In War Time.

America's Attitude Ably Presented by Mr. White.

Peace Delegates Decide to Discuss the Question In Special Conference.

The Hague, July 6.-The American delegates scored a great success yesterday in obtaining from the peace conference a unanimous vote in favor of having the question of private property at sea in time of war dealt with at a special conference, to be summoned hereafter. Much diplomatic management was necessary, and many obstacles had to be surmounted before this result was reached. The second committee met yesterday morning and Mr. White, head of the American delegation, broached the subject. The question of its admissibility under the conference mandate was discussed. No vote was taken, but an agreement was arrived at to allow the Ameri cans to present their case in full in the afternoon. Had a vote been taken immediately the Americans would doubtless have carried their point by a majority of one or two, and to avoid this a resolution was proposed recognizing the importance and complexity of the question and recommending the summoning of a special conference. At the afternoon sitting of the committee M. De Martens of the Russian delegation moved a resolution to that effect. Mr. White seconded. In the course of a clear and eloquent statement of the American case he said the United vitation to participate in the conference with aclarity because of the opportunity it was expected the conference would afford for preaching the true faith regarding the immunity from capture of private property at sea. He admitted, however, that the United States government recognized it vould be hopeless to expect any decisive result from this conference, owing to three causes-first, absence of instructions from powerful governments; second, doubts as to the competence of the conference, and third, the length of time necessary for a discussion for all of the bearings of the case. Mr. White frankly admitted the difficulties involved in deciding what constituted contraband of war, but insisted that these supplied one of the best arguments for a full and prompt discussion.

The suffering and losses which seizures entailed were immense, while the effect upon the ultimate result of war was almost nothing. Referring to the experience of the United States in the war of the Rebellion, he said that only three Confederate cruisers did anything of importance, but they captured 169 vessels, quadrupled the rate of insurance between America and Great Britain and caused the ransfer of 500,000 tons of American shipping to British bottoms. The final result was that the whole American marine was virtually swept out of existence. "If that resulted from the operation of three poorly equipped little steamers. he continued, "what would happen with the means at the disposal of the greater - - QUINCY. nations today? Yet every one knows that this privateering had not the slightest effect in ending, or even shortening, the war; nor would it have had any even if the losses had been 10 times greater. The only real effect is gained by warships in maintaining a blockade. Nowadays the transfer of goods by land is so general that interruption by sea as a rule does nothing to promote the ending of war; but that interruption may destroy accumulations of human wealth and skill requiring a generation to make good, while the losses cannot be confined to belligerents alone, but must affect more or less directly the whole world."

Mr. White warmly repudiated the supposition that the Americans were animated by selfish considerations. They were eminently practical, he said, but not less prominently devoted to great ideals. This he illustrated by referring to the enormous sacrifices made during the Civil war and the devotion of the Americans to arbitration. But the question he was unging upon the delegates, he asserted, was one of right, justice and progress for the whole world, and this all acceptance of the American proposal injure any nation. On the contrary, it would strengthen all.

Mr. White concluded with an eloquent words of Count Nesselrode, that "the addition of this principle to international law would be a crown of glory to the world's diplomacy." M. Rahusen of the Dutch delegation supported Mr. White, and suggested that the governments favoring the idea should conclude treaties among themselves.

Sir Julian Pauncefote said that British cpinion was divided on the subject, and that he had no instructions regarding it. In his personal opinion, the question was outside the scope of the conference.

M. Bourgeois and Captain Scheine announced that, in the absence of instruc-

The resolution was then put and carried without opposition, but with reservations on the part of Great Britain, France and Russia. The committee also adopted a resolution that the question of the determination of the rights and duties of neutral states should be placed upon the program of the future conference. The plenary conference assembled subsequently and accepted all the recommendations of the committee.

The American delegation is much gratified at the result. The delegates could have anticipated a practicable issue at this time. Won In Thirty-Mile Race With the Defender.

Hampered In Her Work by Poorly Fitting Sails.

Not Yet Known What She Can Do In Piping Breeze.

New York, July 7.—By the race between the new cup defender, Columbia, and the old one, Defender, sailed yesterday over a triangular course of 30 miles-10 miles to a leg-it has been plainly demonstrated that no matter how skilfully constructed a yacht may be, her sailing and ability to go to windward may be killed by imperfectly setting sails.

The Columbia won the race by a margin of 3 minutes and 53 seconds (unofficial time). There is no doubt she would have won by a larger margin if her sails had fitted as well as the De-

In the windward work, while the wind Everything had been satisfactory. was strong, the Columbia was unable either to outfoot or outpoint the Defender, chiefly on account of the bad set of her clubtopsail, jibtopsail and forestaysail. She covered the first leg of 10 miles to windward three minutes faster than the Defender, but one minute of that gain was made when the wind became light, and less than two miles from the turning point.

On the second leg the Columbia gained carrying large (not balloon) jibtopsails. On the last leg-close-hauled work in a light breeze-the Columbia lost five seconds to the Defender, probably by reason of a shift of wind, which favored the

The Columbia's forestaysails and clubtopsail are anything but perfect, and cracked in the wind like a teamster's whip, demonstrating that in a general way she will need a good deal of tuning up. Yet, based upon the showing she made as a better boat than the Defender, under adverse conditions, the whip, demonstrating that in a general nautical sharps are strongly convinced that Sir Thomas will sail home without the silver mug, the possession of which has given us the yachting supremacy of the world since 1851. But the race was an unsatisfactory one. Shifting, baf-fling winds and a bad, lumpy sea, with dirty rain squalls, made the conditions anything but ideal for yachting. The sudden shifting of the wind prevented a trial at running with spinnakers. In light weather, close hauled, therefore, it can be said that she is undoubtedly the Defender's superior, but what she can do in a piping breeze remains to be seen.

A thick haze hung over the harbor when the two yachts left their anchorages off Thompinsville. There was considerable delay at the start. The breeze had freshened as the yachts got outside, and a lumpy sea was running. After Commodore Morgan's flagship, the Corsair, had signalled the course, and the racers had cast off their lines, a sharp rain squall killed the breeze. But the squall was brief, and half an hour later a steady 12-knot breeze was blowing from the southwest.

The Corsair signalled the first leg from the windward down the Jersey coast, and the yachts began to jockey for positions. Captain Barr had the tiller of the Columbia, and Captain Rhodes had the helm of the Defender. After the preparatory gun was fired, the Columbia, without waiting for the starting gun, headed aicross the line. This was a blunder on the part of Captain Barr, or it was designedly done to give the Defender a start equal to her time allowance, which is figured at about two minutes. Just as the starting gun boomed, the Defender crossed on the port tack. Meantime the Columbia fibed and returning came about and headed for the line, crossing it exactly two minutes after the Defender. Both yachts carried forestaysails, jibs, baby fibtopsails and clubtopsails. The beat to windward made a beauti-

Come All! ful race. The interest was intense for the first few minutes, as the giantesses with everything close hauled entered upon their test of speed. The Defender had the weather gauge by 100 yards, and was several lengths in the lead. crews of both yachts were piled along the weather rails.

At first the Columbia seemed to outfoot her rival, and there seemed to be no difference in their ability to hug the wind. Then both boats went over on the starboard tack for a long leg. They heeled until yards of their bronze bodies were exposed. The Columbia seemed fiore tender than the Defender as she and every inch of canvass drew. The 1886.

elubtopsail of the Columbia, on the other hand, was loose and cracked in the wind. The forestaysail did not draw.

The breeze was then blowing about 10 knots an hour, and, while it continued at that clip, the Defender continued to gain very slowly. Half an hour later the wind sank to about five knots, and immediately the sails of the Columbia began to draw and she began to gain. Both skippers pinched until their head-sails trembled as they strove for the weather gauge. The Columbia coninued to gain on every tack, and a few minutes before the first mark was eached she crossed the Defender's bow n the starboard tack. She rounded the stake exactly one minute ahead of the

Both yachts had stowed their baby jibs and had sent up their big jibtopsails in stops as they approached the stake, but the Defender, although the last around, broke out her big jib fully a minute before the columbia loosed her's, and then the latter had to be taken down and reset.

On the long reach for the second mark, with the wind abeam, the Columbia gained 58 seconds. About half way down, a black squall to the southward broke sharply. , It was now only question of how much the Columbia would beat the Defender, and many of the steamers headed back for the finish. When the rainfall ceased, the wind hauled to the west, and, instead of runing home before the wind with spinnakers set, the yachts made the last leg with the wind on the port bow. The wind gradually died down. As the Columbia crossed the finish line she received a royal salute. For several minutes whistles shricked and sirens wailed. As the Defender crossed one minute and 47 seconds later, she also was greeted with a demonstration quite enthusiastic and prolonged. The yachts were immediately taken in tow and brought up the bay.

The race was an informal trial for a cup offered by the New York Yacht club. The official trials will occur in Septem-

Old Officers Remain.

Haverhill, Mass., July 7.-The aldermen last night rejected the changes in the police department asked for by the Social Democracy. Four new appointments were rejected by a strict party vote, the four Republicans voting in the negative. The reappointment of the old officers was confirmed. By this action of the aldermen, the old organization will probably hold over until next year, as there is little likelihood of concessions being made on either side.

at Mt. Waldo went out on strike last September on account of the refusal of the corporation to grant an eight-hour day and a minimum rate of 45 cents an hour, or $3.60 a day, as voted by the national union. The Union intends to make a general demand all over the East next spring for the short day and this pay, and voted to begin on the stone for the Chicago Postoffice, because the contracts for that structure would extend beyond that date.

The union rate of wages in Main is 30 cents an hour and a nine-hour day making the minumum pay $2.70. This is paid in all the Maine quarries, and was offered by the Mt. Waldo corporation on the Chicago job. But the men said no, they would work on anything but the Chicago Postoffice for 30 cents an hour, but for not less than 45 cents an hour on the Chicago job, because the union had voted to make a test case of that.

If the Mt. Waldo corporation had agreed to do as the union wanted, there would have been presented the singular spectacle of two gangs of union cutters in their yard the men in each beglonging to the same union, one gang receiving $2.70 a day and the short day would have been general.

It was reported to him that stone being cut at Hallowell by the Hallowell granite works, of which Mr. Peirce is a stockholder, was for one of his buildings, and Secretary Duncan tried to find out if this was so. The Hallowell company is close-mouthed about its affairs, and would not tell him. Mr. Duncan, however, was satisfied that no stone was being cut at Hallowell on Peirce's gover ment contracts, for there was no United States inspector there, as there always is when work for federal buildings is being done.

As to private work, the secretary was unable to learn for whom it was intended, for each job is known to the workmen only by its number, and the workmen only by its number, and the lettering upon the stones is wholly independent of the working plans of the building.

Remarkably Large Attendance of Delegates to Endeavorers' Convention.

President and Secretary Submit Their Annual Reports.

Spiritual Enthusiasm of Audiences Expands With the Passage of Each Hour.

Detroit, July 7 .- Any apprehension of light attendance at the international Christian Endeavor convention were dissipated yesterday. In the downtown districts, all persons not wearing the C. E. badge were the exception. It is estimated that upward of 20,000 accredited delegates have arrived, aside from visitors who are not Endeavorers. The day was clear, cool, and altogether ideal, when the first real session opened in Tent Endeavor. At the morning session Secretary Baer read his annual report. It was in part:

"The net gain in number of societies during the last year is nearly 2000 socie-"Russia has welcomed our principles and methods, and today our international fellowship is complete and world-wide. Great Britain has over 6000 societies, and a royal welcome awaits us next July in

"There are now 979 intermediate societies, 14,680 junior societies, $5 mothers' societies, and 49 senior societies. "We have crossed the 55,000 line . Th official enrollment is 55,813 societies, with a total membership of 3,350,000. The societies in the United States number 42, 075; in Canada, 3487; in foreign coun tries, 10,128; floating societies, 123; total,

"The Christian Endeavor Tenth Legion' now numbers 14,700 members, who are giving not less than one-tenth of their incomes to God. "Christian Endeavor has contributed to missions nearly $500,000 in the past

"Christian Endeavor has in more ways than those already referred to, borne fruit, and is today one of many other agencies for increasing the membership of the churches of Christ. During the last 10 years over 1,500,000 of our members have joined the church."

In his annual report President Clark said, among other things: The theme of President Clark's message to the convention was "Going and

"Going and Growing," said he, "are inseparable. The boy who does not go does not grow. The boy who grows is very sure to go. It is not otherwise with a society a church a movement. The movement that has ceased to grow will soon cease to go, and, conversely, when it ceases to go-to be energetic, aggressive, outreaching-it will soon not only cease to grow, but will dwindle and fade. To merit the presence and guidance of the Lord God of Hosts the Christian Endeavor movement must go and grow. 'Going' stands for aggressive, outreaching enterprise; 'growing,' for increase in grace, in power and numerical strength.

characteristic of Christian Endeavor. It was born creeping, it soon began to run Every year of the 18 of our history has been marked by some advance. All these advance steps have been gained not by advances were made. Thus every advance step for citizenship, missions, international and interdenominational fellowship, church loyalty and greater efficiency within the society has been maintained and strengthened, while the next year has seen some higher plane reached, some new duty undertaken, some new responsibility assumed. "In many respects this last year has been the best in our history; there have been more going and growing, more advance and increase than in any other year. The conventions have been larger and more stimulating; the denomina tional drift has been more desidedly than ever toward our interdenominational novement, the growth in foreign lands has never been so encouraging; the thought of the quiet hour of personal communion with God has taken hold of the society with a blessed grasp that will never be relaxed; our horizon has been expanded to take in our responsibility for peace on earth and good will to man as never before. There is still room, however, on our peace memorial, let me remind you, for hundreds of thousands

His subject was "War Against War." "The Mormon Question" was treated by Rev. Dr. W. M. Paden of Salt Lake City, who made a bitter personal attack upon Congressman Roberts. Dr. Paden insisted that a majority of the people of Utah believed in polygamous marriage, and that being consummated. He charged Mr. Roberts with being an especially flagrant type of polygamist, and asserted that his election as a lawmaker had raised an issue which Christians were bound to William Shaw, treasurer of the United society, made a hit in his appeal for "Floating Christian Endeavor." He also spoke of "The Traveler's Union," which he asserted had regenerated many a traveling man into being a very different species of individual from the typical "drummer" of former days.

Check Man at Braintree.

About four o'clock Tuesday afternoon a small boy entered Smith's drug store bearing a letter which seemed to have come from Dr H L Dearing. He questioned the boy and found that a an whom he did not know gave him the letter, and asked him to bring the answer to a point near the Town Hall. Mr Smith tried to see some one to send for an officer but was unable to do so. He told the lad to have the man come himself.

He was soon able however to see Officer Qualey who started after the boy and found him, but not until the boy had met the would-be swindler near Mount Vernon avenue, who upon learning that the thing didn't work family party of their sons and made a hasty disappearance. There are few things more puzzling and interesting than the vagaries of crime which seem to defy all rule and reasonable expectation. Matters of Importance Considered by the Trustees.

Secretary Baer and Newspapers at War Over Estimates of Attendance

Detroit, July 8 .- "Showers of Blessings" and "There's Sunshine in My Soul Today," were the favorite hymns sung by Christian Endeavorers yesterday morning en route to the "Quiet Hour" in Tent Endeavor. However abundant the spiritual showers may have been, the physical rains were certainly copious enough to drench everything in sight, and the utter inability of the Endeavor tents to exclude rain was fully demonstrated.

Rev. Dr. J. W. Chapman, leader of the "quiet hour," and H. G. Smyth, the gosbel singer, stood on the speaker's plat- ward, returned to the South End grounds form, hats on, during the proceedings, and won a particularly dull and proshielding themselves with umbrellas tracted game from the New Yorks. from the streams of water that dribbled through the big sheet iron resonator

Hundreds of young people braved the elements and appeared at the grounds for the two main 10 o'clock gatherings, but postponement for the time being, at least, was inevitable.

The trustees met to discuss several matters left undetermined at Wednesday's meeting. The most important of these was the consideration of a protest from the Ministerial alliance of Toledo against the opening of the gates of the Ohio centennial exhibition on Sunday. After some discussion, and contrary to the expressed wishes of the Toledo representatives, a general resolution was au-thorized protesting, in the name of the Carrick, p....... 3 0 2 4 1 Christian Endeavor society, against opening the gates of any national exposition or fair on the Sabbath.

The trustees consumed some time in the discussion of matters concerning the 1900 convention at London, and the methods and rates of ocean transportation, but adjourned without definite action.

There is understood to be a plan under consideration for the chartering of several large ocean steamships to carry the American Endeavorers to England, Secretary Baer says the idea is to make a straight fare for all parts of the ships, and have the second cabins and steerages fitted up as nearly as possible on an equality with the first cabin staterooms, and also to allow passengers full privileges of the upper decks and provide them with all possible conveniences.

Rev. Dr. Wayland Hoyt of Philadelphia spoke in honor of "Our Soldiers and Sailors." Tremendous applause greeted his reference to Admirals Dewey and Schley and Theodore Roosevelt, and to the American successes in the battles of the Spanish war.

A novelty on the program, which aroused great enthusiasm, was the introduction of Rev. Mr. Mazerona, a native Cuban, and an evangelist among the people, who expressed his thanks to the American people for the liberation of Cuba.

The rain, which during the latter part of the meeting dashed against the canvas and in some degree penetrated its crevices and poured down on the peop' within, could not affect the staying powers of the big audience, and the meeting was concluded with no diminution of the crowd.

Bryan Declares That Silver Will Be an Issue In the Next Campaign.

Says Republican Party Is Mortgaged to the Trusts.

Wants Filipinos to Have Same Assurance of Independence Given to Cubans.

Columbus, O., July 8 .- The Ohio association of Democratic clubs was organized yesterday, with General E. B. Finley of Bucyrus as permanent chairman and Charles L. Swain of Cincinnati, secretary. About 100 delegates were present. The resolutions adopted reaffirm allegance to the Chicago platform, and "demand the renomination of that fearless champion of the Democracy and the people's rights, William Jennings Bryan."

A thousand persons attended the dollar dinner given by the Young Men's Democratic club of Columbus, in the Auditorium last night. The affair was strictly Democratic in its simplicity, all classes being represented.

The chief guest was William J. Bryan, at the table with whom were seated C. T. Callahan and George F. Williams of Massachusetts, Judge Tarvin of Kentucky, Allen W. Thurman of Columbus. the toastmaster, and a number of others prominent in state politics. The entrance of Mr. Bryan was greeted with liberal applause

Christopher T. Callahan of Massachusetts was the first speaker, responding to the toast "The Issues." He dwelt particularly upon imperialism, trusts and free silver as the leading issues in 1900. Judge Tarvin of Kentucky responded o the toast "Party and Principle."

When Mr. Bryan was introduced there was another outburst of applause that

Mr. Bryan said in part: "I congratulate the club upon having declared in emphatic terms that there shall be no retreat from the position taken by the Democratic party in 1896. The Chicago platform applied Jeffersonian principles to the questions then before the country. Every plank in that platform was a Democratic plank, and not one plank could be taken from the platform without injury to the party's chances of success. Sometimes we hear a suggestion that the silver plank should be dropped or amended, but as a rule those who threaten to get off the platform are really 0 form. "The president, through the attorney general, can enforce the law now in existence. If the law is not sufficient, he can recommend laws which are sufficient; if the constitution will not permit the extinguishment of trusts, he can recommend an amendment to the constitution, conferring upon the federal government ample power to enable the government to destroy the monopoly principle in industry. The Republican party, through its administration, could extinguish its trusts if it desired to do so. It is powerless to deal with the question because it mortgaged itself to the trusts to obtain the money necessary to carry the last election. "When the methods employed in the last election are understood, no one need wonder that the attorney general is un disturbed by the watering of stock, the discharge of travelling men and the extortion practiced on the consumer." The latter part of Mr. Bryan's speech was devoted to imperialism, with this conclusion:

TO CRUSH CONSPIRACY.

Minister Gallifet Removes Zurlinden as Paris Military Governor.

One of the Prime Movers In Anti-Dreyfus Doings.

An Illustration of the Desperate Means That Army Heads Resorted To.

Paris, July 8.—General Zurlinden has been removed as Paris military governor, but retains his membership in the supreme council of war. General Brugere, former chief of the late President Carnot's military household, has been

GENERAL ZURLINDEN.

The removal of General Zurlinden as military governor of Paris by De Gallifet, minister of war, was not unexpected, but it shows the purpose of the government to crush conspiracy against Dreyfus by striking at the leaders. It should be borne in mind throughout the combined Dreyfus-Picquart crisis, which reached its climax a few weeks ago, that the men who must stand or fall in the struggle were General Mercier, minister of war when Dreyfus was condemned; Generals De Boisdeffre, Gonse, De Pellieux, formerly of the general staff, and General Zurlinden.

naturally attached to both the personality and official position of General Zurlinden, twice minister of war and twice military governor of Paris. His sensational assertion of his prerogatives at a very critical juncture in l'affaire Dreyfus was, perhaps, the most startling of the many surprises in contemporary

Compared with the average French general of division General Zurlinden is still rather junior in point of age, being only in his 61st year, the youngest officer commanding an army corps being 59, while several approach the age limit, which is 65. General Zurlinden is an Alsatian by birth, and entered the army in 1856. He served as captain in the Franco-German war, and was taken prisoner at Metz. Escaping from the German fortress of Spandau, he was employed by the government of national defense, and after the war rose in due course to the rank of colonel in 1881. In 1885 he became a brigadier, and in 1890 a very young general of division. In 1895 he was called from an army corps command to take up the portfolio of war in the Ribot cabinet, which was the first ministry formed under M. Faure's presidency, and which lasted for nine months.

General Zurlinden entered upon his duties a few weeks after the degradation of ex-Captain Dreyfus, which took place it will be remembered, on Jan. 5, 1895 His next experience was as military governor of Paris, in which post he succeeded General Saussier in 1897. Early in September, 1898, General Zurlinden was again offered the war portfolio in place of M. Cavaignac. He accepted, but resigned almost immediately on the question of revision of the Dreyfus trial, being succeeded by General Chanoine.

Before leaving the ministry of war he drafted instructions to the military governor of Paris for the trial by courtmartial of Colonel Picquart. This draft was approved by his successor, and meanwhile General Zurlinden had been reappointed military governor of Paris. He consequently ound himself in a position to carry out his own orders, and the promptitude with which he did so, in spite of the fact that Colonel Picquart was a leading witness in the revision of the Dreyfus trial, intensified the suspicion attached to the attitude of the higher military authorities in Paris. For the first time since the history of this miserable Dreyfus business began to unfold itself, the name of the republic of France was really threatened. Imagine a prosecuting attorney sitting as judge before the case he had worked up, and you have an intimation of what General Zurlinden, military governor of Paris, tried to do.

The charge against Colonel Picquart was that, while chief of the secret intelligence department of the French army, he had illegally communicated the documents in his keeping, or, to be more explicit, that he had furnished the friends of Dreyfus with proof of the innocence of the prisoner of the Ile du Diable and of the guilt of Esterhazy. All evidence showing that Picquart had betrayed his trust was furnished by the forger and suicide, Lieutenant Colonel Henry. From a purely legal point of view, the government, in the light of Henry's denials at the Zola trial, had a doubtful case against Picquart; after the accuser's confession and death, it had no case at all. Another charge must therefore be made, and General Zurlinden, as minister of war, made it; it was that of forgery and of using forged documents. Thus Picquart is taken out of the charge of the correctional police and incarcerated in the military prison of Cherche-Midi to await trial by a courtmartial, which General Zurlinden, as military governor of Paris, would appoint and instruct.

Nothing that has happened within the year so forcefully demonstrated the desperate means that the army heads resorted to in order to maintain the integrity of the Dreyfus sentence; nothing so broadly suggested the deplorable Weakness of the government's case; nothing so revealed to the world the broke his record merciless wickedness of the leaders of made in Syracuse.

the army of France as this action of General Zurlinden.

But on June 13 last the chamber of in-dictments decided that there was no case against Lieutenant Colonel Picquart, or against Maitre Leblois, his counsel against whom charges were also made in connection with the case. The judg-ment of the court finally exonerated Picquart, who was released from prison, after being nearly a year in confinement. Thus discredited, it only needed the strong hand of De Gallifet to make Zurlinden pay the penalty of his machinations. Policy undoubtedly prevented his punishment from being heavier.

Bradstreet's Estimates Point to Unpreceden'ed

Totals aud Enormous Gains For the Year. New York, July 8.—Bradstreet's says: Holiday observances and semi-annual stock takings have worked toward quiet in general trade and industry, but trade advices point to rather more than the average business being done. Additional results of the season's work brought to light are fully as favorable as those indicated in Bradstreet's re-port last week. Bank clearings' returns fully bear out estimates given last week, pointing to unprecedented totals and enormous gains, while Bradstreet's report as to prices point to a steady strengthening of quotations of staples and exceptionally few decreases in prices registered grenadiers and Lieutenant Tracy of the in June. All indications favor a total of export trade, little below that of last year's phenomenal total. Preliminary reports as to railroad gross earnings indicate exceptionally good showings for the month and the half-yearly period, ous points on the frontier, will sail for the gains being the heaviest reported this year.

Exceptionally promising conditions present themselves in most lines of trade. Distributive business on seasonable account is naturally on a small scale, but orders for fall delivery are reported particularly liberal, and making favorable comparisons with last year. In the iron trade the strength of prices and demand is still the most notable feature.

The industrial situation is slightly easier, mainly owing to the increasing likelihood of a compromise between the tin-plate makers and their employers. Prices of the better grades of wooler goods have advanced on active demand from dealers and manufacturers, and in sympathy with the advances at London The manufactured product is strong, and the new season opens well. This house was sort of a makeshift affair and never was intended for its present use. In 1885 the town bought of the late Edwin B. Pratt, 3,000 feet of land on Winthrop avenue for $300. Which Goes to Show That the Spaniard Will Still Be Behind the Times In the Coming Cen-

Lieutenant Jose Baquero y Ordonez of the navy of his Catholic majesty of Spain stroked his long whit; beard and decided on a brilliant and great action. From the decks of his little gunboat he looked once more-"Who knows," thought he, "but it is for the last time"-on the sleepy cove of Turiguano, that had sheltered his craft so long and well from the prowling Yankee fleet. Then sharp orders were given, and the white, shining ship moved swiftly out of the tiny Cuban harbor and stood for the open sea.

On the shore there was strange commotion as she went. It came from Spanish loyalists, who had fed her crew and officers for years and supplied the vessel with material, and their emotion was vivid, for Lieutenant Jose Baquero y Ordonez of the navy of his majesty of Spain had omit-d the formality of paying the bills. Lieutenant Ordonez had things more weighty than mere bills to consider. After long reflection he had decided on a stroke that would end an imperishable glory for him and his-or annihilation. He had decided to run the fierce blockade and enter Havana; to force his way through the enormous steel fleet of the enemy, to defy battleships and torpedo boats and cruisers and to do a deed that would re-echo in Spain.

He did not aspire to the empty glory of sinking a Yankee ship, and, incidentally, being sunk himself. The Lieutenant Ordonez would have dared that, too, for it would have been a chivalrous thing to do, and he lived for chivalry. But that ripe reflection to which that, if we were sunk, the Yankee pigs obvious never would give credit to him and his ures. crew for their glorious blow for Span-

And, then, where would be all the good effect of his enterprise, as far as the fame of Spain was concerned? No! The Lieutenant Ordonez saw clearly that he could nerve the Spanish arm other aerial fireworks were rising in and force the world's acclaim for the sheafs of flame. For awhile the Spanvalor of his land best by entering Havana and flashing the news around the sishment. Then the Lieutenant Ordonez globe that a Spanish warship had broken the boasted blockade. "On, then, tory! Victory! Behold! This it is his hand on his shoulder and began to knows nothing. They are at best mere my brave ones!" cried he. "Fear not! Honor and cigarettes and senoras' pigs have been wiped from the sea that smiles await us! And if you see a they so polluted! Joy! Joy! He looked enthusiastically on his crew, a crew any commander might be proud to by the dark and silent Morro and up have-all old, white haired men, who the bay. Intrepidity that was the inheritance to learn the news. of the Lieutenant Ordonez did not interfere with his sound judgment. Carefully, though bravely, he steered along landed there were no cheers as they the coast, and at every sign of smoke had expected. Instead, they found or sail on the horizon he felt his responsibility for the care of his ship and there was considerable jostling and men keenly enough to suppress his some laughter. natural desire for battle and to lie made it safe to venture on again.

And so making port wherever a dethe little gunboat San Jago worked stared. her way along the north coast of Cuba night after night, giving a wide berth to harbors like Sagua la Grande and Cardenas, where the enemy might be in force, till at last, on the midnight of the seventh day after venturing out of their port, the brave Spaniards crept in sight of their goal. Now there was intense excitement on the little ship. The men lay down ing, but each looked as nonplused as by their guns and whispered what the rest. they had to say to each other. The officers crowded together and strained their eyes through the gloom for the dusky shapes of the American ships that must be within a few miles at the most. And softly the engines worked and every moment the coast loomed more plainly. Still there was no sign of foeman. No pencil of wavering, groping light was to be seen anywhere on the rolling sea to betray an American ship with her prying searchlight.

It seemed almost too good to be true, and the Lieutenant Ordonez and his men began to suspect a trap. They redoubled their watchfulness, and more than one sailor muttered a hurried prayer in wise provision for a possible emergency when he might not have time to commend his soul to his patron saint. But still there was no sign of an enemy's craft, and finally the ship opened up the entrance to Havana harbor without having met a single obstacle.

The Lieutenant Ordonez was getting impatient. His sailors had been jostled from his side and were losing themselves in the crowd, and his officers also had disappeared. He said: "Tell me, senor; I am the commander of the Spanish gunboat San Jago and have run the blockade. What is the meaning of this discourtesy?"

The naval officer straightened up and struck the stout man full in the face. The assaulted person roared and gripped the lieutenant by the collar and the crowd caught him by legs and arms and helped the procession along.

In a few minutes he was deposited ungracefully, though not altogether unkindly, in a police station, where a red faced man with a rich Irish brogue demanded his pedigree. That was a matter of some difficulty, for the lieutenant was quite beyond himself with rage and no one else could tell much about the prisoner.

But finally the sergeant had gathered enough material to make his record on the blotter: July 4, 1950-Prisoner, male; real name unknown; assumed name, Lieutenant Jose Baquero y Ordonez; charge, insanity.

And the Lieutenant Ordonez was hustled rudely into a cell. He had waited in the snug port of Turiguano too long .- New York Press.

The Boot Language.

Some cities of which the Saunterer knows lay claim to premiership in cosmopolitanism. But in proportion to population they do not compare with a vessel that steamed into Philadelphia the other day.

"We have only one language on board the boat in time of emergency," he declared, "and that is what we term the boot language. It never fails. When a storm arises or anything else happens to cause speedy action on the part of the crew, the officers of the ship don't try to talk. They make a few motions with their hands, and if these don't suffice, they employ the boot language. As you may readily guess, this is simply a series of kicks. One kick, well administered, beats a whole encyclopedia with men who don't understand the language in which the encyclopedia is printed, and so we manage to get through. CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning July 9-Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle. Topic.-A good vacation.-Mark vi, 7, 12, 13, Man absolutely requires rest. It is a poor economist who makes no provision for a vacation-a season of quiet rest and recuperation. But the usefulness of z vacation depends entirely upon its character. It may be a blessing, or it may be a curse; it may stimulate us for an increased interest in the duties of life, or it may rob us of much of the interest that we previously possessed. How to make our vacation a good vacation is a very important question.

The incident in the topical reference is very suggestive. The 12 have returned from an arduous and successful tour, and Christ takes them apart for rest, fellowship and communion. It may well be called a good vacation.

1. The apostles deserved their vacation. They had labored and were weary. They had preached the gospel, cast out devils, healed the sick. They were weary because of their toils. It was impossible to rest where they were, as "they had no leisure so much as to eat." No vacation can be a good one unless it is deserved-unless we feel that because of constant, earnest effort we have a right to a rest and need it.

2. The apostles sought a suitable place for a vacation. It was a "desert place apart," a quiet, uninhabited place. Many a vacation is spoiled, so far as proper results are concerned, because the places visited are the very ones where "many are coming and going." Recreative rest is impossible in a crowded seaside resort. It means weariness and not rest, nervous depression and not recuperation.

3. The apostles had Christ with them on their vacation. He took them. The object was quiet communion with Him and fellowship with one another. Christ took them upon their search for rest. Does Christ go with us on our vacations? Do we take Him or do we leave Him behind? Alas, too many Christians leave Christ at home when they go to the seashore, the mountains or to the lakes. You would not know from their "daily walk and conversation" that they knew Christ. No vacation can be a good one unless we have Christ with us. If we leave Christ behind, it must A very pretty model, and one under the centre point. Under the be harmful and not helpful, injurious do, let us take Christ on our vacations.

4. The object of the apostles' vacation was a good one. They went apart to rest awhile, that they might be the betject of a vacation-that we may be bet-

God's Law.

口

Sin is never a matter of public opinion. It takes neither shape nor color transgressor of God's law, else not sin at all. God's law may or may not be in harmony with ours. We build our little social barriers and feel they bound the celebration of ours and take this poor kingdom. So did the elders in olden old duck to the police station. He's times, and by this law they would try the Christ. Our general assembly is prone to give what it calls deliverances on matters concerning which the Bible opinions, which have naught to do with manhood. God's law was here before we were. It requires no action of congress or assembly to determine what it is. Envy, jealousy, hate, covetousness, malice, evil speaking-these are sin. They are not bad manners, low breeding, offensive conduct, but sin, plain, unvarnished sin. They strike at God. As such they ought to be understood and treated. There is no lesson in culture equal to a penitent hour. It uproots selfishness from the heart and makes one mindful of another.-Presbyterian Journal.

The Principal Idea.

The principal idea in life molds all others to conformity with it. Judas' principal idea was money getting, and it led up to thieving and betraval of his Lord. The principal idea of the chief priests was the retention of their power. To do that they must murder any one who seemed more popular than they; hence the importance of having the principal idea of life right and high. What is yours?-Sunday School Times.

In the Wrong Place.

It is sometimes sickening to see the kind of men who succeed in winning popular applause. It is sometimes discouraging to note the men who fail; but, after all, in the long run, the unworthy succeed only with the unworthy, and the fitting fail to survive only when they are in the wrong place .-Christian Register.

We often do more good by our sympathy than by our labors and render to the world a more lasting service by absence of jealcusy and recognition of merit than we could ever render by the straining efforts of personal ambition. -Archdeacon Farrar.

THE BOERS AND THE BRITISH.

Cause of the Warlike Trend of Affairs In the Transvaal. BY CAPTAIN T. B. FRANCIS.

Like a stone in the bottom of a well lies the memory of Majuba Hill in the heart of John Bull. It was there that General Joubert, leading a mob of Boer farmers, broke a famous "British square" and wrung from England a recognition of the independence of the Transvaal republic.

Ever since the Dutch and the English have rubbed elbows in South Africa, and that has been for more than a century, the Boers have from time to time been called upon to "trek" or fight. Sometimes they have "trekked," sometimes they have fought and some times they have done both. Each time they have fought the British lion has lashed his tail in vain rage.

Once more it seems as if the Boers would either have to "trek" or fight. The situation today is practically the same as in years past. Having driven out or subdued the fierce tribes that once dwelt beyond the Vaal, the Boers have settled down on the land thus secured, content to practice their homely virtues and raise great herds of stock But the English have come in to develop the treasures of the Rand, which the Boers disdain. To these gold digging uitlanders the Boers have denied the rights of full citizenship and have made them pay well for the privilege of mining within the borders of the re-

Great Britain, who follows with a helping hand her colonists, even to the ends of the earth, asks the Boers to grant the uitlanders more privileges. The Boers refuse, and now General Joubert, confident in the strength of the little republic, is talking of capturing the De Beers diamond mines and raiding Cape Colony clear to the Cape

At Majuba hill the Boer forces consisted of unorganized farmers. But each farmer was a dead shot. The Boers of today are just as good shots as they were a half century ago, but in the meantime they have acquired a military education. They may not be able to dress and mark time with the machinelike precision of some of the British regular regiments, but they understand the tactics of fighting, especially as applied to the country in their immediate vicinity. Captain William H. Hudson of Chicago, who for years served in the British forces, said recently: "The Boer is fanatically brave, but has the coolness which most fanatics lack. He knows every inch of his country, and he is without a peer in the world as a rifle shot. I never served in South Africa, but I have many friends who went through the campaigns of 1880 and 1881 against the Transvaal Dutch. In one engagement, short, but disastrous,

The boy further astonished the Englishman when they had reached a wide plain stretching out from the edge of a wood by dropping to one knee and killing at a distance of 900 yards a grazing springbok, the smallest known species of African antelope.

"I would not have attempted the shot," said the Englishman. "The boy fired and took the killing as a matter of course. They all know how to shoot from the time they are able to hold a weapon, and I don't envy the six footer whose uniform makes him a shining mark for one of these long distance

When 14 years of age, he left this country and went to Holland. His taste for war was always keen, and when the rebellion broke out he came to this country and served in the navy under Admiral Dupont. Later he was captain of a colored company under General Weitzel. After the war he returned to Holland and later went to South Africa. When the rule of the English became intolerant to the Dutch at Cape Colony and Cape of Good Hope and many of them went north to the Transvaal, General Joubert went with them. After he had assisted materially in driving out the wild beasts, conquering the savages, settling the country, discovering and developing the diamond fields, the English suddenly discovered that they had a claim to this faraway country.

He was only a plain Boer, or farmer, when his fellow subjects determined to resist the British. In 1881, at the head of a handful of Dutch farmers, he met the British army at Majuba hill and put it to flight after great slaughter. This secured liberty for the Boers, and they accordingly look upon General Joubert, now vice president of the South African Republic, as the Washington of their country.

Castle Square Theatre.

The selection of "The Big Bonanza" as the attraction for next week at the Castle Square theatre will afford a most enjoyable attraction for the patrons of this house. It is one of the earliest of Mr. Augustin Daly's adaptations for his own theatre, he having brought the play out there nearly a quarter of a century ago. The original version of the play has been carefully condensed and modernized by Mr. James R. Pitman, whose skill in this class of prepartory work justifies the pleasantest anticipation for the coming production. The title of the play is that of a silver mine and the manipulaion of it takes a prominent place in the development of the plot. The cast as announced ncludes all the Castle Square favorites. For the week beginning Monday, July 17th, the Castle Square theatre attraction will be A. W. Pinero's original modern comedy "Princess and the Butterfly," the success of the New York Lyceum company in the season of '97-'98, seen previously in this city only at the Hollis Street theatre.

Keith's Theatre.

One of the best programmes of the summe eason is offered at Keith's for the week of July 10, including: Mr. and Mrs Robyns, in the dramatic sketch, "The Counsel for the Defense;" Charles Dickson and Kathryn Osterman, in the one-act comedy "Tomorrow at Twelve;" Julian Rose, Hebrew comedian and singer; McNish and Albro, acrobatic comedians; Claude Thardo, charcoal artist; Juno Salmo, the "Golden Mephisto;" Mattie Vickers, and Monroe and Hart, in the comedy sketch "Masquerading." Ching Ling Foo, the Chinese magician; and his company of jugglers plate spinners, etc., for their last week; the Symphony orchestra players, in a new pro gramme, with A. L. Guille, the French tenor, as soloist, in new selections. The biograph, as usual, will have new and interesting motion pictures. Rose Coghlan, is booked for the week of July 24, in a new one-act comedy, "Between Matinee and Night," and Henri French, the greatest performer in his line who has even ALASKA'S BOUNDARY.

Canada Wants a Port of Entry Into the Klondike Gold Fields.

Linn Canal Considered the Key to the Situation.

Senator Fairbanks Returns From the North and Gives Interesting Opinions.

Tocoma, Wash., July 10.-The Fairbanks-Foster Alaskan boundary party returned from the north yesterday, and interviews with members of the party indicate that the watersheds on White pass, back of Skagway and Dyea, will be accepted as the international boundary line at that point. The White and Chilcoot passes constitute the storm center of the Alaskan boundary. At those points the Canadians hope to secure concessions that will enable them to anchor down a port of entry into the Klondike gold fields. All vives. other parts of the country thereabouts concessions are looked for are uation. Senator Fairbanks, when interviewed, placed importance on the fact that he must sit with the joint high commission in August, but declined to state what lines of argument he would take up. Regarding boundary matters that were discussed during the four weeks spent in Alaska, Senator Fairbanks declined to speak:

CHARLES W. FAIRBANKS.

to yielding an inch of United States territory. A careful investigation, however, demonstrates that there may be different constructions placed upon the treaties involved as regards channels, the situation of lesser islands and the like. But, in the main, the United States are plainly given a strip of territory north of the Portland canal, or thereabouts, 10 marine leagues inland, except where a well defined mountain range places the boundary nearer the The strip runs to Mt. St. Elias. Many contend at the passes that the watershed back of Skagway and Dyea is the dividing line. On the one side are the head waters of the Yukon, and or the other the streams flowing into the Linn canal are formed. Between these two districts there is a chain of moun tains, in the opinion of some, bringing the boundary line some 18 miles neared the coast. This seems to be a fair expression of the American view of the boundary question. By this construc-tion of the treaty it is held that England will receive the benefit of every point that can be fairly and honestly granted. "On the other hand, however, the Canadians and many of the English hold that the boundary should be drawn 30 miles, or 10 marine leagues inland from the headlands. By such a construction of course, the Linn canal would be an inlet into Canadian territory, and three marine leagues inland from the headlands at the entrance would be many miles south of Skagway and Dyea, and hence Canada and England would have the coveted port of entry without a question of doubt. As I look upon it personally, Linn canal is part of the ocean, it would be unfair to draw a line 30 miles inland from the entrance to bodies of water of that nature and call it the boundary under the treaty."

A Georgia Tragedy.

Plattsburgh, N. Y., July 10.-Anno Debel, a life prisoner at Clinton prison, made his escape from that institution Saturday. Oebel was sentenced from Brooklyn 18 years ago for shooting his sweetheart, and for the past 15 years has a pass. He is an expert engineer and steam fitter, and was often sent outside the yard to do work at the officers' houses. 18 miles from the prison by two officers after a desperate struggle. Oebel had secured a revolver and emptied it at the officers, but did not hit either of them.

Vergennes, Vt., July 10.-During an lectrical storm, which passed over the Lake Champlain region, William Seiple aged 14, was struck by lightning and killed, near Fort Cassin. The boy, with Joe Laflamme, was hitching a horse when the bolt came. Laflamme was injured, but will recover. The horse was

Didn't Know Gun Was Loaded, and Now Mrs. Danovitch Is on Her Death Bed.

Boston, July 10 .- Mrs. Betsy Danoat the Massachusetts general hospital as a result of a terrible wound in her abdomen, caused by a full charge of gun-chot, which was fired at her in the kitchen of her home yesterday. Jacob Burack, 30 years old, will be arraigned, if Mrs. Danovitch dies, on a charge of manslaughter, but there is little doubt that the shooting was wholly of an accidental

Mrs. Danovitch is the mother of several children, and altogether there were eight or nine men in the house enjoying selves in various ways. A strange dog appeared, and one of the men thought that it would be an amusing thing to frighten it away. So he ran to the barn, and, picking up an old shotgun that had stood unused and rusting for years, brought it into the kitchen. where the dog and the other men were.

A cap was put into the old firearm and Burack, who was visiting the house aiming the weapon at the dog, pulled the trigger. There was no report; and laughingly, Burack raised the gun again and, pointing it at Mrs. Danovitch, who just then passed through the kitchen said: "I guess I'll shoot you." He pulled the trigger again as he uttered the words, which were half of them drowned by a deafening report.

Mrs. Danovitch dropped to the ground.

Physicians said that the only chance there was of saving her life was in bringing her to a Boston hospital. She was brought in and operated upon, but it is said that it will be a wonder if she sur-

Anchored In Portsmouth Harbor.

Portsmouth, N. H., July 10 .- The North Atlantic squadron steamed into the harbor yesterday and dropped anchor. The fleet is the most imposing array of battleships that has ever visited Portsmouth, and proved a sufficient attraction to bring over 8000 persons from the surrounding country into the city, and nearly all this great multitude witnessed the column as it steamed up from Newcastle. There was no saluting, but Admiral Remey, at the navy yard, sent off an officer to welcome the fleet to Portsmouth. It is understood that the fleet will leave for Portland on Thursday.

Should Be No Shirking of Duty.

Bar Harbor, Me., July 10.—The convention of the American institute of instruction was marked yesterday by the delivery of a notable address by President Butler of Colby university on "Higher Education and American Life." President Butler touched briefly upon mperialism and expansion, saying that both resolved themselves into a question of nationalism, and that it was the manifest destiny of the United States to educate and liberate the Filipinos and Cubans. In that there should be no shirking of duty whatever the cost.

Want Seventeen Cents an Hour.

Fall River, Mass., July 10 .- The prospect of settling the Fall River steam firemen's trouble looks promising. Superintendent McCreery of the Granite mills announces that the demand for 17 cents an hour will be granted in that company's mills. The firemen in local mills average 12 hours daily, and get from $6 to $11 per week; hence the demand for pay by the hour. The threatened strike is nearly a week ahead, and it is hoped the other mills will grant the advance in the interval.

Narly all the time was taken up in a debate on the question of withdrawing from the National Lasters' union and joining the Socialistic Trades and Labor Alliance of New York. No decision was reached, and the union adjourned without electing officers.

Sabbath Observance Rally and Consecration Services Productive of Much Good.

Detroit, July 10 .- An Anglo-Saxon aspect was imparted to the speeches at the Christian Endeavor "peace jubilee," held on Belle Isle Saturday afternoon. Al! the speakers were representatives of English-speaking countries, and all sentiments favoring greater friendship between the people of the United States and Great Britain were heartily cheered. Bad weather through the day caused considerable curtailment of the attendance, but at 4 o'clock, after the sun had shown forth, several thousand Endeavorers had grouped about the speakers stand erected in a grove in Detroit's island park.

President Clark presided, Mayor Maybury, in an address, said the Indian had always held Belle Isle as sacred to peace. After singing patriotic American songs and "God Save the Queen," a memorial to congress was read with an announcement that its sentiments had been endorsed by Andrew D. White, presiden of the United States commissioners t the peace conference.

The memorial states that its signers are members and friends of the societies of Christian Endeavor numbering in this country over 40,000 organizations, with more than 2,500,000 members, and in foreign lands over 14,000 organizations with nearly 1,000,000 members. It says "We wish to express our abhorrence o war and our solemn conviction that it is the duty of every civilized nation to do all in its power toward making war impossible. We wish to record our desire for the speedy establishment of the international tribunal of arbitration. We wish to show our interest in the interna-tional conference to discuss this matter proposed by the Czar of Russia, and to urge that our country act promptly upon the proposals of that conference. And especially we desire by our signatures to appeal for the immediate consideraion of the question of arbitration be tween this nation and Great Britain, that the Anglo-Saxon race may become united in the interests of peace and good

Rev. Dr. Hill of Salem, Mass., first spoke for the United States. "By as much as we are Christian Endeavorers, said Dr. Hill, "by so much shall we work together for peace. We come to a new day. Since the morning stars sang together and the sons of God shouted for joy, there never has been an hour such as the one that is now coming and almost here—the hour of universal peace. Three cheers were given for President deavor and Mayor Maybury. Last evening was devoted to receptions at all the state headquarters.

Although a large majority of the army of Christian Endeavorers in Detroit utilized the street cars vesterday, a onsidrable portion refrained from reading the Sunday newspapers. Few of the pastors who occupied the various Protestant pulpits went to the extreme of inconveniencing themselves by walkng long distances as did Rev. Charles Sheldon, author of "In His Steps," who walked more than three miles to preach from the text "One Is Our Master, All

We Are Brethren." To a congregation which entirely exceeded the capacity of the Bethany a wound in the head. He was removed Presbyterian church, Mr. Sheldon spoke optimistically of the signs of the times found in the head. It was then recalled especially the awakening of the social that a report which sounded like that conscience, better relationship between employers and employed, federation of the little one was found, but no one as the churches, movement toward civic stewardship feature of the Christian's life, as to his money, time and talents.

The features of the afternoon were crowded meetings for men and for women exclusively, and a Sabbath rally. Thirty-five hundred men filled the floor and galleries of the Light Guards' armory at the men's meeting The men sang with fine enthusiasm, and a very large portion of them publicly pledged that the occasion would be with them a landmark from which would

"date a better life." The wife of President Clark presided over the women's meeting, which filled the Woodward Avenue Baptist church. Mrs. Joseph Walker of Queensland led the devotions. Westminster Presbyterian church could not contain the audience which attended the Sabbath observance gathering. An address upon "Sabbath In the Home" was delivered by Rev. Dr. McAllister of Alleghany, Pa. Rev. Dr. Howard of Rochester related at length of some alleged futile attempts made in that city toward closing "the side door" on Sunday. He argued insistentyesterday in the stable attached to the ly that prohibition is the only true solution of the saloon question. The closing speech was by John Charlton, M. P., of Lynedoch, Ont., on "What the Sabbath May Do For Us."

Last night an additional touch of solemnity was imparted to the meetings of the Christian Endeavorers. The generalities of religion were in some measure neglected, and the evening worship in 31 Protestant churches of Detroit and Windsor took the form of "consecration services." The capacity of the churches was taxed, and the rapt attention of the crowds to the one subject of consecration was impressive in the greatest degree.

How to Govern the Island.

SAYS SUCCESS LIES IN COLONIZING.

In the Interview the General Tells In the Light of His Experience What Should Be Done Toward Americanizing the People-Self Gov- car or railway lines?" "Franchises ernment Should Be Tried Slowly.

The other morning I asked General Henry this question, said the Washington correspondent of the Chicago Record, "What would you do if you had your way in organizing a government should be granted to proper parties.

Railroads are necessary for the island.

"In the first place," replied General Henry, "I would take our laws down factories, etc., as soon as possible. The there, translate them into Spanish, first thing to do is to build a railroad Spanish laws suppressed—that is, such Spanish laws as are not compatible the country. I would let the natives alone to work out their future for themselves. They are an intelligent body of men-the supreme court and others-well educated and anxious to become Americanized. Our success lies in colonizing and not in Americanizing, in teaching them our ways and leaving them free to adopt them. It is not a country that can be Americanized in a day or forcibly. We have to depend, as the English have, upon the people themselves. By so doing we will have with a serious accident on Saturday a colony that will reflect credit upon us and be in accord with us in every possible way. In introducing Americanisms we may succeed, but we will have a disgruntled and subtle element on our hands and have trouble always.'

"Are the people ready for self government?" "The experiment with self government should be tried slowly. The people at present are incapable. understands it, free from annoyance of They have to learn our laws and how ownership and independent of its to enforce them. The way to commence utterances. It is the newspaper that would be with the municipalities. Ap-There are some towns, like Mayaguez, quite capable of self government. If it whether the person affected by it be was introduced now, my own opinion local governments are not capable at been in operation for years. In apply ing new laws it would be impossible to expect anything of them.

To them Americanism means progress in every wayin education and wealth-and unless that comes with the change they will not be as happy as they hope to be. Schools are of the greatest importance, and the success of the island in the future will depend upon the education of the children. You cannot expect much from the present generation of people, but we do reasonably expect by educating the children that everything desirable will follow. They are very bright, intelligent and anxious to learn.

"Capital must be introduced to give employment to labor. The island is very thickly settled, and many people in the past have had scarcely anything to live on. It is common to see people to five on. It is common to see people and, callous and hot, tired, aching feet. Try it who have lived for years on bananas, a little coffee and rice. In fact, 6 cents a day would feed a Porto Rican. With a railroad circling the island the cart roads now being built would be brought down to it from the interior. At Ponce there should be a breakwater. It is the only harbor on that side of the island." "How much would a good railroad circling the island cost?" "I do not know. As labor is cheap, you can calculate it by the cost of a railroad in this country and divide it by one-half.

> half of that in this country. The materials would cost more. The tariff on them is high. I think that the materials for railroads and such publiimprovements should be admitted free of duty. Such a policy would advance the welfare of the island." "Wha have you to say about the tariff?' "The tariff when we went there was very high. It has been cut down since, but even now it is too high. As an illustration, the tariff on flour was $4 a barrel. Now it is $1. But even now the price is so high that it is hard to get flour. Flour was at one time $15 a barrel. It has been cut down to $8.

> The cost of labor would be about one-

"The vaccination of the people solved an important problem. The matter was brought up in this way: There was some smallpox on the island, and we were notified that we would be quarantined. I then gave an order to vaccinate everybody. Dr. Aimes was given charge of the matter and produced the points. The orders were for everybody to be vaccinated, and if any objected they were denied certificates. No force was used to compel them to submit to vaccination. Those who did not have certificates of vaccination, however, were debarred from entering buildings, were denied employment and were not permitted to go about at will. The whole island has by this time been vaccinated at the cost of $30,000. The people submitted quietly, and they now regard their vaccination certificates as the most precious things in their possession. They show them wherever they go. With some of the natives, owing to the enfeebled and impure condition of their blood, the vaccination caused a great deal of suffering, and the patient manner in which they bore it was most vantages to come of it, they would commendable. The effect, however, was to exterminate the smallpox. In San Juan there were 12 distinct centers of smallpox, but the vaccination pre vented the spread of the disease.

"The way to rule those people is by honesty and justice. Use kindness if possible, and when that fails resort to punishment. On these lines we worked and succeeded. I broke up their political parties and had them all working together for progress and the good of the island. When I first went there, I was called upon by delegations from the different municipalities and thus ascertained who were Radicals and who were Liberals, and I stated to the representatives that I had another party in process of formation, of which I would have charge as the representative of the United States, a party that would work for progress and not poli tics, and I asked all who wanted to join to stand up, and all did. It was another exemplification of promises signed, I shall be pleased to renew all expiring kept. They worked together as they kept. They worked together as they promised. "There is no more amiable and easily contented people to be found in the world than the Porto Ricans if properly handled and when their confidence is obtained, but they have been de ceived so often and for so many generations that they distrust every person who possesses power. They expect him to play the rogue with them every time, as the Spaniards did. The first thing for our people to do is to convince them that our intentions are for their welfare, and then their loyalty can always be depended upon.

"There are two political parties, known as the Liberal and Radical paralcaldes, or mayors, of the towns run ties. They have no fixed principles or everything. Everything is under their policies, but are simply the adherents control, so much so that recently the of active and able leaders who control a manner that we know nothing of in the United States. Canvas Fitted Well and She Easily Answered Helm. Harriman of the- Meadowbrook- Golf

Run Was Satisfactory, but Few Minor Alterations Will Be Found Necessary.

London, July 10 .- The Times, describing and commenting upon the spin of the Shamrock on Saturday, says: When she was running back through the Cowes' road to Hythe, the breeze freshened considerably, there was plenty of power in the wind and some idea of the yacht's speed could be obtained. It is generally conceded that she is the fastest light-weather craft ever seen in the Solent. She went very steadily and seemed very easy on the helm, coming quite up to expectations. Her canvas fitted will, and the trial was extremely satisfactory in every way.

A correspondent writes to The Times "The general impression is a vessel of great power, with considerable freeboard, in that respect somewhat dwarfurday's breeze, although light, was omewhat unsteady, both in force and direction, but the stronger puffs seemed to have little keeling effect on the vessel, lespite her enormous canvas.

"Her gear is all of the finest wire, and ooks marvelously like spider's web when viewed in the company of the crowd of cruising vessels here. It is to be hoped that Fife has not unduly reduced the scantling of the gear with the intent of saving weight, but the accident last Thursday, when the bow-sprit ironwork proved inadequately strong, gives ground for some nervousness on this point."

It should be understood that Saturday's trip was in no sense a test of speed, although the Iverna and Satineta accompanied her. It was solely for the purpose of sail stretching. Very soon it became apparent that there was not a shadow of foundation for the unfavorable reports. No doubt a few minor alterations will be found necessary, but the sails were pronounced generally excellent.

The helm trials were even more satisfactory, if possible, as she answered all demands beautifully and without the least trouble. After Calshot she was directed toward Cowes, where she was eagerly scanned by crowds of experts already arrived for the season. A distinguished expert and yachting authorty said that the Shamrock was the finest yacht ever seen in the Solent.

Starting again she went for the west channel and Yarmouth. Then she returned toward Southampton. As she beat up Southampton water with gaff topsail, mainsail and foresail she developed wonderful speed, finally anchoring off Hythe. She will take another spin today, accompanied by the Iverna

A member of the crew said: "The admirably without a hitch and answered her helm to perfection, which is one of the greatest considerations. We are ing fed and will need to be sustained dead in a chair in the lodging house at going to win; but it is impossible yet to for some time by the relief committees. judge of the yacht's full capabilities." Secretary Baer's Estimate of Attendance at the Detroit Meetings.

The Eighteenth International Convention Is Closed.

Messages to President McKinley, Queen Victoria, Lord Minto, Peace Commissioners.

Detroit, July 11.-The closing day of the internaional Christian Endeavor convention was the busiest of a busy week. The tendencies of the '99 gathering along educational and other practical lines have caused this to be called the educational convention.

"Missions" was the topic in both the tents at the morning meetings; foreign missions in Tent Endeavor, and home missions in Tent Williston. At the former meeting the foreign missionaries who were present were introduced to the audience by "Father Endeavor"

The convention closed last night amid scenes of impressive solemnity attending the utterance of "The Last Word" by the president and secretary, in each of the great tents, respectively, following responses from each state and country represented, and last exhortations from Methodist Episcopal Bishop Vincent of Kansas and Evangelist Chapman of New York.

President Clark's last words to the delegates were as follows: "Take this convention home with you. New responsibilities are yours. You have now more to account for before the throne of God. Unless you Endeavorers who came to this convention are more faithful, more loyal to your church, better supporters of your pastors, more inspired with missionary enthusiasm, you have lost your opportunity, and God will hold you responsible. Take this meeting home with you; you cannot keep it to yourselves and remain guiltless. Take it to your church, your city, your home, make this country a better country because we have held our 18th international convention of Christian Endeavor."

The following statement as to attend ance, etc., was given out by Secretary "Without doubt the attendance at this convention has very much exeeded that of any other Christian Enleavor convention ever held in the matter of those present at the various meetings. This estimate takes into account the great convention at Boston in 1895. That the bout a draw at the close of the 25th is to say, out of the 28,000 Endeavorers round. registered, there have been more who attended meetings than at any previous were 28,000 Endeavorers in attendance, including Detroit delegates. of Canadian and American Christian Endeavorers, in international convention assembled in Detroit, rejoice in your long and glorious reign and pray God's constant blessing upon you. Thousands of Endeavorers next July will cross the ocean to convention in London with love and reverence in their hearts for you." In response to a cablegram sent by President Clark after the Christian Endeavor peace conference on Saturday, the following was yesterday received from Andrew D. White, president of the American peace commissioners: "American commission to the peace conference sends sincere thanks for message, and congratulates you and all friends of peace for the great success achieved providing for a permanent tribunal of arbitration.

At all previous meetings the audiences assembled quietly, but last evening, for some time before the calling to order of the two great gatherings, Tents Endeavor and Williston were babels of sounds and scenes. William Bugbee, Charles Danahey, John Whalen and John O'Brien, four Atlantic and Wollaston youths, were arrested as they were leaving the Boston boat at Portland this morning for the Quiacy police, by whom they are wanted for breaking and entering the Wollaston Golf clubhouse and the larceny of fifteen dozen golf balls.

Inspector McKay who had the case had his suspicion directed to the above mentioned youths and it is said that President Freeman of the club saw some young men pawning golf balls in Boston, Monday.

The police had reason to believe that the four took the boat for Portland, Monday night, and the Portland police were telephoned and requested to arrest them on their arrival. When the boat arrived this morning the four youthful ourglars walked into the arms of the police and were promptly locked up. Chief Hayden and Inspector McKay left for Portland on the noon train to serum prepared at New York has both bring them back to Quincy.

His statement concerning his work is:

"Tests recently made in the laboratory of this department have for the her sister ships are designed for a speed first time shown that the yellow fever of 161/2 knots, but will make 17 knots investigation as to the cause of yellow fever was begun at quarantine in the spring of 1897, some months before Professor Sanarelli of Montevideo published he had isolated the specific organism of this investigator.

"About this period I received from him a culture of the alleged yellow fever germ, which made it possible to compare it with the organism isolated at our laboratory, and it was found that they were practically the same. In Sanarelli's paper describing his experiments he states that he produced by inoculation with the yellow fever germ yellow fever in a number of persons who were turned over to him for this purpose by the state or municipality. "I am informed by one of his assistants, who has recently visited the laboratory of this department in charge of Dr. Charles B. Fitzpatrick, that the persons referred to by Sanarelli were inmates of an insane asylum and regarded as incurable cases. Without discussing the propriety of such an act on the part of those in charge of the institution referred to, it will be fully appreciated that an experiment of this kind is invaluable. After Sanarelli had isolated what he regarded as the specific organism of yellow fever he inoculated animals with the culture of the same and claimed to have succeeded in obtaining a serum which cured yellow fever both in men and animals.

"The work of immunizing animals to obtain the serum above described was begun at New York in January, 1898. Two good, sound horses were selected for the purpose. After ten months' continuous work a serum was obtained which showed a slight therapeutic effect. For example, if a given number of guinea pigs were inoculated with the germ and half of the number afterward injected with the serum the latter would remain alive three or four days longer than the rest. The succeeding experiments varied until May 2, when a serum was obtained which yielded very satisfactory results.

"Fourteen cubic centimeters of the serum when injected into an animal island, M. Lebon, the minister who was which had just been inoculated with a responsible for the orders sent to M. fatal dose of the germ of yellow fever preserved its life, and it remained perthe germ of yellow fever but were not of the serum, 10 cubic centimeters, succeeded in preventing the infection of an though over 80 years of age. animal which was 24 hours afterward inoculated with the fatal dose of the germ of yellow fever. "Other guinea pigs which were inoculated at the same time and had preobtained on June 8 have shown equally satisfactory results.

"The important work of which I have just given an outline would indiisolated the specific organism of yellow fever, and that the serum which has been obtained both by Sanarelli and the health department of the state of New York has both curative and pre ventive properties, at least in animals.

"Its effect on the human being is yet to be seen. However, I am looking forward to the most favorable results. While in Havana last March I made arrangements with my representative there to be prepared to use the serum in cases which would probably come under his personal care, provided the experiments in New York justified me in forwarding some of it to him. A supply of the serum is now being prepared for this purpose and will be sent to Havana in a few days.'

CLIMATE AND CROPS.

Drought Is Now a Thing of the Past, but Hay Crop Will Be Very Short.

Boston, July 11.-The New England section, climate and crop service of the weather bureau, issues the following bulletin for the week ending July 10: The week has averaged very warm, GIANTS' COLORS LOWERED TWICE. Supposedly Weak Team Kept the Champions Hustling In Both Games.

Boston, July 11.—The champions lowered the colors of the New Yorks twice in the presence of one of the largest crowds of the season, and the 5000 spectators apparently "got their money's worth." The home team made it three straights from the visitors, but only after an 11-inning battle in the second contest, the winning run being scored in the last half on a two-bagger to left by Hamilton, and Tenney's hit to the fence in deep right centre, which would have been good for three bases ordinarily.

By winning, Boston climbed a little closer to the Brooklyn leaders, as the latter were defeated by the Philadelphias.

For a team who were supposedly weak, the visitors actually made the home champions extend themselves in the last battle, and, for that matter, the first game was close.

Boston's two pitchers did their best and came out victors, after the long spell of bad luck that pursued them on

Visit to Washington.

May Run For Vice President Next Year and Head the Ticket In 1904.

Washington, July 12.—Secretary Gage's interview yesterday, in which he says the Republican party should make its fight next year upon a straightforward gold standard declaration, doubtless reflects the feelings of the administration. Events have long made it evident that the party was rapidly approaching this position, and there is not likely to be any conflict as to it between its leaders in congress and the administration. They both have the same aims in view, and it will not be necessary for President Mc-Kinley to make a "fight," as it has been termed, for such a declaration. The doings of the Atlantic City committee under the chairmanship of Colonel Henderson doubtless foreshadowed party policy Representative Morris of Minnesota who was a member of this committee, called at the White House yesterday He gave it as his opinion that the special finance committee of the two houses would before long be called in joint session. The final touches which they put upon the recommendations will show what the policy of the Fifty-fifth congress is to be and the declaration of the national platform of 1900. It is evident that a declaration for the gold standard the head right, and the head is always will be not only in line with the course of events, but at this particular juncture good politics.

The hurried visit of Governor Roosevelt to this city last Saturday still remains a subject of gossip. At first the was a general disposition to credit in the port that Alger's coquetting Roose gree had made his furth shington to cabinet impracticable come secretary velt had been calle receive an invitati

On the other hand, it was noted that Alger was by no means the only cabinet officer who absented himself from the evening meetof the greatest intimacy in the past, and

ing, which was really composed of men with whom Roosevelt had been on terms further, that within a little while the governor had stated that he found that the only way to guard absolutely against saying too much, or the wrong thing on any subject, is to keep silent on it altogether. This would account for his silence on the war portfolio even if the president had merely put out a 'feeler" toward him.

These are some of the negative reasons for discrediting the Alger successorship story, but there are a few of For examp it is well known that underneath all his personal regard for Roosevelt, the president considers him something of a firebrand. In a position where he has a free hand and can take sole responsibility for his conduct, he shows to the best advantage. When he is one of a group of men with differing judgments his combative traits, his absolute convictions and his irrepressible energy make him a hard quantity with which to reckon. The president would prefer on many grounds to have about him either the sort of men who will try to reconcile their opinions with those of their associates, or if they still cling to their independent views after opposition will simply stand aside when they find themselves outvoted.

Again, the president knows that Roosevelt regards the governorship of New York as an office so much higher than anything the cabinet has to offer that such a transfer from Albany to Washington would seem to him like a tep backward in his career. But there is a good deal of ground or supposing that the president may be naking overtures to Roosevelt with a view to having him in the second place n the national ticket in 1900. The statement the other day that Roosevelt is the legatee of the McKinley interest for 1904 was made on authoritative in-The president's idea may be now to have him go into training, as it were, through the vice presidency, as some of the earlier presidents did. and meanwhile to get the benefits of his personal popularity and his record as a governor to help pull the ticket

To return to Alger, it may be stated n good authority that he had a talk with the president only a few days ago about the demands of so many administration newspapers for his resignation, and that the president told him to give it no further thought. Whether this answer was indicative of the president's real desire or only a polite way of dismissing the subject and leaving Alger to hand in his resignation voluntarily, nobody knows, but there are many

Tom and Teddy In Conference. New York, July 12.-Senator T. C. Platt and Governor Roosevelt held a conference here yesterday. After the meeting the governor declined to talk of what passed between him and Senator Platt. Senator Platt said he had talked with the governor about the latter's conference with President McKinley in the matter of the appointment of state officers to commands in the new regiments of volunteers. He said Governor Roosevelt fully endorsed his plans for a union of forces between the independents and the Republican organization, and he Boston, July 12.-Boston lost the first game of the season on the home grounds with Manager Tom Burns' Chicago Orphans, and there were few tears shed. Clarke Griffith, one of the most strategic box men, was on the rubber for the visitors, with Tim Donohue of Taun-Speculation as to Roosevelt's ton, the newly appointed captain of the Chicagoes, behind the plate, and Griffith had the home champions guessing at almost all stages of the contest.

Boston deserved to lose, because the visitors far outplayed the champions. Burns has a strong team, and it doesn't do to treat them lightly. A poor piece of judgment was shown by the Boston commander in taking Victor Willis out of the game in the ninth inning, and the hard-hitting Chicago men took advantage of the peculiar change. had pitched admirable ball for the home citizens, although wild at a few un important stages after the first inning and was hitting as well as any man or the team. Congressman Hull was against giving up a foot of northern territory, and declared that it would result in great commercia oss were a port given Great Britain o Linn canal. One Boy Was Lost.

Halifax, July 12 .-- Later accounts show that the wreck of the steamer Portia on Big Fish shoal was attended by many narrow escapes. Only one person was drowned, an Assyrian boy 12 years old, known only by the name of Basha, who was traveling from New York to St. John's, where his mother lives. The escape of all the others on board the steamer, numbering 69 passengers and a crew of 34 officers and men, is accounted extraordinary, considering the perilous and exciting incidents accompanying the wreck. The accounts of the wreck which reached here Monday evenng showed that the passengers and crew had effected the abandonment of the doomed ship with comparative ease. But the stories of the wreck brought to the city yesterday by those who suffered and lost by it showed that the escape from death was not accomplished so easily as was indicated by Monday

Austin, July 12.- The cotton exchange ere has completed the work of tabuating the losses on the cotton crop atendant upon the Brazos river flood. They find that the loss on the Brazos cotton will represent 200,000 bales, repeenting $5,000,000 loss. They also find that the heavy rains which produced the floods and ruined the crops in the ottom have benefited cotton growing on the upper lands proportionately, so that by far the best crop that has been harvested for years will be produced from the uplands this season.

UNDER THE AMERICAN FLAG.

Washington, July 12.-Privileges and protection of the American flag to the shipping of Porto Rico and the Philippines has been extended by order of the president. All ships owned by residents of these islands at the time of the exchange of the ratification of treaties are included in the order.

The order of the president, issued through the war department, directs officers of customs in Porto Rico and the Philippines to issue certificates of protection to vessels of those islands. These certificates entitle the vessels to which they are issued to the protection of the flag of the United States on the high seas and all ports under the following

First, the vessel must be owned by a citizen of the United States residing in Porto Rico or the Philippines. Second, natives of the islands may be given certificates for their vessels upon their taking the oath of allegiance. Third, if a resident of the islands nan was a subject of Spain prior to Apr to 1899, and has abjured his allegia the the crown of Spain, and has tstates, oath of allegiance to the Unitrificate

Toledo, July 12.-Bids were opened last night for the sale or lease of the city's atural gas plant. Five bids were re eived. Interest centerd in the offer of Mayor Jones, whose proposition is as follows: He agrees to take possession of the plant at once, and at the end of six months guarantees to have fully equipped and running an artificial gas plant capable of furnishing 3,000,000 cubic feet of gas per day. eipts of the concern are to be handled by him, retaining enough to pay the cost of the improvements made. When the plant is fully paid for he agrees to turn it over to the city without cost, and surrender title to the same. He also agrees to surrender the plant, upon notice, on the city paying for the improve ments made. If he constructs the plant, after it is entirely paid for, the profits after it is entirely paid for the profits the mayor's proposition will be accepted.

Another Scalp For Dixon.

Denver. July 12.-George Dixon, featherweight champion of the world. was given the decision over Tommy White at the end of a 20-round bout before the Olympic club last night. Dixon led the fighting from start to finish, Tommy's purpose being to avoid a knockout and stay the limit. George's left-hand work was the comment of all He would bring his left from the ribs as to almost escape the eye. O'Rourke sat in Dixon's corner, and frequently cautioned him when his over anxiety would make him careless Dixon weighed in at 1251/4 pounds, and White at 120. The betting was 10 to 8 on Dixon, and quite a bunch of money changed hands at these odds.

Assessment Order Declared Insolvent.

Baltimore, July 12.-Judge Stockbridge has handed down an opinion in the case of Amelia E. Myers against the supreme lodge of the Order of the Golden Chain, to the effect that the organization is insolvent and announcing that he would sign a decree appointing the receivers. Mrs. Myers sued for a receivership on account of the failure of the order to pay her the $3000 death benefit on the death of her husband. Discussing the case Judge Stockbridge shows that there are unpaid claims amounting to $116,000, and that the funds on hand to pay these amounts are only $16,000, while the other assets amount to but $1800. The membership is steadily decreasing, being but 3464, as against 10,281 in December, 1895.

To End His Days In Rest. New York, July 12.—Manager Griscom of the American line says that Captain Watkins of the stranded steamer Paris, whose license has been suspended for two years by the United States local inspectors of steam vessels, was to have quit the sea of his volition at the end of the present season. At Southampton he has a quiet home, where he intended to rest from his labors and enjoy the retrospect of a long and useful career. His wife was a Southampton woman, and his home was there, although he was a citizen of the United States. Senators Became Wroth and Lost Their Tempers.

Gallinger Asked Chandler to "Come Outside" and the Lie Was Passed-

Concord, N. H., July 13 .- The hearing before the United States civil service ommission on charges of the violation of the law on political assessment by United States Senator Gallinger is practically concluded, but the final session proved most sensational. Not only did Senator Gallinger accuse his colleague, Senator Chandler, of speaking an unruth, but offered to back up his statement outside the committee room Previous to this episode Senator Chand-ler became involved in a warm dispute ith Chairman Brewer of the commis on, and not only accused him of pariality, but threatened to ask for his re

The author of the assessment circular William S. The hearings both Tuesday and yes terday have been marked for their bitter ness on the part of both senators.

No early witnesses were on hand when the afternoon session was called to or der, and Special Agent Wales read corespondence between the commission and William S. Thayer, treasurer of the Republican state committee in 1898, whose name was signed to the assessment circulars. Mr. Thayer had replied that he was elected treasurer of the state ommittee on Sept. 27, 1898, and that in hat capacity he had collected and disosed of the funds of the committee 'Being an officer of the committee," said ne, "I acted on my own responsibility and am answerable only to the committee for what I did." In a later letter, Mr. Thayer said that neither Senator Gailinger nor the state committee made ny suggestions about the circular.

The senator's letter referred to informed the commission that the charges against him were concocted by evilinded, malicious persons, and that the implaints were not made in good faith, ut for the purpose of revenge, and were not worthy the attention which the comnission seemed to be giving them. A further letter from Senator Gallinger stated that he, personally, "did not at any time discuss with Mr. Thayer or suggest to him the names of those to whom the assessment circular should be

After an altercation as to the opening and closing of the case and the admission of evidence after the close of the hearing, argument and brief, Senator Chandler remarked: "The commission seems to have found out everything connected with this investigation except who wrote the assessment, penned the office holders, who fixed the sums to be assessed, who directed the envelopes and who sent them out. The essential things have not been ascertained. It is called a commission to do this, and find

Mr. Brewer-You have no rights except hose of a gentleman. After a further colloquy, in which each y implication called the other to be rithout the class called gentlemen, Mr. Chandler proceeded to say that the man nost wanted in connection with the inrestigation did not happen to be present Mr. Thayer is in the city today, and I elieve he has been kept away from here v Senator Gallinger.' Senator Gallinger and his counsel, Attorney General Eastman, at once shouted: "That is absolutely false; it is not true." Mr. Eastman continued, calling him "a liar," adding: "I do not care if you are a United States senator." Senator Chandler retorted: "And I do not care if you are attorney general and are defending criminals when you should be prosecuting them." Senator Gallinger appealing to the chair, Senator Chandler said: "Men who call other men liars do not need protecion. I repeat, I believe Senator Gallinger has kept Mr. Thayer away." Senator Gallinger shouted: "You don't dare to come outside this room and say

"I will go outside and say it," replied Senator Chandler, starting for the door, Friends restrained both men, and after a few minutes of confusion the hearing went on. Senator Gallinger read a prepared statement showing that the case against him to be utterly collapsed and protesting against its further continuance. He then left the room, and his counsel, Attorney General Eastman, spoke with a view to softening the harsh words he had used to Senator Chandler The latter made a similar concession to Attorney Eastman, and under such happy auspices the meeting adjourned,

Chandler makes the statement that Com missioner Brewer 'prejudged the case and conducted it in a partial manner; that he showed great discourtesy to the complainants and made it impossible for the case to be fairly and fully presented.

ONE MAN INSTANTLY KILLED. Two Others Injured, One Probably Fatally, by the Fall of a Derrick.

Pawtucket, R. I., July 13.-An accident | Joint High Commission Is Last Session of Investigators at Con- new sailors' memorial library caused it to fall yesterday, killing one workman quite seriously injuring two others, and the escape from death of a large number of other laborers was miraculous.

The derrick was 70 feet in height, weighing nearly five tons. At the base it was thought to have been firmly fixed in the ground, and from its sides depended two great arms used in lifting

The derrick stood near the western end of the foundation, where a number of laborers were engaged in excavating. Suddenly the great machine tottered and was pulled around by the weight of a heavy stone depending from one of the arms. Cries of warning were uttered when the derrick began to waver. The men in the pit had scarcely looked up when the great mass of framework was almost upon them. James Gallagher was struck by a heavy section and killed. The work of rescue was immediately begun. Gallagher had been caught be-neath one of the heavy arms and was so badly crushed that he lived only a few moments after having been taken from beneath the wreckage. Luke O'Donnell was extricated from the debris with his head badly cut and bad bruises. Thomas Sherman sustained internal injuries that may prove fatal.

Boston, July 13 .- Rev. S. O. Johnson who was formerly pastor of the Metho dist church at Northfield, Vt., and was expelled at the last conference at New port, Vt., will have a new trial in this city before a board of triers of appeals. The board can reverse the decision of the conference which expelled Mr. Johnson and reinstate him to full membership; i can sustain the decision and sanction his expulsion, or it can refer the matter to the general conference, which meets in May of next year. Mr. Johnson was found guilty of "cribbing" in taking examinations for admittance to the Vermont conference.

New Haven Man Chosen.

Newton, Mass., July 13.—The special meeting of the school board, held last evening to elect a superintendent of schools, was the stormlest in the history of that body. It resulted in the final dismissal of the present incumbent, George I. Aldrich, who has occupied the position for the past seven years, and in the election of Albert B. Fifield of New Haven. In the discussion attending the election the opposents and adherents of Superintendent Aldrich were unsparingly scored. Personalities were freely indulged in and the lie was passed.

On July 2 the dead body of Mrs. Ellen Seery was found lying on a cot at her home on Central avenue, and now two of her sons are charged with a dastardly crime. They were brought into the district court before Judge Emery and arraigned. As the inquest has not yet been finished the case was continued until July 20. Both Alaskan Boundary Question Still a Matter of Speculation.

Evidently Blocked.

Premier of Canada Objects to Our Sending Troops to Pyramid Harbor.

Washington, July 13.-No advance has been made during the past few days towards the arrangement of a modus vivendi, fixing temporarily the Alaskan boundary line. Meanwhile, Aug. 2 draws near, and it will become necessary for our government to make formal arrangement with the British government for a postponement of the meeting of the joint high commission. When the commission adjourned here last winter it was under a formal order to reassemble in Quebec on that date. it is now realized, that, owing to the failure of the governments of the United States and Great Britain to settle by direct negotiation the Alaskan boundary question, the commission could not pro eeed with its work, even if it should me Aug. 2, steps must be taken to vacate the order. Senator Fairbanks, presdent of the American commission, ha notified Secretary Hay that he will be in Washington within 10 days to report upon his recnt visit to Alaska.

SIR WILFRED LAURIER.

An Ottawa dispatch says that John R. Robertson, in the house of commons, approved of the policy of the government in sending troops to the Yukon. The Americans had troops there, and he was old they were sending more. Circumstances might arise which would require the co-operation of the forces of the United States and Canada in the preservation of law and order, and therefore the Canadian force should not be

Referring to a press dist ing the Porcupine river region, Premie Laurier made this statement

"There are in the Yukon territory in that part of the country a Porcupine river and a Porcupine creek. Porcupine reek is on Klaheela river, which disharges into the Chilkat river at some distance, perhaps 50 miles from the oundary. There is a force of mounted police stationed on the river some 30 niles from Pyramid harbor at a post which has been established for two years six miles from that post. The government has no intention at the present time of fortifying that post. There are 70 men there. There are some mining camps on Porcupine river, and there are two creeks there, which have been named Bryan and McKinley, and the force there is sufficient to maintain law and order It has been reported that the American ntend sending a force to Pyramid har bor. Without betraying a state secret would say that for my part I would strongly object to the Americans sending any force into the territory which is now in dispute under existing circum stances until a permanent boundary has been settled.'

Green pea salad may be prepared from peas left over or from freshly cooked, says the Boston Cooking School Magazine. In the latter case cook a pint of young, tender peas with one tablespoonful of butter and as little salted water as possible, stirring constantly until the peas are tender and the water has evaporated. Set aside until cold. Thoroughly wash and drain a head of lettuce and arrange the leaves on a serving dish. Chop or cut a cup and a half of roast lamb or boiled chicken very fine and spread over the lettuce. Pour the peas over the meat. Mix to gether six tablespoonfuls of oil, half a teaspoonful of salt and pepper to taste. Add gradually two or three tablespoonfuls of lemon juice or vinegar and pour over the salad. New York, July 12.—Robert E. She had won the ocean race of 138 miles, from Rams Head, Gardiner's Bay, to Sea Gate. The remarkable feature of the race was that the Katrina and the Sachem finished with only one second between them, both having started at the same time at noon on Monday.

Aguinal do Tells His Followers That Victory Will Yet Be Theirs.

Declares That Friends Have "Arisen" In America.

Proof of the "Excess of Affection and Love" Spain Feels For Them.

Manila, July 13.—The speech which Aguinaldo made during the recent celebration at Tarlao of the anniversary of the proclamation of Filipino independence is printed in The Indepencia, a copy of which has reached Manila. In substance the speech is as follows:

"Filipinos-Beloved daughter of the ardent sun of the tropics commended by providence to the care of noble Spain, b not ungrateful to her salute who warmed you with the breath of her own culture and civilization. It is true she sough to crush thy aspiration for independence as a loving mother opposes separation forever from the daughter of her bosom This but proves the excess of affection and love Spain feels for thee. "Filipinos, delicate flower of the east, scarcely eight months weaned from the breast of thy mother, thou hast dare to brave a great and powerful nation organizing and disciplining thy little army; but, we reply, we will be slaves t one, nor allow ourselves to be deceive by soft words. Let us continue to de fend our fatherland till independence i assured, for this is justice. We shall se at last that the great American nation will acknowledge the right which is o our side. That doctrine of the grea Monroe, that America is for Americans is not forgotten. Just as we affirm that the Philippines are for the Filipinos.

"Some states of the American Union have arisen in our favor. Especially i the Democratic party convinced that both victors and vanquished will lose precious lives. Thus many of the peopl and many statesmen censure Preside McKinley as inhuman for having order his military representatives at Manil to seek means to bring about hostilitie

"These facts prove that they wish to try us, to see if we are able to live up to the second color of our banner, red, which signifies courage, heroism and martyr-

"Therefore we should not resent this struggle with the Americans. In spit of their expressed desire to dominate al the Philippines, well convinced are the that we fight with justice and right o our side, and that autonomy is all a show accumulated wealth. We have never concealed our aspirations-that we as pire but to independence, that we wi struggle on to obtain it, perhaps from those who are now our enemies and to morrow will be our allies, as they wer for the overthrow of the power of Spain We might well accept this autonomy America offers, but what can we do wit it if our ambition is independence and is we are to accept it only to later over throw by force of arms the sovereignty

"As I believe it is the intention of the autonomists to make use of treachery and deceit, we cannot accept such a procedure. We do not wish to be traitors character of frankness and sincerity and nothing more. Let us avoid the example of those natives who, having at one tim een colonists, accepted autonomy t enable them to make their work sure once everything was prepared. History has given us an example of this in recent events. Let us persist in our idea, which is only the lagitimate and noble aspira tions of a people which is desirous at all ost to preserve its national honor spotless and as pure as crystal.

"Thus, then, there will not be a single Filipino autonomist. Those who are so are in the eyes of the people but timeervers, fearful of losing their riches hreatened by risks of war. "Filipinos, let us be constant.. Let us

No Estimate of Rebel Forces.

Wheeler passed through Chicago yester day, bound for the Philippines on an un known mission. The only intimation General Wheeler gave as to the purpose of his mission was in reply to an inquiry as to what he thought of the situation in the island acquisitions. He said: "I do not understand, and no one in Washington seems to understand, why it is that idea of the forces to which they are opposed. General Otis makes no estimate and you will have observed that neither General Lawton nor General Mac-Arthur makes mention of those forces in his reports." Asked if he were sent by President McKinley to make an expert eport on the situation, the general replied: "I am merely to report to General Otis." Boston, July 13.—Chicago took the lead in the first inning, and their one run looked promising up to the sixth, when Taylor was touched up for half the hits secured during the game by the home team, and, along with a few misplays, four runs were netted. URGENT APPEAL FOR AID. Nearly 50,000 Flood Sufferers In a State of Helplessness.

Washington, July 13.-The following statement concerning the flood situation in Texas is made public by Representative Hawley of that state:

"The disaster which has overtaken the communities in southern Texas is without parallel in our country. At some points the precipitation was 31/2 feet in 60 hours, resulting in a flood of enormous proportions, covering an area of many square miles to a depth of from five to 20 feet and a loss of from $25,000,000 to

"No less than 20 populous towns have been inundated, as well as thousands of well-established and well-ordered farms, which today are in a complete state of desolation. Practically every work animal, every milk cow, together with all stock cattle and every vestige of vegetation, have been swept away, leaving the country completely devastated. Within the influence of this awful disaster resided over 100,000 people, almost half of whom are in a state of helplessness today, except as they may be provided for by those who are generous and able to assist them.

"The whole state of Texas is alive to the situation and is doing its utmost to relieve the suffering. It is, however, impossible for the state alone, within the time necessary to succor the people, to come to their relief. When the great Johnstown flood occurred Pennsylvania could have easily taken care of their own if given time, but as time was, as it is now, the essential factor, they were obliged to appeal to a generous public in every part of the Union, and from every quarter the relief was immediate on a

New York legislators are going at the Christian Science humbug the right way. They propose to make it a misdemaeanor to influence a person not to have a regular licensed physician, and to make it manslaughter when a person causes death by such influence, or by being responsible for lack of medical attention. When the science of medicine and the methods of healing the sick are so far advanced as they are, it is no time to put up with is a part of his duty to attend the nonsense that was in vogue 4,000 years grand muster meeting every week.

Republican Convention.

Although the Republican State convention will be held at the latest possible date this year, it is less than three months away and the caucuses will be held in two months time. The Republican State Committee at a meeting Thursday selected Music hall, Boston, as the place and Oct. 6, at 10 A. M as the date and time for the State convention.

Col. Melvin O. Adams of Boston was elected as chairman of the convention, and Hon. William H. Haile of Springfield as chairman of the Committee on Resolutions. The other members at large on the committee will be: William Reynolds of Marblehead, Frank L. Dean of Worcester, and Hon.

Tuesday and Wednesday, Sept. 20 and 27, were selected as the dates for the caucuses for the choice of delegates to the state, county, councillor and senatorial conventions. Representative these dates or on Oct. 10 or 11.

It was the endeavor of the convention in the selection of officers and dates, not to favor any candidate. Members who spoke had been surprised to see it stated in the press that the committee favored any particular candidate for lieutenant governor. The committee had been requested by the chairman at the first meeting not to commit the committee to any candilate for nomination, and had avoided doing so. There was a manifest desire at the meeting to be fair with all aspirants for office.

INSIGNIA OF THE ADMIRAL'S RANK.

The several uniforms which are to be worn by Admiral Dewey are prescribed in a circular issued by the navy department the other day, entitled "Regula- skirts. Without the scallops the direcwhich the admiral will wear will not crocheted shells may be added. The other officers except in the manner of devices and insignia, says the New York Sun. On his sleeves he will wear Mr. Bentley was unconscious; he was two stripes of two inch gold lace, with medical aid summoned. It was found quarter of an inch apart. The rear admirals will wear one stripe of two inch gold lace, with another stripe half an inch wide just above it. His epaulets and shoulder knots will be the same size as those of other flag officers, but his shoulder straps will be longer and wider. On the frogs of the admiral's epaulets and on his shoulder straps and knots will be embroidered four silver distant from each other in the middle of the strap or frog of the epaulets, with a gold foul anchor 11-8 inches long under each of the two outer stars. admiral, rear admirals and commodores is to be covered with two inch gold lace, showing a margin of one-eighth inch of blue cloth, and to have worked over the gold lace the same devices as on the shoulder straps. On the collar of his service coat Admiral Dewey will have embroidered four silver stars, with a gold foul anchor under each of the outer stars. On his cocked hat he will have a strip of two inch gold lace. Rear admirals and commodores will wear a strip of gold lace a half inch narrower. His cap, like that of rear admirals and commodores, will be embroidered all around with oak leaves. His belt will be different from that of other flag officers only in having a little more gold on it.

The regulations prescribe the uniorms and devices to be worn by commoderes who are now on the retired list. They also provide uniforms and insignia for chief boatswains, chief gunners, chief carpenters and chief with but after ensigns and above naval cadets.

In view of these facts The Ladies' World makes a timely suggestion of two simple makeshifts that are easy of acquisition, and that, while not "keeping" the ice as well as the regular refrigerators, will still do very good work.

The ordinary homemade refrigerator or ice chest is depicted usually as made of two cases, one within the other, with a packing of sawdust between. It is a tedious job to fit up a "cocler" in this way, while nearly as good results can be secured much more easily. Afrikanders Stirring Up Strife. Cape Town, July 14.- The Cape pariament opens today, and exciting scenes are anticipated, owing to the attitude of Premier Schreiner on the Transvaal question. Many of the opposition mempers favor his impeachment. In the meantime the Afrikander party is working up a pro-Boer agitation and doing ts utmost in this direction. An atempt to hold a Loyalist meeting at Worcester last evening was frustrated by the Afrikanders, who precipitated disgraceful scenes, forcibly dragging the Loyalist speakers from the platform and expelling them from the hall amid jeers and insults. It is reported that several Dutch members of the legislaure participated. The publication of the text of the Transvaal franchise law, now being debated at Pretoria, has acentuated the bitterness between the two elements. The military authorities here are purchasing horses, mules and wagons and preparing to forward sup-

Commissioner General Peck has accepted his resignation and appointed Mr. Potter, resident of the American Trust and Saving bank of Chicago, During his reasurership, Comptroller Dawes has eceived remittances from the school hildren of the United States in the sum of $45,694. The present amount of the fund, with the prospect of a large return from the sale of the coins, makes the enterprise an assured success.

Bostons Were Unable to Reach It Because of Most Powerful Combination In the World to Promote Development of China.

New York, July 14.-The Tribune publishes the following:

Announcement was made yesterday (Thursday) by F. W. Whitridge, of the firm of Cary and Whitridge, who now fills the place left vacant by the death of ex-Senator Calvin S. Brice, as chairman of the executive committee of the American China Development company, of the alliance of that company with the British and Chinese corporations. This makes a combination of the most powerful capitalists in the world. The field of their activity is China. Mr. Whito ridge asserts that Lord Salisbury has already instructed the British ambassador in China to treat the contracts secured by the American company and shared with the English company as if they were British contracts, and urge the Chinese government to fulfill its terms. The American company sent Mr. Parsons to Washington yesterday 1 to make a formal request that the government of the United States take a similar stand. Such a demand upon the United States government is probably unprecedented.

St. Paul, July 14.-The Northern Pacific won over 1,000,000 acres of land in the suit of the government to declare void part of the land grant of that road, which was based on the question whether the terminus of that road was at Duluth or at Ashland. The decision of the United States court of appeals was handed down yesterday, and is in Ashland is the terminus.

The separatist uprising in the southern provinces of Peru is spreading and the government has sent 500 infantry and cavalry into the rebelious district.

It is said that the American Steel and Wire company has purchased the iron mines and mining property of Witherbee Sherman & Co. at Port Henry, N. Y. The price paid is said to have been $1,500,000. Marshall Woods of Providence died at London. In 1855 Dr. Woods was sent as a commissioner to the Paris exposition At the close of the exposition he was decorated with the cross of the French Legion of Honor. In 1856 he was a trustee of Brown university and senior memper of the corporation in 1892. Dr. Woods was also treasurer of Brown university from 1866 to 1882. Puritan hall at Cedarville, Mass., was destroyed by fire, the local department being unable to cope with the flames. The cause of the fire is unknown. Cedarville is the scene of the story "Cape Cod Folks." Eight men, formerly employed in the freight department of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad company, are under arrest, charged with having stolen more than $5000 worth of goods from the company's cars. Two were employed as conductors, the others as brakemen. Major John C. Courtney, a Confederate

At the meeting of the International Longshoremen's association at Buffalo a resolution was offered and referred providing that no local union shall order a strike without first submitting its grievance to the executive council and receiving authority to order a strike. The resolution is designed to prevent a recurrence of such strikes as that of the Buffalo freight handlers, which was unauthorized. The secretary of the navy has received a request from an American citizen who is building a chapel in Mexico for 100 pounds of metal from the battleship Maine with which to cast a bell for the chapel. The request will be granted if found to be expedient. Rev. James A. Chamberlain has accepted the call of the Third Congrega-

Boston, July 15.-The Pittsburgs were pitted against the champions, and 2000 enthusiasts witnessed a not very interesting game of baseball. The score of had been one of unusual brilliancy, whereas, to the contrary, it was entirely devoid of that element calculated to please the spectators.

The game was remarkable in that there were no earned runs, and but four hits in the nine inmings, and of these four Pittsburg was only able to secure one. Fruly Feminine In Style-White the Prevailing Choice.

There must be all kinds of gowns in the summer outfit of a fashionable woman-something for morning, afternoon and evening, and special gowns 2 to 0 woud indicate that the contest for outdoor sports, without which life at the summer watering places would lose half its charm. But the yachting suit is as truly feminine as any dress this season with its long skirt, shaped flounce and festooned bands of satin, edged with fine silk gimp. White seems to be the prevailing choice for this sort of dress, and cloth, serge, flannel, plain linen and duck are the favorite materials.

All kinds of gowns are affected by the fashion for long skirts, without very much regard for the purpose for which they are intended. To be sure, there are degrees of length, but the yachting skirt is long enough more than to touch the floor all around.

The circular flounce in varied widths flaring gores and trimmed with wide stitched bands. Many rows of stitching in colored silk make a pretty finish on the white cloth gowns, which in some instances are made with a blouse waist, finished with a deep sailor collar, a white chemisette and stock of tucked silk, and a sailor tie of white banded across the ends with blue silk.

Cloth and fine flannel with a cloth finish in the light colors and navy blue

SUMMER AND YACHTING DRESSES. One very striking model in dark blue has three scant shapped flounces around the skirt piped on the edges with white. These are fully six inches wide, overlapping each other a little, a white piping finishing the upper flounce. The overdress is spotted all over with small embroidered rings of white linen such as are used in the renaissance lace work. They are also sewed on the blouse bodice, which is completed with white pipings and a white pique vest.

Yachting suits of linen and pique are very much the fashion, and checked to have been sold Wednesday. To add linens in the natural flax color are worn suits of white duck, finished with stitched bands of the same, are extrem ly elegant this season, made with the short scalloped coats so much seen in een bridge and a part of the Torc (procloth and worn with a pretty colored | nounced Turk) mountain. taffeta silk waist all fine hand run tucks and open lines of hemstitching.

Pale blue linen, decorated with bands of white linen set in and strapped across with narrow stitched bands of blue, waists to wear with these gowns show | innumerable fine tucks, says the New York Sun in concluding an illustrated resume of summer dress, from which these items are reproduced.

The Frenchwoman's Slim Effect.

The tight lacing of Frenchwomen that the slim effects for which the Paundergarments as by their cut or by any straining of the corset strings, says the New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Here, for example, is a point to be noted: Whereas, skirts in America have had a habit of coming to the waist line, no French girl would so far misshape herself as to let the skirtband come higher than the second clasp of the corset. An inverted book catches all skirtbands in her toilet and holds them well down in front, though the strings tie at the waist behind. When a short waisted Eton or bolero corset is donned with such a skirt arrangement, parallel which an American girl, with her accumulation of garments at the waist, would have to pinch and get red in the face drawing up her lacings.

Fashion's Echoes.

Even the bicycle skirt has added inches in this season of street sweeping and trailing robes, and wash skirts are made so long that at the sides and in the back they lie on the ground several inches.

Innumerable yards of puckered black velvet ribbon are used in trimming white organdies. Silk percaline is a new lining fabric, inexpensive and light, combining silk with cotton. Fashions were never more becoming to the short girl. In a trailing princess gown she attains a dignity unknown in the day of sensible short skirts. Madras, fine gingham, duck and Same and the same a TO BUY THE LAKES

OF KILLARNEY

How It Happens That the Property Is on the Market.

BY JOHN F. WILLOUGHBY.

The proposal of certain wealthy Irish-Americans, members of New York's Tammany Hall, to buy a section of the Killarney lakes country and throw it open to the people of Ireland as a free park has excited considerable comment and revived popular interest in this picturesque bit of the Emerald Isle.

It is incorrect to state that the lakes of Killarney are on the market. Along the shores of the gemlike chain of lakes are two lordly estates. One of is the feature of many of the yachting these is owned by the Earl of Kenskirts, but others are cut with the long mare, who certainly has no intention of parting with any portion of his ancestral home.

The other estate is owned by Captain Herbert of Muckross, and it is this section of the Killarney country which is said to be at the disposal of the highest bidder. A Scotch fire insurance company holds a big mortgage on the property, and it is supposed that the captain is tired of paying in-

The Lakes of Killarney lie in an oval formed by the Kerry mountains and lands dot the lakes. 'Every island has its legend, its saint buried in some picturesque nook, its ruined castle or abbey. These islands are referred to by an Irish enthusiast in these words:

"They are like large baskets of flowers floating on the clear, silent waters whose peace is only broken now and then by the jumping of a fish or the clucking of some stray teal. You think you have landed in fairyland, outside the pale of ordinary life." The two parks are marvels of beauty, and tourists think a trip to Ireland incomplete unless the parks, with their islands, bays, toy peninsulas, brooks and foaming cascades, have been vis-The park on the west side, owned by

From the upper parts of the ruin there is a good view of the lower and a part of the middle lake.

One of the beautiful spots in the park is a narrow gorge between the upper has passed into a proverb. This is one of the who has the curiosity to investigate spots which all tourists look for when visiting the lakes, not because of the risian is famous are obtained quite as architectural beauty of the little span, much by the manner of wearing the but to see the quiet, restful picture of which it is a part.

A "erosscut" through the grounds of Muckross abbey to the highway leads to the Torc cascade. Here the water tumbles over a broken ledge 60 feet into a rocky basin. A well kept path leads to the ledge whence the water falls, and from there one has a fine view of the lower and middle lakes.

These are only a few of the beautiful and attractive features of the property which Tammany hopes to acquire and present to her uninitiated members in Ireland. The place has been described as "a compendium of Ireland; all the characteristic features of the country are united there; the elegant round towers drawing on the horizon the airy outlines of their conic shafts; the soft moistures of the atmosphere, the tender blue of the sky, the intense green of the meadows, set off by long, black trails of peat, and the white, ocher and red streaks which the grit stone and clay slate draw in the hillside."

The highest mountain in Ireland is in the neighborhood, the summit of Carrantual being only 15 miles from the town of Killarney. "We will buy the property," said a prominent Tammany man, in speaking of the Muckross estate, "and present it to the people of Ireland as a pleasure park. At the present time it is open only two days every week, and tourists must pay 1 shilling to enter Muckross abbey. We want to make it free at all times. Tourists will be attracted to the place, the people of Ireland will derive pecuniary benefit, and the beauties of the country will become better known."

Unswerving Loyalty to the President Is Urged.

Keynote of Speeches by Messrs. Knox and Allen at Massachusetts Club Dinner.

Plymouth, Mass., July 15.-The Massachusetts club held its annual summer outing at Plymouth yesterday. Many prominent people were present.

Both Assistant Secretary of the Navy Allen and Captain Dyer of the Baltimore attended, together with General Draper, minister to Italy; ex-Governor Boutwell and Congressmen Knox, Greene, Weymouth and Roberts.

The after-dinner exercises were a memorable feature of the day. The keynote of the speeches was "stand by the president," and there was much about "duty" and "destiny," especially in the speeches of Secretary Allen and Con- president of the New York State union the west, and to the check to export gressman Knox.

Robert O. Fuller of Cambridge premided. In his opening remarks he re- houn of Illinois spoke on the postoffice ferred to the prosperous condition of the mission, and Rev. F. L. Carrier of Woodsthe effect of the war with Spain.

Touching on the Philippine question and looking at ex-Governor Boutwell, who sat at his left, the speaker said that when the governor was a young man and went shooting partridges he usually hung onto those he secured. He thought that was the way the United States ought | decided to sustain the action of the Verto do with the Philippines. It was the history of nations that when a new possession is taken it is held by the power in his examinations. Another appeal that secures it.

Assistant Secretary Allen was then introduced, and spoke as follows: "Every patriotic citizen rejoices to feel that his country has taken such a prominent part in the affairs of the world as she has in the past 12 months. In the settlement of the Philippine question the people must have confidence in those who have been intrusted with the settlement of such an important matter." He said that there had been too much haste.

"We want loyalty, moderation in discussing these great and momentous questions," Mr. Allen went on. He said that it pained him to read such outbursts of sentiment accredited to the anti-imperalits Mr. Allen declared that the administration's policy in the east was open and above board, that it had no idea of empire, and that at the proper time the settlement of the future of the Philippines would be left to congress for decision, but until then the president intended to direct and control the islands, restoring order and insuring safety of life if it took all the resources of this great government.

Lawyer Blackmur strongly objected to this section, as framed, and while the Metropolitan Commission might do all these things as agreed he wanted it amended so as to make it obligatory upon the commission to do so, and it was therefore through his efforts that the following amendment was added to Section 8:

"Provided, that the said board shall, without expense to the city of Quincy, make all connections and take and construct such intercepting sewers port at Monday night's City Council as may be necessary to enable the city of Quincy to drain by gravity its territory into said metropolitan sewer. The present pumping station and force mains of the city of Quincy shall be taken and paid for by said board of increasing the permanent police force metropolitan sewerage commissioners, and said board shall build and operate such new force main or mains and pumping stations as may be necessary to enable the city of Quincy to drain its sewerage systems into said metropolitan sewer."

Rosa of Tannenburg.

A Story Begun by a Father and Ended by a Daughter.

~$ The castle of Tannenburg was like all castles of its time, strongly fortified and surrounded by high walls and a deep moat. In an upper room, one warm summer day, Rosa and her father sat together. The knight had just come home from the wars, badly wounded, and Rosa, a fair haired girl of 17, sat by him working over her gayly colored tapestry.

"Father," she said, "tell me the story of how you got the chain round your Rosa had heard the story a hundred times before now, but she never tired of hearing it any more than the old knight of telling it.

"When I was a page at court," began the knight, stroking his long, gray beard, "a great tournament was given in honor of a French prince who came to visit the emperor. There I saw your mother for the first time, and so lovely was she that she was elected to be the queen of beauty, and was to give the prize, a golden chain, to the victor. I loved her from the moment I saw her, and her beauty gave me such strength and daring that I came out first in the games, much to the chagrin of the young baron of Odenwald, who opposed me fiercely in the tourney. He was, like myself, a suitor for the hand of the queen of beauty, and when I finally won her for my bride he swore that he would have revenge on me." "But," interrupted Rosa, "his castle is only 15 miles from us, and he has done us no harm yet.'

"Yes," answered her father; "that was many years ago, and he has now a young wife and two children, but he still hates me bitterly, and"-

The sentinel, seeing only a harmless little peasant girl, let her pass over the drawbridge and through the castle gates. CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning July 16-Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle, Topic.-A friend in need.-Luke x, 30-37.

Friendship is a great boon to mankind. The value of true friendship is inestimable. It is a blessed thing to have a friend in whom we can absolutely trust, who knows us altogether, our failings and our weaknesses, as well as our points of strength, and who, in spite of all, is constant and unfailing, cheering us in adversity, comforting us in trouble, strengthening us in weakness, and not failing even to place before us our faults that we may be guarded against them. Such a friendship cannot be too highly prized, and such a friend should be sought by every man and woman. As early in life as possible the soul of every man and woman should be knit to the soul of another in an abiding friendship, as the souls of Jonathan and David. If it were so and humon friendships were never neglected or betrayed, how many clouds would be lifted from the dark and dreary days of

A friend in need is illustrated in the topical reference by the good Samaritan. Though the relation between the Samaritan and the man who fell among thieves was not strictly what we call friendship, yet it does set forth the characteristics of a true friendship.

1. It was friendship in adversity The good Samaritan was a friend in need, and only a friend in need is a friend indeed. To call a relation friendship that exists only when the sun shines and disappears with the coming of the clouds is a misnomer. Such a relation is not friendship. It is but a base imitation. "True friends wait to be summoned in the time of prosperity, but in trouble they come and offer their help."

2. It was a sympathizing friendship. The Samaritan was a sympathizing friend. He was touched to the heart by the needs of the man in trouble. The priest and Levite felt no such sympathy. They were not friends.

3. It was a helpful friendship. The Samaritan was practical in his sympathy. He relieved the man's wants and provided for his future welfare. A friend in need must be a practical

4. It was a continued friendship. The future well being of the man in trouble was provided for, and undoubtedly the demands for such preparation were met, or would have been had the case been real. True friendship must be continued, constant, unchangeable.

Jesus Christ alone fulfills the requirements of an ideal, perfect Friend. He pathizing, helpful, constant, unchangeable Friend. No one should be or need be without the friendship of Christ.

The Value of Sensationalism.

Sensationalism has its better side. The sensationalist may be a charlatan, and then he may be a prophet of God. Elijah was a sensationalist. Interesting Outline of Conditions Up to the Time Consul Rose Left There.

Washington, July 15 .- A brief talk on Samoan affairs occurred between President McKinley and Consul General Rose yesterday, and hopes were expressed on both sides that the causes of recent friction had disappeared. Herr Rose afterward gave a representative of the press an interesting outline of the conditions up to the time he left Samoa.

"Prior to the arrival of the Samoan commission," said he, "an armistice had been arragned with the native forces. Mataafa and his men were back of a line sweeping around the city of Apia and extending from the town of Falenta to Lantii. The Mataafa forces numbered about 2500 men. Tanu and his men occupied the peninsula jutting out from the mainland, near Apia. They numbered about 2000 men. Both forces were fairly well armed, but the Tanu men had in addition to their old arms laundry work we do. She knows more about 700 modern rifles, furnished by the about it than you do. She knows how British ships at the time of the conhard it is to do perfect laundry work, and flict.

"The commissioners first turned their attention to disarming the native forces. As soon as they arrived, Mataafa sent a letter of greeting, and said that he would abide by any decision they might make. The commission then gave a hearing on board the Badger to each of the claimants for the kingship. Mataafa was heard one day and Tanu another. They were addressed, not as kings, but simply sir. As senior member of the body, the American com-missioner, Mr. Tripp, asked some very direct questions of Mataafa and Tanu. He wanted to know if they were ready to give their support to the commission even if it determined to deny the right of one or the other of them to the kingship, or to abolish the kingship entirely Serious as these questions were to the two claimants, they promised to support the commission in whatever action was taken.

"Some days later the Badger went along the coast to Malie, where Mataafa's headquarters were. The native chiefs came alongside and a formal surrender of 1875 guns was made to the commission. Mataafa and his chiefs America's greatest blood specialist. A pleasant treatment that relieves immediately, cures per-manently all forms of CANCERS, TUMORS and CHRONIC DISEASES. Hundreds of came aboard the ship and were entertained at a dinner.

"The Tanu party followed with the surrender of their arms a few days later, for while the decision of the commission had upheld Tanu, it was felt to be in the interest of all concerned that the native kingship should be brought to an end, and that an administration Then come to our offices and investigate the hundreds of other marvellous cures produced by ABSORPTION when all other treatment failed.

Calities where white interests are greatest, abould be brought about. Tanu yielded to this decision, but for a time there was some prospect of trouble, as the royal flags were kept flying over the traum head quarters, despite the fact that he had surrendered the kingship. This was a source of irritation to the Mataafa people, who considered it contrary to the understanding arrived at.

"Since arriving in this country, however, I understand that this source of difficulty has been removed, and that the Tanu flag is withdrawn and his forces dispersed. The Mataafa people have also gone back to the interior. With the natives disarmed, and both factors kept at their homes, there is every reason to believe that no further trouble will arise, and that the compronounced me recovered. Introduction of English Proved Suc cessful-Natives Fear the American Influences to Follow-Insular Treasury Can Pay $325,000 For Education Next Year.

Mr. John Eaton, who resigned his position as director of education in Porto Rico on account of ill health, has returned to Washington. Mr. Eaton talks interestingly concerning educational affairs in Porto Rico. He says great interest is shown in the provision for schools in the island next

The introduction of English has been successful, but there is much uneasiness on the part of many people as they contemplate the result of every child being able to speak English. These people are fearful of the American influences that would be sure to follow a knowledge of the English language, says the Boston Herald. Others who would Americanize the island at once have felt there has been too much delay in preparing the educational provisions for the future, but Mr. Eaton took time to study carefully the proposed changes and to introduce them in a way that would enable the people to see their importance.

Governor General Henry, before his departure from the island, gave assurance that the insular treasury could pay $325,000 for education next year. It was decided that this should be divided equally for the benefit of the whole island and used mainly for the municipalities are expected to furnish buddha of Europe. buildings for the schools and homes for the teachers and meet any further necessary expenses.

New York, Juy 17 .- Neary all the conductors and motormen of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit company struck at 4:30 o'clock yesterday morning. Those who had cars out left them on the tracks. The company endeaveroed to run cars with non-union men on all lines, and there was some disorder. Many arrests were made during the day. The men demand a revision of the time tables a the different barns and also claim that they should be paid 20 cents an hour for overtime, which is equivalent to $2 a day, the price which they set for a working day of 10 hours. Meetings have been held daily and nightly for the last week, and it was inferred from the reports given out since Thursday last that while a strike was imminent it would not occur for 1900. In addition to the 15 percent adsome days to come.

The strike was called at 4:30 Sunday norning. At this hour most of the advance of 50 cents per 100 pounds on the motormen and conductors on the Brooklyn Traction company's lines had completed their night trips, and the leader decided that this was the most opportun moment to begin which was expected to be a stubborn fight with the Traction company. A heavy rainstorm was i evidence at this time and there was very little passenger traffic. The Smith street, Franklin avenue and Hamilton maintained the regular terms with their employes, was not impeded in the least but on all other roads transportation was stopped for a while and a good deal of

The cars re mained idle for several hours, but by 10 o'clock about one-tenth of the regula rolling stock was working. Inspectors linemen, oilers and helpers were pressed into service so as to maintain a partia running of the system. Many of the old conductors and motormen reported for duty on the Gates, Ralph, Broadway, Myrtle avenue, Flushing and Third avenue roads, and President Rossiter said that shortly after noon over 50 percent of the old hands were at work on

Later in the afternoon the cars on the latter's roads were running at intervals of 10 minutes, which meant that the service was crippled about a third. The heavy storm of the early morning was dissipated about 10 o'clock, and from that hour until well in the afternoon the Sunday traffic, which is usually heavy to North and Bergen beach and Coney Island, filled the cars, but the dread of trouble or disturbance kept hundreds of people from these seaside resorts.

Shortly before noon President Rossiter's private car Ampere started from the city hall and made a round trip of the Traction company's lines. The Ampere, after running to the Flushing extension went up Nostrand avenue to Bergen beach and returned down Flatbush avenue, from whence it ran - Coney Island. Coming back from Coney Island the president's car traveled over the Twenty-third street and Fifth avenue those on board found their further progress impeded by a stalled car near the Fifth avenue barn. Here a crowd of some 500 people, many of whom were women and children, had congregated, and the motorman of the Ampere, Howard Jackson, was attacked by several men who were strikers or in sympathy with them. The motorman received severe bruises on the head and legs. He was finally rescued from the mob. Six arrests were made by the police and the track was soon cleared.

Kudeno, who then represented Japan here. The changes it made were so far reaching that it was decided that the new treaty should not go into operation until July 17, 1899. Jutaro Komura, the present Japanes minister in Washington, was seen at the Japanese legation yesterday, and gave an interesting outline of the more important features of this arrangement. He said:

"The 17th of July marks the turning point in the diplomatic history, not only in Japan, but of the Oriental countries in general. It will be the first instance in which the western powers have recognized the full sovereignty of an Oriental state. This action of the enlightened nations of Europe and America shows that if any country is ready to assume a full share in the responsibilities and affairs of the world at large, these old and enlightened powers are ready to admit such a country to full comity among nations. So we regard the advent of this treaty as a very important step, not only for Japan, but for all the nations of the east. "The countries with which Japan has made new treaties are the United States, Great Britain, Germany, France, Russia, Austria, Italy, Spain, Portugal, Belgium, Holland, Denmark, Sweden and Norway, Switzerland and Peru. All these go into effect tomorrow, except those with France and Austria, which are deferred until Aug. 4. With most of these countries Japan had treaty relations before, but they were crude and unsatisfactory. "To understand the change, it is necessary to look at the situation under the old treaties. This was essentially based on two principles. First, that foreign residents in Japan shall enjoy the privileges of extra territoriality, that is, they should be amenable to the laws and jurisdiction of the consul of their own country, and not to Japanese jurishe miners here, composed in the main of diction, and, second, that foreign resiblacks, and belonging to the Knights of dents in Japan shall be confined to cer-Labor, have been on a strike. Captain Andrews was found exhausted on July 12 about 700 miles from the Irish His boat was left adrift. Captain Andrews when he left Atlantic City took an easterly course, and headed direct for the Azore islands. He hoped to make the voyage to Land's End, Eng., in 60 days. None of the striking employes returned to work, and most of them were busy durunion men on the other lines to quit work. In this respect the strikers were partially successful, but they made no inroads on the running of the Putnam avenue cars. This line is practically intact, not more than half a dozen of its employes being affiliated with the strikers.

Of all the lines in the traction system the Flatbush avenue and a newly opened Brighton beach route were the most seriously affected during the day. Speeches were made on both sides, but towards the close of the meeting President Rossiter told the men that they could come back to work at 6 o'clock, but he assured them that the company would not concede any of their demands and expressed himself as believing that the strikers had no grievances to back sell. The steamer was undamaged, but up their action. "There is no strike nor cause for it," said Mr. Rossiter. "You lie, you lie," came from 500 throats in answer to this assertion, and it looked for a time as if serious trouble would ensue. Fortunately wiser heads governed the more active strikers and no damage was done to either of the representatives of the company. Early in the afternoon small sized boulders and stumps of trees were thrown on the Flatbush avenue tracks, but all these obstructions were removed in time to allow the limited number of cars to make their scheduled trips. Considerable difficulty was experienced on Newport, R. I. the Nostrand avenue and cross-town lines, but no serious mishap occurred. All the cars were manned by two or more policemen, and the presence of the offigreat measure, any outbreak on the part

Very few cars were run over the old Nassau lines, and those which were run were in charge of road inspectors, electric light men and track men belonging to the road. These cars were totally inadequate to supply transportation for their patrons, and those who rode over the lines had to put up with frequent and annoying delays. At 7 p. m. President Rossiter issued instructions to shut down on all the Tracrun with the exception of a couple which were placed at the service of the city authorities to transport the policemen to the outlying districts.

It is announced that another addition was made to the ranks of the Brooklyn strikers last night, when the employes of the Flushing Avenue and Grand Street lines decided to quit work.

General Master Workman Parsons was in conference for several hours last night with the executive committee of the employes of the Metropolitan Street Railway company. After the conference, Mr. Parsons practically announced that a strike of the Metropol-Jan employes is now inevitable, unless made over. Henry L. Kincaide & Co.

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER.

Strike at Fall River Is On. Fall River, Mass., July 18 .- The mill firemen's strike is on in earnest. Eighty firemen did not go to work. They ask 17 cents an hour for every hour worked. The Kerr print works, iron works, Seaconnett, Border City, linen and granite mills have agreed to pay the schedule and the men are at work at these mills. The firemen will probably at once make a test case of the license law to ascertain whether the opinion of the attorney general, that firemen do not need licenses, will be upheld. The mills, as a rule, are not incapacitated by the strike, and all are running, although some little inconvenience is felt in several cases.

CHADWICK'S BODY FOUND. With Both Sides Firm. Strong Evidence That He Was Beaten to Death

by Joseph Hough. Chester, Conn., July 19 .- The body of Harry Chadwick, the New Britain young man who was murdered Sunday night by Joseph A. Hough during an altercation, which had for its primary cause the fact that both men were paying attention to the same young lady, was recovered last night from the Connecticut river, where weighted by the victim's bicycle, it had been thrown by the now self-confessed

Monday afternoon and all of yesterday the river had been dragged for the body, and the searchers were about to abandon work for the night when, at 7:30, the body attached to the bicycle was brought to the surface by one of the boats using a large net. It was towed to the shore, where a superficial examina tion was made. The dead man was tied to the bicycle with several pieces of common white twine. Strike In General Being Tranquilly Conducted,

New York, July 19.-The Brooklyr strikers evidently won over a number of Monday night. The Putnam avenue line over which the cars had been running on schedule time for the past few days, was rippled yesterday. Certainly one-third of the cars on this line were off. On the Fulton street line, which had been running on nearly schedule time Monday, the number of cars yesterday was reduced to about one-third. No cars wer running on the Nostrand avenue and the Tompkins avenue lines. The condition of the old Nassau system were about the same as on Monday.

The company resumed traffic shortl after 5 o'clock yesterday morning. Numbers of cars were run over the several lines, but the time schedule was not lived up to on any one of them, and a fair estimate of the rolling stock in operation would be about 60 perent. No cars were run over the Flatbush avenue line to Brighton Beach, and forced to take the steam cars, or trolley cars which are not under the strikrs' ban. Great difficulty was exing cars over the Nassau system, and a iberal estimate of the cars run over that avenue lines were frequently blockaded, and the company did not handle more than 15 percent of the daily traffic. The Douglass and Bergen street cars were run at intervals of 15 and 20 minutes, but each car was manned by at least

During the day the police made several arrests of persons who interfered with the progress of the cars on the occurred until after 6 o'clock. A small sized riot occurred at Sixth street and Fifth avenue a few minutes after 6 o'clock, in which two men were pain fully, but not seriously, hurt.

ORCHARD AND GARDEN.

Plowing under a crop of clover is a good way of manuring the orchard. A dead limb is a source of disease. It shows also a lack of vitality in the tree. In pruning make all cuts slanting and smooth, so that they will not hold water. A tree with an open head is not so likely to be attacked by mildew as one that

Arrange in good season to save all the fruit either by marketing, canning or evaporating. An orchard cannot be kept constantly under the plow. It is better to seed to clover than any kind of grass. Pruning when the sap is active and the tree growing rapidly promotes forming of fruit buds. Pruning when dormant promotes growth of wood. In nearly all cases it is best to thin the fruit on all thickly loaded pear trees. The pears left will then grow to large size and will be worth more than if all were left on the tree.

In fruitful years vigorous fruit trees are inclined to overbear, and, when so loaded, much of the fruit will be small and inferior in quality and size, besides

London, July 19.-It is the opinion of those who closely watched the race bethat Mr. Fife, the designer of the yacht, ed, seemingly. who practically engineered the contest on behalf of Mr. Lipton, merely desire to ascertain whether the Shamrock could show the Britannia a clear pair of heels. He had no desire, however to let everyone into the secret of the actual merits or best speed of the chal-

Confirmation of the foregoing opinion is found in the fact that, while the Brit annia carried every possible inch o canvas, the Shamrock was running be fore the wind from Nab lightship to the Long, s. s. Sir Thomas Lipton, in the course of an interview, expressed himself as highly delighted with the Shamrock's fine style. "Certainly she was not forced. We kept something in reserve," he said.

The Times this morning, commenting on the Shamrock-Britannia race, says: It was just the sort of day to show the Britannia at her best. The Shamrock, with her big topsail, when she came broadside to the wind, had some water on her deck, but she looked able to carry this canvas through the race. Her skipper, however, had no intention of pressing her so hard. The Times confirms the statement that it was the purpose of the trial more to test the challenger than to sail a formal match. The paper publishes a description of the race, but makes no criticism upon the performances of the competitors.

The Daily News, in its comments on the Shamrock-Britannia race, describes the new yacht as standing a fair chance of winning the cup, since she "beat the Britannia on every point of sailing, and the Britannia has hitherto been admitted to be the smartest cutter in Brit-

Alger the Sixth Cabinet Officer to Retire During McKinley's Administration.

Washington, July 20.-Russell A. Alger, secretary of war, has tendered his resignation, to take effect at the pleasure of the president. It will become effective Aug. 1. In some quarters it is claimed that Secretary Alger's resignation at this time is the result of the demand from all sections of the country because of his conduct of the Spanish war and his keeping General Otis in command in the Philippines, against the gan senatorial contest as conditions at tion. advice of the generals in the army.

SECRETARY ALGER.

Formal acceptance of the resignation has not been made by the president, but will be in a letter to be written within the next day or two. There have been many explanations and denials of the facts in that case, but in the end the impression was onveyed that the result of the Michigan visit of the secretary had been to change the relations between the preident and himself to such a degree as to render the connection of the two as part of the same official family undesirable. It was largely, as least, as a result of a conference with Vice President Hobart, at Normanhurst, N. J., that Secretary Alger decided to leave the cabinet at this time. At this conference there were present besides Secretary Alger, his military aid and close friend and adviser, Major Hopkins, and perhaps some other person or persons in- and public morals over political organi-

NEW YORK IS INVOLVED.

Metropolitan System Partially Crippled by a Sympathetic Strike.

Mob Backs Up Strikers In Many a Fierce Struggle.

Several Policemen and Citizens Receive More or Less Severe Injuries.

New York, July 20 .- Without authority from the labor organizations of which they are a part, motormen on some of the lines of the Metropolitan Street Railway company precipitated yesterday a strike in Manhattan. The strikers gained many recruits during the day, and the lines of the company are considerably embarrassed. No attempt was made to tie up the Broadway cable line and its various branches. President Vreeland of the Metropolitan Street Railway company declares there is no strike, and defies anybody to tie up the company's lines. Practically all the police in Manhattan are now on duty in connection with the strike Large details of bluecoats were sent to the car barns scattered along the streets likely to be the scenes of disorders in onnection with a tie-up.

The center of operation in Manhattan vas on Second avenue. The excitenent in Brooklyn centered in the vicinity of Thirty-sixth street and Fifth aveue, where early in the morning dynamite was used in an attempt to blow down the elevated structure.

The rioting that took place in Mannattan yesterday afternoon and last night was of a serious nature, infinitely ercer than any that has taken place ye n the boroagh across the river. Scores of people were severely injured in the cond avenue district. Last night that great thoroughfare was crowded with a eering, howling mob, almost from the Bowery to Harlem. The great teneents gave forth their workingmen resients, who backed up the strikers in nany a fierce struggle with the police and with the men were many women and still greater numbers of children. They toned every car that passed over the racks; they hurled stones and chunks of ron and vegetables of a variety of nature from the roofs of the houses and the win lows; they barricaded the streets with paving stones, tore up the street irons choked up the slot with wire and spikes and blocked the thoroughfare. They ad many a hand-to-hand conflict with the 600 patro!men that had been placed along the line. Of the injured, the exact number cannot be known. Several poicemen were removed to hospitals with broken bones and torn scalps. At least one striker or strike sympathizer had his skull fractured. A boy also had his skull fractured. Innumerable passengers on the cars received bad wounds, and it was impossible for passengers on Second avenue to go much above Fourteenth street. It was the hope of the strikers to make a deep impression by their success in Second avenue, and so far as rioting was oncerned they and their sympathizers made it.

On the other lines throughout Manhattan the strike was not at any time prominent during the day. Last night, however the motormen on the Eighth avenue line to the number of 100 or more with sufficient success to have cars runn ng on only an hourly schedule before avenue also will be tied up. The of-ficials of the Sixth avenue made the statement that the cars on this avenue vere moving about the same as ever. Madison avenue, Lexington avenue and Fourth avenue were but little afected, but more is promised. In Brooklyn the strikers made some gains so far as the diminishing of trolley ar traffic was concerned. Fewer cars ere running on the lines.

But the dynamite outrage in the early norning hours was undoubtedly a severe setback to the strikers. The police n connection with the blowing down o the elevated columns, moved rapidly and made more than a score of arrests, 16 of he men being held by the courts. The strikers deny any knowledge of the dynamiting, and General Master Worknan Parsons has offered a reward of $500 if it can be proved that a striker is responsible for it. President Rossiter of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit company lost to Neel, as challenger, in three has offered a reward of $1000 for the conviction of the perpetrator.

Several thousand policemen are guardthe companies involved in the strike. The he companies involed in the strike. The police arrangements to take care of rioters have been excellent so far, but the surging mobs on Second avenue last night were too much for them. More than 100 arrests were made and probably as great a number of persons were cks, but even Chief Devery believes, ogether with his inspectors, that more forcible measures than that will have to be adopted. New York has not seen such rioting in many a day.

At 10:20 last night all operations on the Second avenue line were suspended. None of the officials of the company the cars, but the strikers claimed that the company did not have men enough to put about the power house.

At 10 o'clock half of the cars were taken We have made Lens fitting a study, off the Eighth avenue line without warning, and at 11 o'clock all the cars save eight were taken off, and these were run We have the latest instruments science on an hourly schedule. No arrests were they will have all the men out on Eighth avenue. The cars on the Sixth avenue lines ran all evening on schedule time each car escorted by two policemen. The cars on both the Madison avenue and Lexington avenue lines were run with but very little interruption. The officials declared that all of the men were at work, and that there was no possibility of a

Bryan Says Filipino Republic Should Live.

Adheres to Silver Doctrine at Ratio of 16 to 1.

Calls Upon the Government to Stamp Out Trusts.

Meeting of Democratic National Committee Was Without Friction.

Altgeld and Harrison Factions Had a Hot and Fierce Argument Over Bryan.

Chicago, July 21 .- Four thousand persons crowded into the Auditorium last night, despite the sweltering heat, to attend the political meeting given under the auspices of the Chicago platform Democrats. It was, from first to last, a silver meeting, an Altgeld meeting, an anti-trust and anti-expansion meeting. All of the speakers, save ex-Governo Stone of Missouri, who was ill, and talked for less than two minutes, de clared in favor of 16 to 1, and against the war in the Philippines.

The speech of Mr. Bryan evoked great enthusiasm, especially when he declared that the American government should pursue in Luzon the same policy as was pursued in Cuba. The Philippines, he said, came into our hands by an accident of war, and, being there they should have been treated on American principles, and not on those pracpolicy of the United States, he claimed, should have been to create a republic in the Philippines, and say to all the Philippines, and punctuated his peech with cheers. Mr. Altgeld did not occupy a seat upon the platform, but throughout the meeting remained in the rear part of an upper box, and only made his appearance at the front of the box when the demands from the audience to hear from him became to loud for Chairman C. S.

Darrow to subdue. About one-half of the members of the national committee occupied seats on the platform, the balance of them failing to put in an appearance.

Chairman Darrow, when the meeting had been called to order, made a short address, defining the objects of the meeting, and urging his hearers to stand firmly by the principles enunciated in the Chicago platform of 1896. He inthe Chicago platform of 1896. He introduced as the first speaker John' P. Tarvin of Kentucky. The other speakers were James F. Brown of New York, Senator Tillman of South Carolina, Alexander Troup, the national committee man from Connecticut, and George Fred Williams of Massachusetts. They all advocated adherence to the Chicago platform, and denounced the policy of the administration in the Philipide of the committee nothing else was done during the day.

That was the end of the silver episode. The gliver episode. The fight against P. F. At the conclusion of the address of Mr. Williams, there were loud calls for Altgeld, so long continued that the exgovernor, who was sitting in the rear of a box, was compelled to come to the front and make a short address.

Mr. Bryan said in part: "In speaking in Chicago, I am embarrassed by the fact that the advocates of the Chicago platform are divided into two camps. It is not my business to establish a secret service in order to ascertain what Democrats are most devoted to the principles set forth in the last party creed. All Chicago platform Demo crats look alike to me, and instead of trying to drive any professed believer in that platform out of the party, my aim is to impress upon all Democrats $1.50 to $2.00. These resolutions demanded that planks be inserted in the next Democratic national platform opposing trusts, opposing "imperialism" and adhering to the silver ratio of 16 to 1. "And along these lines we offer you our aid," said Mr. Tarvin. There was a defiant accent upon the word "these" that seemed to imply that the support of the bimetallists could be secured along no other lines than those marked out, but of this the committee took no notice. The Bimetallic league was thanked for its proffer of assistance and assured that it would be called up at such time as the national committee felt in need of its assistance. The contrasts Mr. Faxon offers between Quincy and some of the license cities are also worthy of note, although local conditions may operate to make the support of the poor more costly in some of these places than it is in Quincy. There is no denying that Quincy has prospered under no license, but it does not folow that it might not have similarly prospered under license.

They say that in 50 years' service at sea, 30 of which was as a mas- day, in a thunderstorm, her smoke ter, a man who has a record of never having committed a mistake that had pursued her way without perceptible unhappy consequences should not be judged by one error, attributable not to blameworthy conduct but to one of those strange psychological lapses as well as the infinite care which, which every man has experienced in after all, explains the apparent im-

That, however, was not the opinion lines from accident, may be illustrated of Captain Petrie, one of the official by an anecdote told by one of the vetboard of inspectors who signed the re- eran captains now commanding a port by which Captain Watkins' mas- favorite ocean steamship. The less the feeling does exist among those who direct ocean steamship corporations that success is the criterion for mastership, and one lapse, no matter officers was able to detect any fault how caused, is sufficient to destroy a master's character. The president of the Johnson-Layard line a few days ago spoke of an experience which his corporation met with only a few years ago. A certain captain had committed an error of judgment as mysteriously inspired as was the impulse which caused Watkins to err. Fortunately, he did not lose his ship, but it was in great peril for a little while. The English board of inspectors did not do more than censure, but the reproach was very mild. President Johnston discharged him, saying that the owners of an ocean steamship line could not afford to keep in command of a ship a man who had It doesn't paw the sod up all around the hitchin made a single error of judgment.

expostulated with Mr. Johnston, saying that he was demanding more than human nature was capable of giving. So many urgent requests were made in behalf of this man's restoration that Mr. Johnston, against his own judgment, wavered, and at last, as he could not find just the captain whom It speeds along the highway and never looks he wanted to take charge of the ship, For things that it may scare at and spill you or agreed to restore the discharged captain and give him one more chance. He made that decision only two or three hours before the ship sailed, and the captain, overflowing with gratitude, his eyes filled with tears, took Mr. Johnston's hand as he left the offices for the ship and said, "You will never have occasion to regret having forgiven and restored me."

That very night, through another error of judgment, this captain ran the ship ashore in St. George's channel, and she was a total loss. It was doubtless the feeling of Captain Petrie and his associate inspector that a sea captain who, after 50 years is so suddenly afflicted with mental numbness that he is able to make a grievous mistake, cannot be trusted hereafter, although there may have been no moral reproach contained in the sentence of dismissal or suspension.

ARE LOSING STRENGTH.

Striking Railway Men, However, Are Keeping Up a Bold Front.

Many Turn In Company's Property and Quit.

Handicapped by Elevated Locomotive Engineers' Refusal to Stop Work.

New York, July 21 .- Yesterday opened in quiet fashion so far as the railroad strike in Manhattan borough was concerned. Almost without exception the cars started from the barns on schedule time, and at 6 o'clock there seemed to be no troub'e. When the first cars started two policemen were on each car, and the early trips were without incident.

The police arrangements seemed to be perfect. In all the big car sheds over the city, as well as those on Second avenue, large numbers of policemen had slept, in order to be prepared for any outbreak. There were men in the sheds at Twentythird street and North river, of the Broadway line at Broadway and Fiftieth street, and at the Sixth avenue and the Ninth avenue; but the cars started out in good time and went on their way unmolested.

A marvellous change has come over the night there was rioting from one end of miting in Brooklyn. There was prominspfring effect upon the Brooklyn strikers. A general tieup has not come by little or no rioting on Second avenue yesterday or last night. The cars on that line ran throughout the day almost as they had run previous to the strike. The Eighth avenue line, which the strike officials promised would be dead yesterday, was moving right on time with only a hitch now and then.

There is no strike on the Madison in my new novel the pangs of uncer- avenue line, a scheduled meeting of the carmen on that line having fizzled out last night. Practically no trolley line in New York city is affected save the Second avenue. So many heads were broken on that thoroughfare Wednesday night and so many arrests were made, which the police officials declare will be dealt with severely, that the strike sympathizers failed to materialize last night. Only now and then was any attempt made to hold up a car, and the police disting and a mackintosh. The doctor has persed the few with much energy and

In Brooklyn the Rapid Transit company put on several hundred new men or have them ready for duty, and in a set of tools, and so on for a special general way the cars on the affected lines in that borough ran on good time with what seemed to be a fair increase in passenger traffic.

At the strikers' headquarters a large number of the men were paid strike wages at the rate paid by the Brooklyn Rapid Transit company for 10 hours' work.

President Rossiter stated positively yesterday that none of the striking employes would be taken back except those who would report for work by night. "Antis" Hurting the Country.

Malden, Mass., July 21.-Commander Walker of the United States steamer Concord, who was captain of that warship during the naval battle at Manila, arrived here yesterday and will spend a few days in this city. Commander Walker was the last of Dewey's officers to leave the fleet. Regarding the Philippine question, Captain Walker sai "We have got to see it through to the bitter end now that we have started it. Every patriotic American citizen should fight on Wednesday, at Bobong, be until those people are thoroughly conquered." The captain referred to the 450 Babaylones, who surprised the anti-expansionists by saying that they were hurting their country a great deal among other nations, and that foreign countries were likely to get the idea that they represented the sentiment of the

We now think differently and are building 40 men-of-war. General Otis Makes Reply to the "Round Robin."

Says the Charges Made Against Him by Newspaper Men Are Untrue.

Washington, July 22.-The story from Manila, via Hong Kong, relating to the car employes and longshoremen, partly inadequacy of the hospital accommodations at Manila and the complaint on summer influences, but also, no doubt this subject as submitted by Chief Surgeon Woodhull, created some resentment among certain army officials, while others were ready to admit that the movement of grain to market is of impoint is exceedingly well taken.

statement quoting certain dispatches from General Otis, in answer to the degree favorable. press correspondents' round robin. The text of the statement is as follows: General Otis, in a dispatch under date of July 20, says that the press correspondents demanded permission to cable that efficial reports misrepresented conditions. This was denied.

They then demanded to send, without reservation, facts found by them and their opinion. This was granted, if public interests were not imperilled. The answer was not satisfactory, and General Otis says he is not conscious of sending misrepresenting reports, but thinks that his dispatches at times have been too conservative. The press affair appeared to be a threat. When the correspondents were asked to be informed wherein General Otis' dispatches were miseading they offered nothing tangible, except that his conclusions were unwarranted.

When told that they were disregarding military authority, it was apparent that they courted martyrdom, which it was unwise to give them.

In a later dispatch General Otis says that the charges made by the press correspondents are untrue. He adds that the most harmonious relations exist between the army and the navy.

Captain Barker of the navy, who succeeded Admiral Dewey in command of the fleet, in sending the report of the commander of the Yorktown to the navy department, makes, this indorsement "I am pleased to note the cordial cooperation of army and navy."

As bearing upon the statement that the operations of the navy have been minimized, it may be stated that General Otis has repeatedly recognized the work of the navy, as, for example, in his dispatch of June 15 last, in which he

"The navy added greatly on shore of bay, landing forces occasionally," and again under date of July 3: "The army and navy are in hearty accord, and the best of feeling prevails."

Nine Men Killed on Torpedo Boat.

London, July 22.-An explosion on board the torpedo boat destroyer Bullfinch, on the Solent, during her trial yesterday, killed nine and injured four of those on board. It was the worst naval accident of this nature that has occurred in the British navy in 20 years. The victims were terribly injured, steam and boiling water filling the engine room. The Bullfinch is one of the latest designed 30-knot torpedo boat destroyers.

General Business Situation Shows Signs of Even Greater Expansion.

New York, July 22.-Bradstreet's says: The general trade situation has apparently lost nothing in strength. The aggregate midsummer business is of an unprecedented volume and signs of expansion in the demand for fall and winter goods increase. Prices, except for the cereals, cofee, raw sugar and some dairy products, are either firmly held or tend upward. Notable among those advanced are pork products, petroleum, copper, tin, tin plates and raw wool, while the list of products unchanged includes refined sugar, hides, leather, lead and cotton.

Choice of Root Seems Probable,

Washington, July 22 .- The name of the successor to General Alger as secretary of war may be announced today. The president has made his selection, and it is understood that Elihu Root of New York is his choice. The question of the appointment of a successor to Secretary Alger was the subject of a conference last night between the president and Senator Platt of New York. The conference lasted about an hour, and afterwards Mr. Platt said that the president had decided upon the person to whom he would tender the position. The senator was non-communicative as to whom the appointee probably would Senator Platt said: "We did not disagree as to the man for the position."

Albany, July 22.-Robert E. Waldstein was arrested here last night on the charge of forging the name of his father, A. R. Waldstein of Boston, to checks for thousands of dollars. This experiment indicated that during a comparative calm the wind velocity at an altitude is slightly Result of Investigation of Charges Preferred by Late Ex-Deputy Treasurer.

Concord, N. H., July 22.-At a meeting of the governor and council last night a report was made public of the committee appointed by the house of representatives at its last session to investigate and inquire into the condition of the state treasurer's accounts. The charges for the committee to investigate were made by the late Hiram F. Gerrish, ex-deputy state treasurer, and were in brief: "That on June 1, 1891, there was a shortage of $4000 in the funds of the treasurer, afterwards increased to $6500 and to $9500; that at the time of the annual audits, from 1891 to 1895, certificates of deposit were put in to square accounts, which certificates disappeared immediately after the audit; that $2500 of shortage was represented by an envelope with nothing inside it, which money so represented was loaned to a relative of the treasurer."

The committee find upon investigation "That each and every one of the charges made as above is wholly untrue. With the exception of the amount taken by the burglary of June 3, 1895, the state of New Hampshire has not lost $1 during the incumbency of Solon A. Carter as treasurer, and that there has not been a day during that time when the funds of the state have not been intact or

As to the charge that the funds of the state have been used in the purchase of state bonds before maturity, and not for purpose of cancellation, the committee find that this has been done in a few instances, but not during the past four years. As to the receipts of interest by the treasurer on deposits, the committee found that he had received interest on deposits in the Boston de- mentally. pository, and that the same had been properly credited to the state. New Hampshire banks are not accustomed to allow interests on deposits, and the treasurer has received none from them.

St. Sulvestre. He Made Up His Mind Too Late.

• • • • • • • • •

On the night of the 31st of December my friend Jacobus, after having dined in silence at the table d'hote of the Golden Rose, retraced with quick steps Grangettes street, where his bachelor lodgings were.

The street was solitary and badly lighted by a faroff gas jet. The north wind, blowing directly between the two rows of black facades, cut Jacobus' visage and, notwithstanding the closely buttoned overcoat, made our friend feel that the blood of 40 years did not possess the warmth of prime youth.

Therefore did he agitate with an impatient hand the hammer which decorated the landlady's door.

It was the daughter of the house, Mlle. Franceline Bigeard, who opened to him, holding in one hand the folds of her apron, filled with chestnuts, and in the other the lamp which lighted up her face and her sparkling blue eyes.

Those blue eyes, the frizzly brown hair and the bright smile of Mlle. Franceline still gave an attractive piquancy to her face, although she was commencing to fade, having attained her twenty-eighth year on St. Catherine's day.

"I beg your pardon for having made you wait," said she to the shivering lodger, "but I was in the act of splitting chestnuts. We have kept two of my friends to supper, and tonight we will end the year by roasting the chestnuts and washing them down with a glass of Fignolette. At your service, M. Jacobus.

"Thanks," answers he, appearing in a hurry. "Thanks, mademoiselle."

If he refused, it was not that Franceline's company was displeasing to him, on the contrary. But he kept himself in reserve, fearing to place himself under obligation to this girl who wanted much familiarity should make him slip, little by little, on dangerous ground.

He was not insensible to the blue eyes and to the smile of the young lady, but he was afraid of marriage. He resembled those children who are about to take a cold bath, who dip one foot in the water, then take it out again and cannot decide to take a final

"Well, decidedly I'm forgotten!" sadly thought Jacobus as he put the key in the keyhole. "The entire world has forgotten the way to my house."

little, in a fit of bad temper. This night everything had gone wrong. The logs on the fire smoked instead of flaming; his lamp flickered without giving light: a drafty wind passed under the door and froze him to the marrow.

"A thinker-Joubert, I believe," murmured he as he lighted his pipe-"has said that 'the evening of life brings its lamp with it.' Mine lights very badly, and my crepuscle is deucedly gloomy.

"Fear especially, a cowardly fear which keeps one from acting, which turns one from generous resolutions, from all fructuous daring. I remember in the time of my youth, at a moment when I was about to climb an abrupt cliff of the Pyrenees, I met a man ripe in years and already bent down, and as I interrogated him as to the road to follow he cried out to me:

"'Do not climb up there. The road is a veritable foundry. You will get out of breath all to no avail!"

"I shrugged my shoulders and kept on my way, laughing at the pusillanimity of that middle age, and this is what I have come to! The least pebble disturbs me, the most childish difficulty takes the proportions of an impossibility. I know no more how to dare or to will, and I retire to my bachelor cell regretting the chances that I let slip at the time my twentieth year flourished in all its freshness."

At that moment the eclat of young voices came from below, and in this gay noise Jacobus could distinguish Franceline's clear laugh.

"They are amusing themselves down stairs!" thought he again, with a sigh. "They are drinking to the year that is passing and to the one that will be

They are not yet at the age when the weeks and the months seem to go by with the rapidity of a swallow on the wing. They will come to it nevertheless, and to Franceline as well as to the others! She is going on to her twenty-eighth year and has not yet found a husband. Poor girl! CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning July 23-Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle. TOPIC.-Honoring the Lord's day,-Ex. xx,

One of the most vital questions of Christianity today is that of "honoring the Lord's day." It is being dishonored more and more. The enemies of Christianity disregard and denounce it, and, what is worse, the professed friends of Christ are neglecting to keep it holy and sacred to God, and many even claim that it was only a commandment to the Jews and abrogated by Christ with the symbols and ceremonies of Judaism. Such a claim is preposterous. Man's body, mind and soul need the Sabbath day as much as ever they did. The Sabbath was an eternal institution and no distinctive part of Judaism alone, being instituted centuries before Abraham or Moses was born. That Christ did not do away with the Sabbath is proved by the fact that He kept it Himself. At Nazareth on the Sabbath day He went to the synagogue, "as His custom was." That man would be prone to forget this day God realized, for He began the commandment, "Remember the Sabbath day." We are commanded to remember what we are likely to for-

That we should honor the Sabbath day scarcely needs proof. (1) We should do so in imitation of God. God rested on the Sabbath day and hallowed it. We should therefore, in imitation of God, rest on and hallow the Sabbath day. (2) We should honor the Sabbath because God commands us to do so. He Himself has commanded us to "Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy." To refuse to do so is to break a solemn command of God. (3) We should honor the Sabbath, as God requires, for our own sakes. We need the rest and the opportunity for worship of God and communion with God. (4) We lose nothing by giving this day to God. Six days of manna in the wilderness, provided for seven days' necessity. In the providence of God six days' labor will provide for seven days' existence, and thus He has made it possible to keep this day without loss or injury to our temporal well being in any way.

God Himself has told us how to honor this day. It is to be hallowed, to be kept holy and sanctified. We are to rest from physical labors, but rest is not the end, but only the means to the end. Rest is necessary that the day may be sanctified. Thousands of laborers are incapacitated from making this a hallowed day because they are not allowed to rest from their labors. John was in the Spirit on the Lord's day. Rev. i, 10. Let us be in the Spirit on that day, and we will keep it holy and sacred, and will, like John, receive visions of God and of heaven.

Sometimes we take them without trying to grasp their meaning, and are content with a superficial understanding. Sometimes we forget that He was not a teacher of dogmatic truth, and came less to erect a system of theology than to illustrate and recommend a certain type of character and life. - Congregationalist.

Mistaken Sincerity.

Sincerity is an admirable thing in its proper place. But sincere persons often mistake when they think that because a truth is obnoxious it ought therefore to be spoken. We saw yesterday a man with the nose of Cyrano de Bergerac. A truthful and very obnoxious statement might have been made to him concerning it, but it would have been neither courteous nor timely. Timely truths may be unpopular, but it does not follow that unpopularity is a sign of timeliness.—Christian Register.

When We Love Christ.

More I can neither wish, nor pray, nor desire for you than Christ, singled and chosen out from all things, even though wearing a crown of thorns. I am sure the saints are at best but strangers to the might and worth of the incomparable excellence of Christ. We know not half of what we love when we love Christ.—American Friend.

A national park or forestry reserve association for the government preservation of over 7,000,000 acres of land in northern Minnesota will be formed in Chicago some time in July. The organization starts with the cordial indorsement of Governor Theodore Roosevelt of New York, President Hill of the Great Northern railway, Colonel John S. The national organization which is to urge prompt action on the part of congress is now being prepared by a series of invitations sent to prominent men of the northwest and other sections of the country to meet in Chicago at the Athletic club at a date in July not yet decided upon for the purpose of laying the foundation of the association and electing officers. It goes without saying that some eminent citizen of Minnesota will be the first president, says the Chicago Times-Herald.

Following the formation of the association a plan of campaign will be mapped out by which congressmen and government officials may be convinced that such a forestry or national park reserve is a necessity and should be secured before the pillage of timber plunderers and the waste of timber fires have ruined the land. When this campaign has commenced and is fairly under way, the Great Northern Railway company will issue invitations to the congressmen of Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Illinois and other parts of the country, to various governors, to President McKinley, the secretary of the interior and the secretary of war, to ex-President Cleveland, D. seats free, no collection.

At the Castle Square theatre, the coming week, the attraction will be the charming drama by Augustus Thomas "In Mizzoura," which proved so popular with the patrons of this play house at the time of its performances in January of last year. The author's skill in character sketching is most admirably shown in this play and the story of the play brings vividly to an audience scenes which are of peculiar interest to residents of this section of the country. The cast will vary in some instances from that of its earlier performances at this theatre, the characters being assigned as follows: Jim Radburn, William Courtleigh; Col. Tom Bollinger, J. L. Seeley; Sam Fowler, Charles Mackay; Dave. Tony Cummings: Esrom, Lindsay Morison; Kelly, N. H. Fowler; Cal, John J. Geary; Kate Vernon, Lillian Lawrence; Mrs. Joe Vernon, Fanny Addison Pitt; 'Lizabeth Vernon, Mary Sanders; Em'ly Radburn, Marian A. Chapman. For the week beginning Monday, July 31, the Castle Square theatre attraction will be the standard comedy "She grades on the western end unless Con-Stoops to Conquer," never before played by

"On the night of July 9, 1898, the president asked me what, in my judgment, we should do with the Spanish prisoners of Santiago after their capture. The matter had received very much thought from the president and myself, but no definite conclusion had been reached. Galveston would be the best place in where we could send them; that it was their splendid performances. away from the coast line travel, a goo harbor; that there would be plenty of coom for camping them, and that its climate would be as nearly similar to that of Santiago as we could probably select. This seemed to meet his approval, as it was only a question of time, of course, when their capture would be effected. I went to my home, as nearly as I can remember, about 2 o'clock in the morning, and being too tired to sleep, I lay awake for a while, but finally dozed off. I awoke at daybreak, and my first thought was concerning the Spanish prisoners, and new idea came into my head: 'Wy

Cars were running on at least a dozen different lines of the big consolidated system. They carried, however, only a few passengers. 'Bus lines were in operation over many of the Big Consolidated lines, and these were well patronized.

The city authorities were in conference at the city hall, and as a result a call 12 cts. per pound was sent out for additional troops. All available military force in Cleveland, numbering 800 men, was under arms The mayor hopes with the increased 20 cls. per pound governor will be asked for more.

> with one exception, they were without serious results. In the death of Henry Cornzwich, slain by the bullet fired by Ralph P. Hawley, a conductor on the Broadway line, is recorded the first fatality of the strike.

Some time after his arrest, a charge of murder was entered against Hawley. When the car returned, in charge of another man and laden with police, thousands of people were crowded round the fatal spot. The track was block-aded and the stalled cars bombarded with stones, pieces of brick and sticks of wood. The police managed, by using their clubs, to clear the way, after a delay of about half an hour.

The police believe they have a clew to the man who placed the nitro-gly-cerine, which Sunday night blew up an Euclid avenue car and injured four an Euclid avenue car and injured four a cell. Rioting broke out afresh last night. A Pearl street car, speeding along near Holmden avenue, carrying besides the motorman and conductor, a guard, ran a gauntlet of missils, thrown from roofs of houses, only to run into a can of nitroglycerine, which exploded with terrific force. The rear platform was torn off and the flooring wrecked. The crew were not injured, but began firing pistols at what they thought was a couple of men crouching beside a billboard. The explosion was the signal for renewing the attack from house tops and alleys. Troop A, hurrying on horseback to the scene, was bombarded with giant fire-crackers. On of these exploded with such force that the mount of one of the troopers was knocked over, in his fall carrying with him two other horses and their riders. Several arrests were made. Pistol shots were frequently heard, and one man was slightly wounded. Reports of blockades and shooting floated about town.

The Philpots Rode Into Manchester Prepared For a Bloody Battle.

Griffins and Allies Weakened at the Last Moment.

Now Believed That the Trial of the Philpots Will Never Come Off.

London, Ky., July 25 .- Down from the fastnesses where the law of vengeance is supreme over the law of the land, and where the spilling of blood can be avenged only by bloody retaliation in kind, came the Philpots and their allies in the feud which had spread the threat of civil war over Clay county. Their clothing was ragged and their hair unkempt, but their rifles were of the most modern patterns, and their knives were whetted to the keenness of razors.

The Philpots, over 100 strong, yester day moved into the town of Manchester, where James and Wiley Baker were to be tried for assassination of Wilson Howard and Burch Storer, and Dee Baker for complicity in the murder of ex-Sheriff W. L. White. They came to stay, but the hated Griffins and other prosecuting witnesses had weakened at the crucial moment and fled.

Reports of the prowess and determination of the Philpots, who had sworn many mighty oaths that the trial should not take place, had preceded them and had lost nothing in the telling. Lawabiding citizens had fled from the town among the mountains, which seemed destined to be the scene of an encounter with forebodings of which all Kentucky had rung for days and which had thrown terror. For no man knew when some stray bullet might come his way.

In that town, far from telegraphs, railroads and other mediums of comnunication with civilization, the Griffins and their allies, who had demanded that the trial take place, and who had been relied upon as the witnesses for the prosecution, had weakened at the last minute apparently, for when tidings were last received from Manchester, the nessenger leaving at 8 a. m. and arriving here late last evening, the Griffing were nowhere to be found, and the Philpots, who had come to stay, were re maining to jubilate.

There had been no shooting-not from ack of the will to shed blood, but because no living target was to be found for the Philpot rifles.

The witnesses had all been subpoenaed, but it is said that they left the county, being alarmed by the superior numbers of the Philpots. The latter were present in large numbers when the messenger left Manchester. Manchester is 26 miles from here over other communication from there. The trial was off, apparently, for without the Griffins there could be no effective osecution, and the feud, too, seemed be "off" for the time at least. But the Philpots were determined not

State Inspector Lester, who has been at Manchester for several days, said that if there was no outbreak at the trial of the Philpots-and he believed there would be no trial-he would recomnend to Governor Bradley to take no further steps at present. He says Man-hester is now quiet and orderly, and he elieves it will continue so. It is the "peace" which comes when an advancing army finds the enemy fled, however, with the possibility that the pacific appearances may be a stratagem, and that an ambush lurks along every rock-environed, mountain; that the fugitives may have gone, only to return again with reinforcements. Nobody ing Kentuckians have buried the hatchet permanently. Leaders of both the Howard and Baker factions have talked freely with Mr. Lester, and all have assured him that there is not to be any more fighting as things now stand. This is also the belief of General Garrard, the veteran soldier, who is ited to the Baker faction.

Every success in life is the expression of a man's ability to recognize and lay hold of opportunity. And no man can do this without preparation. The man who expects to achieve victories "off hand" never achieves them. No great book was ever written, no great sermon was ever preached, no great picture was ever painted, "off hand." They are all the result of the cumulative power of work and growth and development. The man who writes the great sermon began to master all the details of it during his first years at college. The man who wrote the great book began to adapt himself to the work of writing it years before a line of it was ever penned. And only the artist who paints a great picture knows of the years of patient, wearisome preparation back of the finished work .- Zion's Herald.

With Terms of Reciprocity Treaty Between United States and France.

Important Document Signed by Kasson and Cambon.

Our Products on Same Basis In France as Products of Great Britain and Germany.

Washington, July 25.-Ambassador Cambon, in behalf of France, and Commissioner Kasson, in behalf of the United States, affixed their signatures to the reciprocity treaty between the United States and France late yester-

The French ninistry was obliged to pay heed to this sentiment, and in turn M. Cambon made he exceptions a condition of closing the treaty. It was on this point that the negotiations were in doubt for several gets the benefit of all the reductions on the French minimum list.

M. JULES CAMBON.

Besides the reduction given to this government the treaty is important in continuing, on a number of articles, minimum rates which would have been abolished if the treaty had not been concluded. The most important of these articles are petroleum and mineral oils. At present these oils enter France on the minimum rate, but had yesterday's treaty failed a rate would have been imposed making a difference of duty amounting to about $5,000,000. The negotiations ended yesterday were begun nearly two years ago by M. Patrenotre, then ambassador from France. When he was succeeded by M. Cambon, the latter took up the negotiations and for a time there was prospect of concluding a treaty, but delays occurred, and in order to close the matter the French authorities sent from Paris M. Charpentiere, a trade expert, as special reciprocity delegate.

Ambassador Cambon will leave for Paris in about a week, carrying with him the French draft of the treaty. The French treaty is the last of the instruments of this kind, and the treaty work under the Dingley act is now brought to a close. Six treaties have been made, all save that with France relating to British West Indies.

St. Louis, July 25.-Casper Leon, champion bantamweight boxer of the world, was last night awarded the decision over Morris Rauch of Chicago at the end of a 20-round bout before the West End club. The fight was a good one throughout. Rauch made a fine showing, but was unable to land as many blows as Leon, who got the decision on points.

The newspapers, the correspondent adds, are indignant and vigorously denounce what they call "sham American civilization."

A LYNN CANAL PORT.

Report That Canada Has Accepted Proposition Regarding a Lease.

Means End of Alaskan Difficulty If Story Is Correct.

Outline of United States' Terms to Canada to Solve Vexed Question.

Washington, July 26 .- There is a welldefined report that Canada has at last indicated her willingness to accept an indefinite lease of a port on tidewater in Lynn canal. Heretofore she has insisted upon a complete cession, to which our government would not consent at all. If the present story is correct this settles the Alaskan difficulty and will enable the session of the joint commission to proceed.

With a view to arriving at a solution of the vexed question, it is understood that this government has offered to concede to Canada the privilege of a free been reduced by the stock issue of port on the Lynn canal. One of the claims set up by the British-Canadian the head of the Lynn canal, and that it was necessary for Canada to control the head of the canal, as otherwise shows head of the canal, as otherwise she was cut off from access to the Klondike, the most convenient gateway to the Klondike being through the canal.

The United States did not concede that Canada had any right to the canal, but as a matter of favor agreed to grant the Dominion the privileges of a free port at Dominion the privileges of a free port at the headwaters of the canal. By the grant of a free port Canada was to be permitted to land goods intended for the permitted to land goods intended for the Klondike without the payment of United States duties, Canada having the right to assess such duties as she might see in private family, all modern conven-fit to impose. The collection of duties iences; four minutes walk from the centre. and all other things relating to Canadian commerce were to be solely in the hands of the Canadian government, so that to "Fortune's Vassals," by Sarah Barnwell all intents and purposes the port, so far Clliott, the complete novel in Lippincott's New as Canada was concerned, would be precisely on the same footing as if it were in acknowledged Canadian territory, the only difference being that Canada cou not fortify it or exercise sovereignty, it being recognized that she was only there by permission of the United States and

This concession, however, did not satisfy Canada, her commissioners insisting upon an absolute cession of territory, and, failing to secure that, rejecting al overtures. The free port proposition has now been revived, but there is not much hope felt that it will prove any more ac ceptable to the Dominion now than it was when it was made some months ago The acceptance by Canada of the free port is also coupled with the stipulation that the Dominion shall agree to let the delimitation of the boundary line go to arbitration. If Canada refuses either the privilege of the port or the submis are unusually varied and excellent, with articles slon to arbitration of the main question once more there will be a deadlock.

SLEEP FOR SALE.

If you want to travel all the way to old age, without missing connections at any stage of the journey, it is absolutely necessary that you sleep soundly at night. Sleep is the medicine of nature, and you can afford to snap your fingers at work if you can command sleep. No argument is so potent to this end as the soft and soothing surface of one of our Enterprise Hand Made Laid Hair Mattresses. Understand, this is not a common mattress. It is as unlike the mattress on which you are now sleeping, as night is as unlike day. Life is short at best, and we fail to know of one thing that will give such absolute and continuo us comfort as one of these mattresses.

The Herald reporter's "criticisms" of the position of the flagfleat off the udges' stand, at the Q. Y. C. cup races, furnishes a good deal of amusement to the competitors for the cup. As a matter of fact, the flag-float has been set at exactly right angles to the wind from compass bearings and the prolongation of the course on a government chart. It is also set with the approval of the contestants and the oard of judges and starters. That s why the Herald reporter's "friendly advice" is not heeded. There is nothing like having a yachting reporter who knows it all, and gives fatherly advice to the "farmers" who sail the laundry work we do. She knows more races, and of course know nothing about it than you do. She knows how about the deep blue sea and wacht hard it is to do perfect laundry work, and racing. Certainly, these hayseeds will surely follow this expert's advise and conduct the races as he directs. But then, the Herald man must have his

The District court was in session when the Ledger went to press, occupied with cases of Edward J. Whalen, Charles J. Danehy, Edward W. O'Brien and William H. City Solicitor Blackmru appeared for the government, and the boys were represented by ex-City Solicitors Mc-Anarney and Pattee.

There was considerable other business this morning but the golf cases were reached about ten and may continue until after 4 P. M., and then be ontinued to another day.

Among the witnesses already examined at length are Robert Porter and Councilman Freeman of the Golf club, officer McKay, and Mr. Menzier who bought balls of Whalen.

Joined the Gang. The Brockton Enterprise tells a goo story. It says: A Brockton lad had rather of a strange experience at Nantasket a few days ago, which resulted those bright young men who see things, and he noticed that several of the young men had little clover leaves in their shoes just above the instep. The Brockton lad got a clover leaf, too, and tucked it in his shoe. Soon a young man came up behind him and asked, "Do you take or carry?" I did not take the Brocktonian long to reply "Carry," and with that a pocket-book containing a good sum of money was slipped into his hand. He had evidently discovered a gang of pickpockets, and unwittingly became one of them. He went to the police and they hunted the beach over, but the men had skipped. Then they tried to find out who had lost any money, but were unable to. The young man still has the pocket-book, which the owner can have by proving property.

Restraint on Blasting. A dispatch of Wednesday from Providence to the Globe reports Judge Wilbuur today granted to lawyer J. I. Jenks of Pawtucket a restraining order to stop alleged dangerous blasting, which has been in progress at a quarry in Middletown, not far from the second beach at Newport.

Mr. Jenks represents Agnes F. Easton, wife of ex-Senator Easton of Paw tucket, who owns a summer residence on a 10-acre lot at Middletown, not far from the Peckham Bros' quarry, and spends the time there from May to October.

The Peckhams use blasts of powder, dynamite, etc., according to the bill. and the rock is hurled to a great distance, rendering it, is alleged, some parts of the Easton property unsafe. One place affected is a high elevation, where there is a good view. A bill in pany them that day will be made equity, which has been filed in the supreme court, is returnable Aug. 26.

The boats had not been under way five minutes before the wind hauled from S. by E. to west. This gave the boats a reach down and back.

When off Sheep island an impenetrable fog shut them in. The judges boat the buoy off Hull and watched for the boats. In a few minutes a boat was seen coming through the thick mist. It drew near. The judges could discerned that it was the Pompano, each turn was: the boat which the others left out of sight at the start.

The judges hailed her and gave her the bearing of the buoy.

It seemed that she carried a compass and also "Cut" Endicott, who helped set the buoy in the morning. Just as the fog shut in, "Cut" took a compass bearing of the buoy, and then plunked the boat right on to it. This accounts for her remarkable gain over the other

There was no zig-zagging in her course. But neither was there in the Hostess, for in a few minutes four masts towered up above the judges' launch and four ghosts silently skipped Oogrook, through the water to the buoy and Pompano, round it almost together. After rounding the Hull buoy the second time, the Hostess stood over for Peddock's then across the gut for Houghs Neck with the Heiress right onto her heels. She stood up close to the club house, still unable to shake the Heiress off or the Heiress to get by her. Some of the members even around the club house yard and then over Great Hill. But the judges do not feel sure on this point.

The other three boats held their courses directly for the finishing line. The Heiress entered two protests against the Hostess, one for fouling the Hull buoy and the other for not giving room at the finish line, thus causing Heiress to foul mark.

Judges Whiting, Russell, and H. N. Richards gave a hearing on the protests. The judge ruled them out on the ground of insufficient cause. The summary:

plenty of men willing to work.

Madrid, July 27 .- The discussion of the armry bill in the senate yesterday led to an exciting scene. General Weyler, arguing against any reduction of the strength of the army, warned the government that the present situation made a revolution highly probable, since it had never been so easy for the army and the people to make common cause. It must be confessed that revolutions sometimes cleared the political atmosphere and accomplished the work of regeneration. Senor Dato, minister of the interior, replying, severely censured General Weyler, declaring that a general, who, with 300,000 men, had failed to suppress the Cuban rebellion, had no right to make such threats, and that any attempt at revolution, no matter by whom, would be proceeded against with the utmost rigor of the law. The senators warmly applauded Senor Dato's speech. The army bill was adopted.

SLEEP FOR SALE.

If you want to travel all the way to old age, without missing connections at any stage of the journey, it is absolutely necessary that you sleep soundly at night. Sleep is the medicine of nature, and you can afford to snap your fingers at work if you can command sleep. No argument is so potent to this end as the soft and soothing surface of one of our Enterprise Hand Made Laid Hair Mattresses. Understand, this is not a common mattress. It is as unlike the mattress on which you are now sleeping, as night is as unlike day. Life is short at best, and we fail to know of one thing that will give such absolute and continuous comfort as one of these mattresses.

PRICE, $22.00.

Good Afternoon.

In the days of the Quincy Tennis club the members had the same depre dations and thefts at their club house, as the Wollaston Golf club is now experiencing, but they soon got on the right track and informed the parents of the boys, and pater familias took the boys over his knee. Those boys never troubled the club any more. This course is now recommended to the golf club. It is more satisfactory than law.

The Lighthouse Board at Washington has instructed the lighthouse inspectors to direct all keepers under their jurisdiction not to admit visitors to the towers except between the hours of two and four in the afternoon. Of late years so constant has been the flow of visitors to some lights that the keepers have had very little time for rest and sleep, and in consequence it has in many instances unfitted them for faithful vigil during the coming night. Such a rule may be all right for most lights which are easy of ccess, but in case of Minot's ledge ight which is lonesome at the best, s unfortunate for the keepers.

A Decided Change.

An important change in the motive power of the South Shore road of the Plymouth Division, from Braintree to Cohasset has been made this week. Trains of from five to seven cars will now be run regular over the thirdrail line by electricity and all the regular freight will also be run, it being anticipated that as many cars can be drawn as by the old steam engines.

Col. Heft the chief of the electrical department of the road is confident that more speed can be maintained, less wear and tear experienced and greater safety assured by the new system than by the old, and is looking for its gradual adoption by many of the larger oads of the country.

"A case of telepathy." She laughed. Her laugh was the same-there was not a false note in it. The man could not have laughed naturally if his life had been at stake. "You mean you have brought my letters?"

Pioneers In Alpine Climbing.

The professors of the Swiss universities were the pioneers in Alpine climbing. But it would be a mistake to imagine that the pioneers were always enticed into the solitudes by love of nature, through sense of scenic grandeur and beauty, as these have been understood since Ruskin opened the eyes of men. One of them spent many a season in searching for traces of the dragon of fable. Another, as Mr. Gribble has pointed out in a weekly contemporary, went aloft to test the truth of the tradition that the top of Pilatus held Pontius Pilate's body. Gesner's feeling for mountain scenery | Times. must have been somewhat of the Ruskinian order. But Gesner was an exceptional person.

The Japanese have a proverb relating to one of their most famous mountain tops. "There are two kinds of fools-those who have not seen it, and those who have seen it twice." Until the nineteenth century modern Europeans appear to have been pretty generally of that way of thinking. Ninety years ago some of them painted the risks of mountaineering in language that in our day would be appropriate

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning July 30-Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.-That good part.-Luke x, 38-42. A home scene in the life of Christ is presented to us in the topical reference. Christ, with his disciples, is in the favorite home of Mary, Martha and Lazarus. Martha, probably being the older of the two sisters, serves. Mary sits at the feet of Jesus and listens to his word. All does not go well with Martha. She complains to Jesus that Mary does not help her. But Christ commends Mary for her choice to sit at His feet, and chides Martha, not because she was interested in the entertainment of Him and His friends, but because of her overanxiety in reference to things of minor importance, because she attached more importance to caring for the temporal wants of her friends than she did to caring for the spiritual wants of her-The good part that Mary chose was to sit at the feet of Jesus to hear His word, as He spoke to the disciples or perhaps to herself. She cared not so much for the feeding of the body as for the feeding of her own soul. And well might Christ commend her for her choice. Would that we might all choose to sit at the feet of Jesus, where we can have our souls feed upon the bread of life rather than to have our affections centered upon the world, trying in vain to feed the soul upon the husks which nourish not. The good part chosen by Mary in receiving the Saviour was undivided devotion to His word, the feeding on the bread of life which cometh by hearing. In the highest sense the good part is the spiritual reception of Christ Himself. This should be the choice of all. Christ should be our first "Seek ye first the kingdom of Mary's part was good because it was eternal. It was "that good part which shall not be taken away from her.' The good parts of this world soon pass away from us or we from them. The superiority, therefore, of an eternal good should be apparent to all, and we should, if governed by reason and good judgment, be easily influenced to "love not the world, neither the things that are in the world," because "the world passeth away and the lust thereof, but he that doeth the will of God abideth forever." More than that, temporal enjoyment of the world often leads to eternal pain and suffering. How foolish to sacrifice the soul for the body, eternity for time!

What win I if I gain the thing I seek, A dream, a breath, a froth of fleeting joy?

Who buys a minute's mirth to wail a week Or sells eternity to get a toy? For one sweet grape who will the vine destroy? Or what fond beggar, but to touch the crown, Would with the scepter straight be stricker

Therefore let us choose eternal, not temporal, good.

"You must choose between your pleasures and your sight," said a physician to a devotee of sensual pleasure. 'Then," he replied, "farewell, sweet sight!" And how many are making such wretched choice! The responsibility of choice is tremendous. Think of being able to choose between God and self, the soul and the body, Christ and the world, heaven and hell, eternity and time! May God help us, like Mary, to choose the good part which can never be taken away from us.

Baptism of Pain.

Over and over again the old truth omes back to us, that no man is good for much till he has suffered a great sorrow. The baptism of pain is one of for purging away the dross of our natures and making us fit to be partakers of the inheritance of the saints in light. Not those who have escaped the fiery trial, but those who have gone through are to be envied. God knows what is best for us. Therefore he sends first one affliction and then another upon us. Sometimes, because he sees it to be necessary, he lifts the very floodgates and allows wave after wave of misfortune to sweep over us. If we have the right stuff in us, we shall be helped and not harmed by these seeming calamities. -Nashville Christian Advocate.

Wolves' and Sheeps' Clothing. Moral evil never dares be itself. It always seeks to take on the garb of virtue. Wickedness is naturally timid. It skulks and hides itself, loving darkness rather than light. Evil is ashamed of itself except in the most depraved natures, and, where it ceases to feel shame, the fact is commonly due to its having found an environment in which there is nothing to rebuke it. How commonly do the wolves of greed and cruelty put on sheeps' clothing! How natural for satan to fashion himself into an angel of light!—Sunday School

Ambition.

There is a justifiable ambition which, if kept within proper limits, stimulates the mind and quickens action, ennobles the nature and develops character. Ambition needs careful watching lest it prove a snare rather than a blessing. He that is ambitious to be wise and good has a laudable motive and manifests the highest wisdom, while he who, regardless of wisdom or goodness, determines to gain a point at the cost of both is guilty of the greatest folly .-

> Atlanta, July 29 .- Governor Candler, since the Bainbridge lynchings, has been asked by newspapers in various parts of the country to give his opinions on the race question in the south, and in reply to one of them the governor has freely expressed his views as to the cause of the conflicts and the remedy therefor. cause of the uprisings is the intermeddling with the relations of the whites and blacks in the south by "fools and man J. AUTOMOBILE

MAIL WAGONS Some Interesting Experiments to Be Made by Postal Authorities.

· -BY C. T. BAXTER.

The United States postal department is always up to date. It is now considering the adoption of automobiles for mail collecting in urban districts. Considering that motor vehicles are but just beginning to be used for commercial purposes, this is a stroke of enterprise on the part of the postal authorities.

The first experiments were made by Postmaster Dorr of Buffalo, and he has demonstrated that automobiles would be a valuable addition to the postal service of large cities. His tests show a saving of both time and money. The governor believes the present-day two vital considerations when it comes to transporting the mails.

Through the kindness of Dr. Trufanatics," who know nothing about the mobile trap, Postmaster Dorr was able situation, but think the whole trouble to make some practical experiments dates from the day of emancipation, in the collection of mails, and his re-Governor Candler believes a restricted port on the result has just been resuffrage will remedy the evil; that the ceived at the postoffice department. Ingersoll has been greatly referred to as a scoffer. As a thinker he was too serious to treat anything lightly, and the frivolous handling of anything sacred offended him deeply. No better example of this trait in this most peculiar man can be given than a little happening at a banquet to which he had been invited. It was during the discussion of the subject, "Is Marriage a Failure?" and this was the main men made speeches in which they treated the matter flippantly and tried to be witty at the expense of womankind. Ingersoll listened with growing impatience, and finally his turn to speak came. He was terribly in earnest, and what he said caused more his wife and mother at the side of a child's grave."

According to Colonel Ingersoll's account of the beginning of his agnosticism, it was due to the speech of a minister before a Sunday school. Dives than one man to weep. When, however, his father learned of his having left the meeting, there was trouble for Robert. The trouble took place in the barn, and the instrument thereof was a strap in the Rev. Mr. Ingersoll's hands, after which there was prayer for the guidance of the erring.

A man who was a fellow passenger of Colonel Ingersoll at the time of the occurrence tells how that famous agnostic entertained a lot of Methodist preachers on a railway train in Illinois on one occasion. The colonel was in a very social mood and had been spinning varns to the narrator of this story when the train was boarded at Vandalia by a number of the reverend brethren, who had been attending some de nominational gathering. Immediately an acquaintance was scraped. Colonel Ingersoll, without revealing his identity, soon had the entire party hanging about him enjoying his flow of wit. Men laughed till they cried who looked as though they had not cracked a smile for 20 years. At Marshall the party left with many expressions of regret. They all told us who they were, where they had been, etc., but Colonel Ingersoll was not equally confidential. Finally one good old brother asked his name. Ingersoll handed him his card. He looked at it and let it drop as though it burned his fingers. His jaw fell, and he looked as though he had seen a ghost.
"'All off for Marshall!' yelled the porter, and they hustled out. They congregated on the platform, and the old man who had dropped the card whispered hoarsely:

"'Brethren, we've been a-talkin t that awful atheist, Bob Ingersoll.' "'Lord have mercy on us!' ejaculated

a pious brother, as his chin dropped down behind his collar. "The younger members of the party appeared to rather enjoy the confusion

"I'll meet you half way," the first speaker rejoined, and the two sat down together in the middle of the coach. After a silence such as only great men can indulge in, the Omaha man asked: "Is there a hell?"

Good Afternoon.

Medford is leading Quincy a pretty race in valuation. In 1898 Medford decision will be interesting. Up to CORSETS, extra good quality, sold by many had $19,008,050 and Quincy $19,236, 832. Now the Medford assessors report on increase of $471,950, and the new valuation is $19,480,000. Will Quincy go her better? Perhaps they Correct Styles.

Lowest Prices. Would if our assessors were striving to reduce the tax rate; a Boston paper says of the assessors' work in Medford : "Besides increasing the valuation, they have cut the tax rate down to $17.60, which is 20 cents less than last year." Both cities have about the same amount of personal property.

Whew! A tax rate of $21.60 in Brockton this year! That's what it costs for abolishing grade crossings and other improvements in a pushing city. Brockton is undoubtedly the banner high tax city of the commonwealth. This is an increase of $1.40 over the tax rate of 1898, which was 50 cents less than 1897. The total tax levy for this year is $616,091.73, which is $39,000 in excess of the levy for 1898. The total valuation of real estate is $23,846,545, an increase of $630,734; personal estate, $3,316,210, an increase of $559,974.60; total increase in valuation, $1,200,708.60, making a total valuation of $27,286,561.60. The number of polls is 11,351, an increase of 351. The increase in the tax rate has been expected, in view of the facts that the city grant is larger than that Cooked Ments, Jams, Jellies of last year, and that the city had $28,-

New Braintree Editor.

Mr. Eben Prescott, who assumes the local management of the Observer from this date, is no stranger to our people. Some years ago he very wisely came to Braintree for a wife, and since his marriage has made this town his home.

He built a house on Middle street, and as a property holder has been interested and active in town affairs, especially in electric lighting and school matters.

Mr. Prescott is the younger son of George W. Prescott, the life-long pubobtained some knowledge of printing offices after leaving school. His older brother is the city editor of the Quincy Daily Ledger.

For ten or more years he has been in the hardware business, with Boston England. His business experience thus acquired will be of value as business manager of the Observer, and he will readily grasp the reportorial and editorial duties.

The publishers trust that all our people, who take pride in the good old town and desire its success,-commercially, socially, educationally and morally-will extend to the new editor the right hand of fellowship, and assist him to make the Observer a newsy, will be an honor to Braintree and her people. Pennsylvania Wins Victory Over Canadian Oarsmen.

Rumohr, the Canadian, In Line For Big Championship Event.

Event Between B. A. A. Schoolboys and New Yorkers Must Be Rowed Over.

Boston, July 29.—One last mighty heave of back and limbs, that wracked heart and brain and nerve, decided race after race upon Charles river yesterday, where the flower of the amateur oarsmen of the United States and Canada had assembled in quest of aquatic laurels.

Victory was a matter not of boatlengths, but of inches. In several events inning, and only sensational stops by the result was decided by the final two or three strokes of oars which had thrown balls by Tenney prevented the swung tirelessly with rivals ever side by side throughout the weary furlongs.

A crouching of every muscle, a concentration of every atom of strength and vitality left in bronzed and swaying bodies; then oars would bend in the water like reeds before a gale, shells would hurl themselves at the floating line of little flags; and in that supreme the mourning willow to the others. Then

Falling forward upon the oar, with eyes, the beaten oarsman would realize the sensations of the fallen pugilist who for his grand effort. lies prone, helpless and stunned, knowing only that the mighty cheering of the fickle multitude was heralding the triumph of another. Better water, weather and racing could scarcely have been desired and a crowd of 8000 on the river bank enjoyed all three immensely. Only a light breeze blew up the river, which scarcely rippled the water, and died out altogether before the races were fairly over.

The course was the usual 11/2 miles, with a turn. The committee ran the different races off in quick time, and there was not a protest to be considered at the end of the day's sport.

The great senior four-oared race was easily the feature of the afternoon Three crews were entered for the racethe Pennsylvania Barge club of Phila delphia, the Brockville, Ont., Rowing club and the Western Rowing club o St. Louis, but the latter crew was almos left behind from the very start of the other two. Pennsylvania and Brockville were very evenly matched, but the Louisville 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 0 0 0 1 former had a stroke in Dempsey that practically won for them the race. The canadians had the best of the start and, with a perfect finish stroke and an easy by Phillipi, 5; by Willis, 2. Double swing, seemed to have little difficulty in play—Wagner and Kelly. Brockville, however, swung their boat round in quick time and were four strokes to the good when the two crews squared away for home. It was here that Dempsey put the fire into his crew that at the end gave them the flag. He dug and tore the water until it boiled behind the frail shell, and at the mile had driven his craft until it lapped the Brockville shell. From that point to the finish the contest was too exciting for even the most uninterested spectator to remain quiet, and the two crews were cheered at every stroke. A hundred yards from the line, Dempsey called upon his club mates, and, doing two men's work himself, the Pennsylvanians managed to shoot their shell over the line getting the flag. The latter pulled a long, easy stroke up to the turn, rounding two lengths behind O'Keefe and Crawford, the latter of the New York Athletic club, who had been having a all the week over the links of the Shinhot brush to the mark. But after heading for the finish, Greer let out a couple of links, and passing Crawford, who had not one of the players who were looked pulled himself out, started after O'Keefe, and the two had a grand battle to the finish. O'Keefe got the flag, but both men will be in the final heat today.

John Rumohr of Rat Portage was the star in the first heat of the association senior singles, and his quick, dashing stroke caught the crowd. Both Kubick and Lewis gave him a hot race to the turn, but the Canadian managed to swing first and started for home with a slight lead. Lewis, however, put on more steam, and almost caught Rumohr at the mile, and from that point to the line it was the hottest kind of work, Rumohr getting the flag by a few feet over his The Boston dog, named Shine, and opponent. Only two competed in the second trial heat of the intermediate single sculls, and Mason of Toronto almost rowed away from Kerns of Worcester. The second heat in the association senior singles was also in the nature of a procession, although Pope of the Boston Athletic club gave Juvenal of Philadelphia a warm race for second place, did not regain consciousness for nearly an hour. The fight was given to Forbes ritus of New Orleans being scarcely an hour. The fight was given to Forbes sailors and a detachment of Austrian and infinitely preferable will they ahead of the other two by two lengths.

Young Ten Eyck and his partner Charles H. Lewis, had a walk-over in the senior double sculls and led the Delaware Boat club pair at the finish by nearly a dozen lengths.

EXHIBITION OF FANCY FIELDING. Colonels and Beaneaters Put Up a Fine Game, In Which the Latter Won.

Louisville, July 29.-By some of the finest fielding ever seen in Louisville Boston took the game by the score of 4 to 1. The contest was closer than the score indicates, for up to the ninth the champions had made but two runs, and outside of the first inning but one hit off Philippi. On the other hand, the Colonels were getting men to bases each Collins, and some nice pickups of badly. Bourbonites from again being victo-

The gem of the whole entertainment, however, was Hamilton's fancy catch of Leach's line drive, headed for the center field fence, and plainly ticketed 'home run.' This was in the eighth inning, and Leach was the first batter. He caught one fair, and sent it on a line to right centre. Hamilton covered an immense amount of territory in a brief space of time, and, leaping into the senses reeling and black mist before the it practically killed Louisville's chances, he was liberally applauded by the crowd

Mob Chealed of Their Prey.

Atlanta, July 29.-A special to The Journal from Jackson says that the three Mormon elders who were taken away from the home of William Cunnard at Newton Factory Wednesday night by a mob of 50 men, escaped from the mob while crossing a creek and are now safe near Jackson. They are suffering from many bruises and injuries sustained in a fight with their captors. They swam down the creek, hotly pursued by the mob, finally escaping and making their way through the country to the home of friends. They tell a thrilling story of their experience. It is not thought here that the mob intended to lynch the Mormons, but was bent on escorting them out of the country. Mrs. Cunnard, a portion of whose jaw was shot away in a fight between the mob and her husband, is badly wounded.

HOW TO SWIM.

Suggestions That Will Aid You In Acquiring the Art.

As an exercise swimming is regarded by experts in the care of body and mind as superior to any other pastime that has been devised for preservation of health and the uplifting of the nervous system. Warnings that it is the duty of every man, woman and child to learn to swim go unheeded, and so the newspapers will continue to record drowning accidents every day in which had the victim or the onlooker been true to himself there would have been nothing more seriou to note than an unwelcome or unexpected bath, says the New York Her ald, which gives the following sug gestions about "how to swim:"

To the person of average intelligence half a dozen lessons of from 15 to 20 minutes each are sufficient to master the art of swimming. The method of swimming most easily learned is what is known as the breast stroke. In this the swimmer lies flat in the water, with head and shoulders only above the surface. The forearms and hands are submerged about six inches, while the body and lower limbs are in a slanting position, somewhat farther from the surface.

Before making a stroke the limbs are extended to their full length. The first motion is the drawing of the arms backward in a semicircle a short distance under the top of the water. The palms should be kept open and downward, the entire arm moving backward with a slow "sweep." This not only serves to keep the head above the water line, but aids in propelling the body.

For propulsion, however, the lower limbs are depended upon in the greatest degree. As the arms move apart the legs are drawn up under the body, with the knees pointing outward at angles from the trunk. Progression is made by again extending the lower limbs until both of them come together, the backward sweep of the arms and the forcing of the feet against the water sending the body ahead in a degree corresponding to the energy of the arm and foot movement.

For beginners at the swimming game it is advisable to acquire the leg movement by holding fast with the hands to some stationary object before venturing to keep afloat. Care should be taken that the feet do not get above the surface when making the kick. This results in what is known as "the club foot" and causes a waste of energy as well as the making of an ungraceful swimmer.

After acquiring proficiency in the breast stroke the swimmer may devote attention to various other styles, all of which have virtues to commend them.

The veranda furnishing that is shown in the illustration from The Ladies' World is a combination chair and table. As here shown, it is a very comfortable chair, with the back slightly inclined. This back is hinged to the rear end of the chair arms, the hinges being out of sight between the cleat and the end of the arm. When the back

To Remove Mildew Stains.

This is the season when mildew stains are most troublesome, but they can be easily conquered even during the murky midsummer days. To remove mildew from linen, mix together a tablespoonful of soft soap with enough powdered starch to make it rather thick, a teaspoonful of salt and the juice of a lemon. Apply to the stain with a paint brush on both sides of the linen, and leave the stained article out on the grass a day and a night, or until the spot is removed. Repeat the process if necessary, but one application will generally prove sufficient. After the stain has disappeared have the article thoroughly washed and

TRADE WITH COLONIES

Will Not Be Relinquished by Spaniards Without a Struggle.

Foreigners Have Met Competition by Starting Factories In Spain.

Washington, July 29.-Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines afforded a market for more than $40,000,000 worth of Spanish goods yearly, according to a statement of Mr. Roberts, the British consul at Barcelona, just received by the treasury bureau of statistics. About three-fourths of this amount was in manufactured goods, and considerably more than one-half went to Cuba alone. The exports of Spain to Cuba in 1896 amounted to $26,812,134; to Porto Rico, $7,530,135, and to the Philippines, $7,-700,000, making a total of $41,242,269. Of the expects to Cuba, $16,550,619 worth were manufactured goods, $10,170,111 provisions, and $191,805 raw materials. Of the exports to Porto Rico, $5,821,600 worth were manufactured goods, $1,-680,100 provisions, and $30,244 raw materials. To the Philippines, $6,850,176 worth were manufactured goods, $814,-111 provisions, and $7261 raw materials.

To this expenditure by the three colonies, Mr. Roberts adds $4,000,000 for money paid to the Spanish steamship companies for carrying trade to and from the colonies. The imports into Spain from the colonies, he says, amounted, in 1896, to 260,877 tons from Cuba, 26,071 tons from Porto Rico, and 40,985 tons from the Philippines, and computes that the amount paid in freight amounted in commerce with Cuba to $1,565,260; Porto Rico, $156,426, and the Philippines, $450,835, or a total of $2,172,523, and says: "If to this be added the value of passage money, to and from the colonies, putting it at the low average of $50 a head, it shows a shore. The president, has been deluged further $2,600,000 per annum, giving a total of $4,600,000 per annum paid in freight and passage money to the steamship companies for the carrying trade to and from the colonies.

Mr. Roberts expresses the opinion that away from Mrs. McKinley. Spanish manufacturers and dealers are not going to give up these markets with. out a struggle. He also intimates that concerns of other nationalities have in the past participated in the so-called Spanish trade with these islands by esthe year 1892," he says, "the Spanish the view of virtually giving a monopoly to goods manufactured here for exportation to the colonies; this, of course, gave an enormous impetus to manufacture in this province, factories increasing largely in number, and the Catalan manufacturers grew rapidly rich. The only way in which foreigners who had good clients in the colonies could meet this competition and retain their markets was by starting being manufactured in the peninsula manufacturers, whereas if shipped from England or elsewhere, the prohibitive duty rendered competition impossible; or by having a resident agent in this city, who, purchasing from the Catalan manufacturers, exported the merchandise from here free of duty."

Strike at Exeter, N. H.

Exeter, N. H., July 29 .- Nearly 300 employes, including 60 women, went out on strike at the Exeter Boot and Shoe company's shops yesterday. A cut of 10 percent was made in the wages last December, and the employes claim the company promised an advance on June A committee of the employes say they could get no satisfaction from the employers, and a mass meeting was held yesterday on the plains, followed by a meeting in Foresters' hall. The strike does not affect the other part of the shop, or the factory of Gale Bros., although both shops are practically under the same management.

Lynched a Harmless Lunatic.

New Orleans, July 29 .- A negro was discovered at Lindsay, in East Feliciana, in a cornfield. For some reason he was suspected to be Val Bates, against whom a charge of assault had been made. He was chased through several fields by armed men, and finally took refuge in a tree. A rope was sent for to lynch him, but the negro climbed down out of the tree. As he did so he was fired on and fell dead. An investigation disclosed that the dead negro was not Bates, but an innocent lunatic, who had escaped from the Louisiana state asylum at Jackson.

Gallantry of Ambrose Bierce. No one made any remark upon the temerity of the ladies who invited Ambrose Bierce to deliver a lecture before the members of their club. Undaunted by his reputation they fearlessly bearded the lion in his den, a committee extending the invitation verbally.

Bierce was so taken aback by the unexpectedness of the request that, to his own surprise, he found himself weakly accepting the bid and then humbly consulting his callers concerning the topic upon which they might desire him to speak.

The president, a dignified and very conservative lady, in reply to a novel suggestion of the lecturer elect, remarked somewhat loftily that they were not a club of new women.

"I am convinced of that," answered Mr. Bierce in a bland and deferential tone, which almost but not quite concealed his cynicism. "Shall I say you are a club of old women?"-San Francisco News Letter.

As usual on Sunday night two men were there at work, but the fire started so suddenly about the furnace and spread so rapidly, that there was no time to save anything. When the alarm was given about 1.45 from Box 27 opposite the Universalist church the easterly side of the building was all in flames. The central station apparatus and also Hose 4 and 2 were promptly on hand, and two well directed streams from the corner of Elm street soon checked the flames, but two lines were laid from the corner of Canal street before they were extinguished.

Three bakery wagons were in the part of the building on fire, and only one was rescued, but that was badly burned. The others were simply wrecks together with all the contents of the bakery. Externally the building was but little damaged, and the flames did not reach the hall, but the loss will be upwards of $1000 on the building and contents. The building is owned by the Bent heirs, and was probably insured.

The Wide Scow Yachts Proved to be the Best Yet.

Every one of the five boats which machine, built for no other purpose than to sail fast. Two of them, the Heiress and the Hostess, were designed on the lines of the type of racing craft that has been successful in these waters in the past three years.

The Heiress was built by Mr. Mower on plans that he had won prizes within his earlier boats, the Vitesse and the Duchess. His last boat is an improvement over both of the earlier ones, and is faster, length for length, than either the Vitesse or the Duchess. She is a boat that has a large sail spread, and is by all odds the ablest one in the fleet of five. She is at least one reef stiffer than another of the others. Her best point of sailing is to windward. She points high, and is the quickest of the lot in stays, though she has a board that gives her a larger lateral plane than any of the were the only two 21-footers to show of Rantoul & White. may be accounted for by the fact that she does not seem to get her full length the Hostess won by a wider margin the White took an active interest in Ten Eyck Easily Beats Maguire In Senior Single Scull Championship.

The Latter Claims a Foul, but It Is Disallowed.

Louisville, Washington, Cincinnati and Brooklyn Win Sunday Baseball Games.

Boston, July 31 .- What was probably the greatest regatta ever held on the 2%s. Charles river ended Saturday night, after two days of rowing. It was great in the number and quality of entries, great in the unusual prevalence of sensational questions of relative ability awaiting solution, fortunate in point of weather, and, what was more obscure in its workings, but strikingly manifest in its results, in unexceptional management.

The last day brought out, as the gem of the card, the senior single scull championship, the Maguire-Ten Eyck question, and Ten Eyck won by so wide a margin that the wonder now is how so many thought it might prove otherwise The Worcester boy had three lengths to spare after drifting in 30 feet of the course, and could have won by a fur long.

Even the great crowd at the finish failed to enthuse over the race between Ten Eyck, Maguire and Whitehead, which many of them had come so far to see. It seemed so easy for Ten Eyck to win that, while he was greeted as a national champion, there was little of a sensation in the finish, with Maguire lengths behind, and if it had not been for the latter's protest there would have been little for the sports to discuss, and there is no question whatever as to the relative merits of the three men. Ten Eyck had no difficulty in proving his superiority in the race from the very start, when he deliberately rowed over into his opponents' smoother water and kept there St. Louis . throughout the race. This move, however, came very near costing him the race, for he failed to turn his own buoy and narrowly missed a foul.

Ten Eyck, who had the outside posi-tion with the rough water, jumped ahead at the start and, with a few quick, strong strokes swept right across the bow of Whitehead, who had the middle position, and soon pulled out a length or two ahead of his opponents into a safe posifallen behind, and he never caught up again during the race. Ten Eyck watched Maguire and responded spurt for spurt, and as he neared the line put three lengths between his shell and that of the Bradford man. With this apparently safe lead, he made for Maguire's J. The match was for a "guaranteed turning buoy instead of cutting over to purse" of $1000 and percentage of gate the other side of the course for his own mark, which he could easily have done of the start, but the Buffalo boy went and lost but little. He had not swung right up to him in a second, and for completely round when Maguire reached the buoy, and a quick stroke on the latter's part would undoubtedly have width of a tape-line between Bald's brought about a collision which, under the rules, would have given Maguire the one. This trail was kept up until half race. Maguire, however, did not realize of the fourth lap has been finished, when latter had pulled away in safety. The balance of the race was a mere procession. Maguire subsequently protested Ten Eyck, but the referee had yards ahead, in 2 minutes and 13 seconds previously received a statement from the judge at the turn and disallowed the protest, as the judge said that the boats did not touch each other. The two big eight-oared contests, with the championship such a walkover, contained excitement enough for the entire afternoon. In the senior event, four good crews battled for supremacy, and vhile the Pennsylvania barge crew at the end pulled out ahead, the Knickerbockers were but a short distance away, with the Millstreams and the Vespers exactly even at the line.

After this race came the intermediate eight-oared race which was postponed Friday because of the accident to the Vesper crew. The Atlanta crew of of the Boston Athletic association to record. have it out with the Vespers. The latter will be successful. The record is 105:19, on even terms. Coming under the bridge hours. the Vespers had a lead of half a length with the New Yorks second and the Boston Athletic association third. At the three-quarters of a mile, half way to the finish, the B. A. A. got by the New Yorkers and started after the Vespers.

It was right here that the accident the race occurred. Loeffler suddenly slightest hesitation jumped over the side of the boat. The press boat was coming along behind and he was quickly taken aboard, still clinging to his oar. When the youngster saw his boat drop behind from the lead he was heart-broken. The schoolboys won in a hot finish with the New Yorks by a quarter of a length. The intermediate double sculls carried off the palm from a spectacular standpoint, for six pairs contested, and it was any one's race to the turn. From that Sun rises-4:36; sets, 7:04. point, however, the Jeffries' pair drew Moon rises-12:06 a.m. steadily away and won by two lengths. High water-7:15 a. m.; 7:30 p. m round first and were soon three le gths to the good. The Harlems just failed to catch them at the finish. In the senior international fours, the Brockville crew simply rowed away from the St. Louis four. Frank B. Greer took the intermediate single sculls without difficulty, although O'Keefe made the best turn. The senior sculls were equally as easy or John Rumohr, who won by four lengths over Titus, the second man. Following is a summary, showing the

Dominican Government Finds That It Has a Hard Task on Its Hands. Kingston, Jam., July 31.-A private cable dispatch received here, by way of Cape Haytien, reports that the revolution in Santo Domingo is progressing as adults, can drink it with great benefit. Costs about 1-4 as much as coffee. 15 and 25c. favorably. The dispatch says that the real reason for the detention of President Heureaux's body at Santo Domingo and its interment there was that the country between Santiago and Porto Plata is occupied by the insurgents, who, abandoning their plan of occupying Moca as a base of operations, are oncentrating to attack Porto Plata, which is feebly garrisoned. Great excitement prevails, owing to the fact that the government has not been able to ascertain the extent of the ramifications of the revolutionists, and is growing demoralized through the death of the president. In the event of the revolution succeeding, still, according to the private cablegram, it is probable that Jiminez and Jitones, the reputed leaders of the revolution, will agree to retire, offering the presidency to General Maximo Gomez, who would porve acceptable to all parties. A deputation, it is reported, is going to Cuba to confer with Gomez.

Leutgert's "Confession."

Chicago, July 31.-Adolph L. Luetgert's sudden death in the penitentiary at Joliet on Thursday last has brought to light the fact that State Attorney Dineen has an implication that is considered morally his confession of guilt. It was made by Luetgert to a fellow prisoner in the jail. It was sworn to by the latter at the time before the state attorney. Now it is given publicity for the first time. From this document it would appear that Luetgert asked his wife to go with him to the sausage factory office on the night of May 1, 1897. She refused. This angered him. An Omaha Sunday Diversion.

Omaha, July 31 .- Ed Joyce was instantly killed and Ed Callahan was mortally wounded yesterday by John Shanahan in his saloon in South Omaha. Joyce and Callahan resented Shanahan's effort to quell disorder and a melee followed, in which Shanahan shot the two men. A crowd of packing house em ployes gathered and threatened lynching. The house was surrounded by officers for hours. Shanahan's wife finally gave him up to the police. When arrested he was in bed with a revolver in each hand. He was placed in the Omaha jail to prevent lynching.
